PASTOR OUSTED HERE, BLAMES RICH

Today

To Discourage Vice.
5,000,000 Flying Miles.
1 Day, in Prohibition.

—By ARTHUR BRISBANE—

THE way to discourage vice is to make it expensive. To gamble in Wall street yesterday, you had to pay 15 per cent interest for call money. In England and France, speculators investing in American stocks paid 4½ and 5 per cent for money.

BANKERS there seem not to know their business. And they have no Federal Reserve to help the game of usury, with solemn warnings, telling the people what they may and must not do.

"A GENERAL MOTORS of the air" was predicted when Charles E. Mitchell, head of the National City Bank, started the United Aircraft and Transport Corporation.

Yesterday United Aircraft announced absorption of Stout Airlines, Inc., first regular passenger carrying line established in America.

UNITED AIRCRAFT owns besides the Stout Company, the Pratt and Whitney Aircraft Company, making Wasp and Hornet air cooled engines; Boeing Airplane Company, Pacific Air Transport Company, Hamilton Metal Plane Company, Hamilton Aero Manufacturing Company, Boeing Air Transport Company, of Seattle, Chance-Vought Corporation, and other airplane interests.

AND yesterday Boeing Airplane, which unites Chicago, Oakland, San Francisco, Los Angeles, Seattle, with air mail, express and passenger routes, flew its five millionth mile. It has now 10,000 miles of regular flying routes.

THE Boeing branch of United Aircraft is about to establish regular flights from ocean to ocean with eighteen passenger planes.

AT Aurora, Ill., Thomas Emmett Lyons, twenty-five-year-old caddiemaster, asked Wilner M. Bosworth, twenty-three, "where will you have it, in the stomach or in the head?"

Young Bosworth smiled, thinking it was a joke. He is in the hospital with a bullet in his stomach. Lyons, in jail, asks, "How did I get here? I must have been pretty much under the weather."

He was.

ONE of the best known hotels in New York City was told by neighbors across the street that a gentleman was apparently planning to jump from an upper window.

A prosperous, "respectable" guest, spied when his legs were over the window sill, told a short story.

HE met, on Fifth avenue, a lady who escorted him to a speakeasy. That's all he remembers. How he got back to his hotel he doesn't know.

All marks of identification had been cut from his clothing. He had been robbed, of course. He did not know what "they" had given him to drink.

DOCTORS took care of him, two male nurses took him back to his wife in his home town. That piece of prohibition news the reporters missed.

OUT West, in South Dakota's state park game preserve, a hunter of the National Biological Survey has at last killed a "wild German shepherd dog" that for two years has been killing deer by the hundreds, coyotes eating the remains.

A NEW YORK policeman, after a long chase, killed a big black dog, leader of a gang of mongrel curs in the city's outskirts. It had bitten three children. Man's best friend needs regulating.

GUNMAN killings are becomingly systematized, occurring on scheduled time. Enrico Agruini told his partner, Denny Tortorici, "They are out to get me. A bunch tried it a few minutes ago. They will try again."

Yesterday, five hours after the prediction, "they" put a bullet in the back of Arguini's head as he sat in his automobile.

Organized crime decides that killing is the cheapest, surest, simplest way of settling quarrels and eliminating rivals.

A GOOD Esquimaux hunter makes a thousand dollars in a winter season, getting $20 to $30 each for fox skins that used to sell for $10, and he can earn $1,000 in one spring's beaver catch.

At Flat, Alaska, Indians earn $7 a day. Mr. Twitchell, scientist, says this demoralizes the Esquimaus, who drink too much and die off. It is easy to stand hardship, not easy to stand prosperity.

High pay, gin, and the diseases that come with gin, will solve various race problems.

HUSBAND ADMITS 'TORCH' KILLING

CRAFTON PASTOR QUITS

"I have consorted too much with people that do not have money."

This was the answer of the Rev. H. M. Eagleson when asked why he had been asked to resign the pastorate of the Hawthorne Avenue Presbyterian Church, Crafton.

The congregation decided last night, by a vote of 68 to 67, to accept the resignation, which was tendered in response to the unanimous request of the three official boards of the church, composed of the elders, deacons and trustees.

CHURCH NOT PROSPERING

F. K. Landgraf, 118 Crafton avenue, clerk of the session, said Mr. Eagleson's resignation was requested because the church had not prospered under his ministry, and for no other reason.

"No charges of any sort have been made against Mr. Eagleson," he said. "But the church has not advanced spiritually and has gone back financially since he became pastor four years ago. We have taken in only a few members—a half-dozen children last year. But we have lost a great many contributing members, and we concluded a change was desirable."

RESIGNATION OFTEN ASKED

Repeated requests have been made for his resignation by the three boards of the church, it was asserted today.

"Was your personal conduct questioned, or your faith?" the pastor was asked today.

"No," he said. "The session told me there was no objection to my ministry, but that pressure had been brought to bear on them by certain large financial contributors to the church to ask me to seek another field of labor. It was proposed by the session that I should receive six months' salary and the

BOWMAN TALKS OF CLUB ROW

Dr. John G. Bowman, chancellor of the University of Pittsburgh, today broke the policy of silence he has maintained in regard to the controversy with the students' Liberal Club.

He admitted he had received a letter from Forrest Bailey, of New York, director of the American Civil Liberties Union, inquiring if Dr. Harry Elmer Barnes was driven from the campus last Monday because he was personally objectionable or because he was to speak to the "Liberals" on the Mooney-Billings case.

Dr. Bowman said he had not decided whether to answer Bailey.

Thieves Get Jewelry While Owner Works

Mrs. Leon Gottlieb, of 577 Alger street, reported to city detectives that while she was busy in the basement of her home today, thieves ransacked dresser drawers and tables on the second floor, obtaining a diamond ring valued at $450 and two bracelets valued at $200. Entrance was gained through an unlocked rear door. She notified detectives she would pay $150 reward for return of the jewelry.

NEW LIFE TERM BILL SIGNED

HARRISBURG, Pa., April 30.—Pennsylvania now has a modified Baumes law to punish habitual criminals. Gov. Fisher today announced his approval of the Salus bill, which permits judges to give sentences of life imprisonment to fourth offenders.

The sentencing to life in prison under the Salus bill is optional with the judge. Crimes for which a person may be sentenced on a fourth offense are treason, murder, voluntary manslaughter, burglary, arson, kidnaping, sale of narcotics, perjury and other serious charges.

Any person who, after having been three times convicted, within or outside the state, of any of the crimes enumerated in the act, may be sent to prison for life if the fourth offense is committed within five years after the prior offense. The period of servitude by a person in a penal institution is not to be computed in determining the time between offenses.

Standard of Indiana To Pension Stewart

NEW YORK, April 30.—(AP.)—The New York American said today it has learned on good authority that the board of directors of the Standard Oil Company of Indiana has voted a pension of $50,000 a year to Col. Robert W. Stewart for his years of service with the organization.

Col. Stewart was deposed as chairman of the company by John D. Rockefeller, Jr.

James W. Stewart, son of Col. Stewart, resigned yesterday as a director of the Lago Oil and Transport Company, a Standard of Indiana subsidiary.

The American said Col. Stewart's oldest son, Robert G. Stewart, is slated for removal as president of the Pan-American Petroleum and Transport Company, also an Indiana subsidiary.

CITY PACKS IN MOVING PARADE

More office moving than Pittsburgh has ever known on any other moving days is heaping day and night caravans of Pittsburgh transfer companies. The annual moving rush is on for the next 48 hours.

All told, the commercial and residential changes of this moving season number 21,000 in the metropolitan area of the Pittsburgh district, as computed by Horace Levine, director of central retail service of the Duquesne Light and Equitable Gas Companies.

This aggregate is a shade under last year's total, despite the fact that office movings are of record volume. The figures combine the reports of the Manufacturers' Light and Heat Company, Peoples Natural Gas and the Equitable.

NEW TELEPHONE, TOO

Much of this spring's scene-shifting in business Pittsburgh is going to the new skyscrapers. Pints of ink are recording changed addresses. Switching of telephone lines is adding new thrills for the hello girls.

"Home moving is about 50 per cent of the usual amount at this time of year," said John Douglas, Jr., president of the Truck Owners' Association. "A noticeable feature of the times is the long-distance hauling by motor trucks succeeding rail shipment."

SUN-TELEGRAPH HELPS

According to Division Manager William Bradford, of the Bell Telephone Company, the company received in the last two months more than 9,000 orders to change from customers who are moving.

The Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph has made special arrangements to serve subscribers who are changing addresses. All that is necessary is for the subscriber to telephone Grant 6500, ask for the Circulation department, and tell the new address. The Sun-Telegraph will do the rest.

SISTERS WIN IN DEATH RACE

NEWTON, Ia., April 30.—(INS.)—Two sisters, Mrs. Fred W. Jasper and Miss Stella McCord, won their water, air and land race with death today.

Their father, F. A. McCord, 85, former mayor of Newton and former sheriff of Jasper County, still was seriously ill, but somewhat better when they reached his bedside this morning.

Fully conscious, he was overjoyed at seeing his daughters. Although he was apparently stronger than he had been in several days, his physicians still momentarily expected the end.

The sisters, returning from a European cruise when a radio message notified them of their father's serious illness, completed the last lap of their journey by train today, after the plane carrying them from New York was forced down by fog near Chicago.

Youth Who Defied Courts to Marry Faces Divorce

CHICAGO, April 30.—(AP.)—J. Clark Dean, Jr., who defied a court injunction to marry Mrs. Josephine Seeberger Lasher, has been sued for divorce on charges of drunkenness.

The Deans were married in Valparaiso, Ind., three months after Judge Joseph Sabath here enjoined Dean against marrying Mrs. Lasher until his twenty-first birthday. The injunction was granted at the petition of Dean's father, a broker, in anticipation of a divorce decree to Mrs. Lasher, then the wife of a New York broker.

Two months after their marriage the couple separated. Dean reported his wife missing and expressed the belief she had been kidnaped or killed. Her answer was the filing of a bill for divorce, which later was dropped and she returned to live with him. The Deans separated again yesterday, and a few hours later a new bill for divorce was filed.

MELLON'S FOES STILL UNABLE TO AGREE

WASHINGTON, April 30.—(INS.)—President Hoover lost a round and earned a draw in two skirmishes on Capitol Hill today, where his policies were under fire before senatorial committees.

Democratic critics of the President won a decision before the Senate Agriculture Committee, which decided to make public the secret testimony of two Department of Agriculture experts who indorsed the export debenture plan of farm relief. The publication of their testimony will reveal the President disregarded the advice of his experts when he messaged Congress the export debenture plan would bring "disaster to American agriculture."

NO MELLON DECISION

In another skirmish before the Senate Judiciary Committee, where the eligibility of Andrew W. Mellon to serve as Secretary of the Treasury has been under inquiry, the President earned a draw. For the fourth successive day the committee debated the question behind locked doors without reaching a decision.

Inquiry into the nature of a visit to Canada by Mr. Mellon in 1925, and as to whether it was in the interests of the Aluminum Company of America, was suggested before the Senate Judiciary Committee today.

Supporting the report of Chairman Norris that Mellon as a stockholder

Warden Asks Killer Examined for Sanity

Warden John McNeil, of the county jail, today announced that he had prepared a petition for presentation in court, to have a commission appointed to examine the sanity of John L. Schmitt, 61, president of the Pittsburgh Lumber and Builders' Supply Company, who yesterday was held for murder by a coroner's jury. Schmitt is charged with the slaying of his partner, Nelson E. Bell, 54, of Oakmont, in their offices at 3029 West Carson street.

Schmitt, when first committed to the county jail, refused to eat, saying the food offered him had been poisoned. After a priest had eaten some of the food for the prisoner, Schmitt also ate.

GUN HALTS TRIO IN CHASE

In a chase through downtown and North Side streets, with a patrolman's pistol spitting lead that frightened crowds leaving theaters, two alleged auto thieves and two "girl friends" were captured last night after the pursuer, Motorcycle Patrolman A. E. Rahe had sent a bullet through a tire of the fleeing car.

As a result of the capture, police recovered 10 automobiles which a gang is alleged to have stolen in Pittsburgh during the last month. The cars were found in Ross Township.

FREE GIRLS, HOLD YOUTHS

The prisoners and another young man implicated by them were arraigned in Morals Court today. The girls, Anna Spearling, 17, of 607 Nash street, and Johanna Noe, 19, of 207 Warfield street, ushers at the Academy Theater, were discharged. James Cammarata, 16, of 1116 Pennsylvania avenue, and Edward Rue, 17, of 3156 Sorrento street, who were in the car, police say, were held for court on a charge of larceny. Samuel Robinson, 18, of 1436 Warner street, implicated in automobile thefts by the story of the other boys and arrested later in his home, was held for investigation.

CHASE THROUGH CROWDS

Rahe saw the four in Grant street in a car he recognized as having been reported stolen. He pulled alongside and ordered the driver to proceed to Central Police Station.

At Grant street and Seventh avenue the driver put on speed and fled down Seventh avenue to Liberty avenue, through Ninth street to Penn avenue, and down Penn avenue through the theater district, crowded at the time, with Rahe in hot pursuit.

At Penn avenue and Barbeau street Rahe overtook the fleeing car. The driver swerved the machine, forced Rahe into the curb and upset the patrolman's motorcycle.

Rahe emptied his gun at the tires

FREED IN RUM PLOT CASE

George "Scotty" McLaughlin, former Homestead councilman, convicted two years ago in the Homestead Rum conspiracy case, walked out of Federal Court a free man today.

Some of his colleagues served their sentence.

McLaughlin had appealed to the United States Circuit Court of Appeals which ordered a new trial, and today United States District Attorney John D. Meyer asked that the case be dismissed, stating there was insufficient evidence to warrant further prosecution. Judge F. P. Schoonmaker granted the request.

Seven men, including five councilmen, and two bootleggers were sentenced to serve a year and a day in Atlanta prison on September 15, 1927. McLaughlin, one of the councilmen to appeal, was released on $5,000 bond.

Originally 18 men were indicted on February 23, 1927.

Carmen Hill, who was impressive in the relief role in Pittsburgh Saturday, will mix with Willie Sherdel, small southpaw, in the third fight.

Burleigh Grimes, ace of the Pirate slab staff, is hors de combat for a week or so after getting the thumb nail of his pitching hand ripped loose with a drive from Orsatti's bat yesterday. Grimes had a one-run lead at the time, but the Bucos lost at the finish, seven to three. At the conclusion of tomorrow's game the two clubs will hustle to a special train that will carry them back to Pittsburgh for a game on Thursday.

N. Y. 2-Cent Gas Tax In Effect Tomorrow

ALBANY, N. Y., April 30.—(INS.)—New York state motorists, after midnight tonight, will pay two cents more a gallon for gasoline.

The two-cent gas tax, enacted at the recent session of the Legislature, is expected to net the state about $24,000,000 a year, which will be collected from the big distributing companies.

SLEW WIFE, BURNED BODY

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., April 30.—(INS.)—Earl F. Peacox, 22-year-old radio expert and dabbler in fiction and poetry, today calmly confessed to slaying his 20-year-old estranged wife, Dorothy Heinzelman Peacox, whose burned body was found on an estate near Scarsdale, in Westchester County, District Attorney Frank H. Coyne announced after the suspect had been grilled for hours.

When he finished describing the murder, he took the authorities to his home in Mount Vernon and showed them how he knocked his wife unconscious, and how he choked her to death.

"LOVE MADNESS"

The police attributed the crime to "love madness."

Shortly after Peacox confessed, the authorities announced that Miss Frances Murray, 19, of New York City, had been taken into custody and that she was being held in Mount Vernon as a material witness. The police said they learned she was friendly with Peacox.

He was formally booked on a charge of murder by the Mount Vernon police.

The girl was slain on the first anniversary of her marriage. After her impetuous young husband had killed her he took the body in an automobile to the spot near Scarsdale where it was found.

Peacox said he and his wife had quarreled and that she "clawed" at him. He picked up a weight and struck her on the head.

TELLS OF KILLING

His confession, as given out by the authorities, said in part:

"I killed her on April 22. On the night of April 21, at 11:45, I was playing cards with my mother-in-law. Remembering that it was the first anniversary of my wedding, I excused myself and went to 561 West One Hundred and Forty-third street (New York

BODY OF PITTSBURGH MARINE FLIER ARRIVES

Draped with the Stars and Stripes, the casket containing the body of Corp. Otto Miller, Pittsburgh marine, who was killed in an air crash in far-off Nicaragua, arrived at Baltimore and Ohio station this morning.

With the body was Corp. C. C. Struhar, who as guard of honor traveled with it all the way from Nicaragua.

Mrs. William Fischer, of New York, a sister of the dead Marine, accompanied the body from New York. John Z. Miller, a brother, of 65 Pride street, was at the station to make arrangements for the body's removal to a funeral parlor.

Full military honors will be accorded the Marine who lost his life in the service of his country. Members of the local Marine Corps detachment, in charge of Maj. W. S. Harrison, will act as pallbearers when funeral services are held Thursday.

The body will be taken to Epiphany Church, Washington street, where a high mass will be celebrated. It will be laid to rest in St. Adalbert's Cemetery, Carrick.

A bugler will sound "taps" as the body is lowered into the grave and a Marine detachment will fire a salute.

Corp. Miller was killed with two other marines while making a mosaic map of the proposed Nicaraguan canal. He enlisted in the Marine Corps in Pittsburgh about three years ago.

MOTHER SAVES GIRL'S LIFE, BOTH SERIOUSLY BURNED

A mother's frantic efforts to extinguish flames enveloping her 9-year-old daughter, resulted in severe burns to herself. The child, saved from instant death, and her mother are in the Homestead Hospital.

Little Edna May Andrews, daughter of Mrs. Marie Andrews, 30, of 219 West Thirteenth street, Homestead, was preparing for school shortly before 9 o'clock this morning. While her mother was absent from the room, the child's dress ignited from a small gas stove and flames quickly enveloped her.

The piercing screems of the child brought the mother. Seeing a small floor rug, Mrs. Andrews fought to smother the flames, receiving severe burns on the face and hands. The mother's efforts snuffed out the flames, but not until the girl had been seriously burned about the face, body and legs.

BIG INCREASE SHOWN IN U. S. TAXES

WASHINGTON, April 30.—(AP.)—The Internal Revenue Bureau announced yesterday that Federal taxes collected during the first nine months of the 1929 fiscal year, which ended last March 31, exceeded those collected in the same period of the previous year by $60,310,689, and amounted to $2,137,178,647.

Of the total, income taxes aggregated $1,688,165,158, and miscellaneous taxes totaled $448,013,488. The income collections were $74,000,000 more than collected in the same period last year while the miscellaneous taxes decreased by approximately $13,000,000.

The income taxes were accounted for by $763,304,114 from individuals, an increase of $119,000,000 over the same period last year, and $925,861,043 from corporations, a decline of $46,000,000 as compared with the collections in the first nine months of 1928.

Pennsylvania's tax dropped in each division, making a decrease of collections from all sources of approximately $8,000,000 with a total of $177,937,063.

The prosperity of individuals through the nation was indicated by only five states returning smaller totals of individual income taxes in the first nine months of the present year than they did last year.

TORCH KILLING RE-ENACTED

City) and called on my wife, who was living there as Lillian Manney.

VIOLENT QUARREL

"We rode up to the Grand Concourse and when we got to my home in Mount Vernon, we got out of the car and went upstairs.

"She said: 'Well, this looks like the same old dump.' I resented this and a quarrel ended with her clawing me.

"I then picked up a weight and hit her on the head. She struggled with me and she screamed. I put my hands over her throat and mouth. She tried to get my pistol away from me, but finally she lay out helpless on the floor. Then I discovered her legs were cold and that she was bleeding in the face."

The slaying of his wife worried Peacox. It was early Tuesday morning that he had strangled the girl and, with cold premeditation, had taken her body in the automobile to the spot where it was found the following Saturday. Fearing detection, he returned to the isolated spot, soaked the body in kerosene, and set fire to it.

REVEALS CLUES

After he had signed the confession, Peacox was brought to this city where he was questioned further. Then he led the police to a place in White Plains, where he told them he had discarded a blood-stained shirt after disposing of the body. He was then returned to jail here and booked on the murder charge.

The police said Peacox apparently had a bright mind and his radio library was excellent.

Peacox was to be arraigned later today before a magistrate on the murder charge. The authorities said they anticipated he would be held for the grand jury without bail and that the case would be quickly presented to the grand jury.

START MANHUNT

An alarm had been sent out for Peacox immediately after his wife's mother, Mrs. Alphonse Heinzelman, and her aunt, Mrs. Ida Heustis, had identified the body. For almost two days the authorities had been trying to establish the identity of the victim. Mrs. Heinzelman was shown teeth taken from the girl's mouth and she sobbed: "Yes, yes, that's Dolly." She also said there was a mole on her daughter's right ankle. Investigation showed that to be a fact and identification was positive.

Peacox, meanwhile, had been taken in custody. At first he staunchly declared that he was innocent, that he knew nothing about the crime. He insisted he had not seen his wife for two months. They became estranged in February.

CALLED, BABE RUNS—KILLED

As she dashed wildly across Federal street, near Hemlock street, when she spied her grandmother and her older sister, Margaret Eppihimer, 3, of 1311 Reddour street, was crushed beneath the wheels of a heavy truck.

While her mother, Mrs. Mary Eppihimer, with whom the child was walking, and her grandmother, Mrs. D. H. Eppihimer, uttered frantic screams for aid, Ray Agagy, of 1884 Clayton avenue, the driver of the truck, owned by the Harding Creamery Company, gathered the unconscious child in his arms and rushed her to the Presbyterian Hospital, where she died following the amputation of her left arm and leg.

The death of Margaret is the second tragedy of the Eppihimer home. The child's father, Raymond H. Eppihimer, died two weeks ago following an injury. When informed of the death of her child, Mrs. Eppihimer collapsed in her home.

Agagy told police the child ran directly into the path of his truck, and that he could not avoid the accident.

Action on Lenroot And Wilbur Delayed

WASHINGTON, April 30.—(AP.)—Senate approval was given late yesterday to several of President Hoover's recent nominations, including that of Dr. Julius Klein as assistant secretary of commerce. Favorable reports had been ordered earlier by the judiciary committee on the nominations of Curtis D. Wilbur, former secretary of the navy, to be a judge in the Ninth Circuit Court, and of Irvine L. Lenroot of Wisconsin to be a member of the Court of Customs Appeals.

Lenroot's nomination was contested and the vote in committee was 11 to 4. A contest is expected against the former Wisconsin Senator on the floor also.

New Mellon Horses Arrive from Abroad

GREENSBURG, Pa., April 30.—Twelve blooded saddle horses purchased by Richard K. Mellon, of Pittsburgh, in England, have arrived at the Rolling Rock Country Club near Ligonier. RUM RUNNERS GIVE PINCHOTS 'LOVELY TIME'

COLON, Panama, April 30.—(AP.)—Former Gov. Gifford Pinchot of Pennsylvania, who arrived yesterday with his scientific yachting party, described for the benefit of the Colon and Cristobal Rotary C'b his adventures with rum runners and rare shells in the West Indies.

"At Grand Cayman Island I found many American gentlemen who on account of their illegitimate trade cannot go back to the states," he said, "but they gave us a lovely time. The most diplomatic thing I ever did was when I refused to drink champagne with the governor of San Andres without making him angry. I pointed out to him what I obeyed the laws of my country inside and out.

"The islands of San Andres and Old Providence have never been visited by scientists before and our conchologicy, Dr. Fisher, found land shells there which he hopes will throw further light on the structure of the earth through the ages."

The yacht Marie Pinchot had an excellent cruise until 20 miles off Cristobal when a full northerly gale came up and with heavy weather in the offing the engine smashed its crank case. The yacht made port from a dangerous situation on a lee shore. The governor and his family were tanned and healthy.

"OFFER REPUDIATED"

"For a long time I awaited the session's answer and when finally the agreement was made the offer of salary was ignored. The congregational meeting already had been called and I had no recourse except to appear before the people for the formal presentation of my resignation.

"At the meeting last night I recited the history of this trouble and the Rev. B. M. Paul, representing the Pittsburgh Presbytery, who acted as moderator of the meeting, told the people plainly that the matter had not been brought up before the church governing body in the regular manner. The Presbytery alone has the power to dissolve relations between pastor and congregation, and although the Presbytery does not meet for two weeks, I was told that another pastor would be in the pulpit next Sabbath.

"I am still the pastor of the church until the Presbytery formally dissolves our relations."

The Hawthorne Avenue Presbyterian Church was formed about 30 years ago as the result of a split in the congregation of the First Presbyterian Church of Crafton. The disaffected members from the First church established the Hawthorne avenue congregation, it was stated, and the original members still dominate its affairs.

The congregation voted to pay his salary for six months and give him free use of the manse for from three to six months.

It is understood Mr. Eagleson plans to teach in a Presbyterian college.

WHOOPEE M'GURK HELPS AN UNFORTUNATE

PROUD WHOOPEE TO TAKE MORE CHANCES THAN EVER

PERSONAL—Whoopee McGurk, please telephone the Sun-Telegraph office during your wanderings today.

By WHOOPEE M'GURK.

There are no two ways about it, 14-karat Whoopee just slips in the front door and out the back. If only one of the beautiful wives in Allegheny county would nab him in the kitchen it'd be worth a lot of carrots, wouldn't it?

But all joshing to the port, your friend Whoopee yesterday left chunky samples of his Shavian intellect (hey! stop that guy) on the North Side and Sharpsburg.

And how the North Side went south! Whoopee, brave as ever, strolled into the North Side police station, believe it or else.

ASKS FOR FAULKNER

"Where's Inspector Faulkner?" I asked a fat but nice copper behind that rail.

"Well," said the law, "his office is right behind you but you won't find him in."

I ankled, ladies and gents, fast and free, because Charlie the Faulkner is a pretty smart copper. However, I did spend the next 20 minutes sleeping at Federal and Ohio streets, plump against the markethouse. Me, oh my, but I could have built a two-story frame building before being clutched as the hombre that snatched Maggie's diamond rope from Jiggs' friend Dinty Moore.

IN SHARPSBURG

About Sharpsburg—ask Patrolman No. 1, the politest and handsomest law I've ever smiled at (ask him who was the egg (and a good one, too) that stopped him on the main stem last night for directions to the city. How he fell! But he's the best little law I've ever thanked.

Now yesterday, (just as I will do also today and tomorrow) I was sporting brown headgear, a blue topcoat, baggy but pretty trousers and the longest shoes! I am, you'd never guess, 5 feet 8½ inches tall and weigh 182½ pounds, including the shoes. My hair's black (and stringy), my teeth're very, very white and my eyes—well, some girls say gray and some say brown.

Watch for my masterpiece tomorrow—I'm gonna start taking even more chances.

Daringly,
WHOOPEE McGURK.

Whoopee promises to dare everybody anything. Check on him through "Bringing Up Father" in the comic section. And when you nab him be sure you have the warrant—a clipping of the same day's "Bringing Up Father" strip from the Sun-Telegraph. Otherwise you'll miss the $100. reward.

Mule Rider Found Hurt in Road, Dies

BUTLER, Pa., April 30.—(AP.)—Harold Watterson, 16, was found fatally injured on a highway near the home of his parents at Dutch Hill, near Parker, yesterday. His skull was fractured and his chest crushed. The boy had left the home of his employer, riding a mule. A short time later two motorists found him on the highway. He died before they reached Parker where they expected to find a doctor. The mule was found at the home of its owner, Edward D. Terwilliger. The Clarion County coroner is investigating the case.

$100.00 Reward

Whoopee McGurk, wanted in the Mr. Jiggs-Dinty Moore mystery, is loose in Pittsburgh. The first person who touches Whoopee on the shoulder and declares him "under arrest" will be paid the $100.00 reward, provided that person at the time has in his hand or pocket, or in her purse, a clipping of the same day's "Bringing Up Father" strip from the Sun-Telegraph. All employes of the Sun-Telegraph and their families are barred.

U. S. TRADE BODY URGED TO HIT SPECULATION

WASHINGTON, April 30.—Charging that Wall Street was threatening to wreck international financial relations in general and American business and industry in particular by its high interest rates, John Foster Dulles, New York financier, last night made an impassioned appeal to 1,500 United States Chamber of Commerce delegates here for the convention, which opens today, to check America's "speculative mania" and turn credit back into the industrial field.

"There is danger," Dulles said, "that our credit base cannot, under present conditions, meet potential speculative demands as well as the economic needs of our nation."

He told the convention that America's far-famed prosperity is, in reality, defeating itself by drawing all available capital into stock speculation and thus cutting out industrial backing.

LAUDS RESERVE SYSTEM

Dulles had much to say in praise of the Federal Reserve System, and declared that, in spite of the current criticism, it has accomplished almost phenomenal results since the close of the war.

In reviewing the situation, he pointed out that when the war closed America had virtually all of the world's gold supply, was owed $10,000,000,000 by Europe and was faced with the problem of exporting heavy shipments to these countries for reconstruction work.

Europe, instead of borrowing money in this country at low interest rates, is now investing $100,000,000 a month because of the high rates in Wall Street, he said.

Dr. Julius Klein, assistant secretary of commerce, who has just returned from an extensive survey of European commerce, also spoke.

ROBERTSON NOMINATED

A. W. Robertson, chairman of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company, East Pittsburgh, was among directors nominated. The slate will be ratified at the seventeenth annual meeting Friday.

PUNCTURES TIRE

On the smooth stretch over Manchester Bridge, Rahe reloaded his gun, and at Page and Chateau streets he resumed firing. Rahe took careful aim, and was rewarded by the sight of a tire bursting on the car ahead.

The occupants of the car leaped out and ran as the crippled machine came to a halt. Rahe, joined by a beat patrolman, gave chase on foot and two of the occupants were captured. From them, police learned the identity of their companions.

in various enterprises is violating an old statute forbidding the Secretary of the Treasury to be interested in carrying on trade or commerce, Senator Walsh, Democrat, Montana, raised the point of Mr. Mellon's purported Canadian visit.

TALKS OF DEAL

Senator Walsh has produced before the committee a deposition of Mr. Mellon in a law suit involving a claim against the Aluminum Company of America. The suit wast tried in 1925. The Aluminum company was charged with violation of the anti-trust law in the acquisition of a certain tract of land in Canada.

It was the understanding of Senator Walsh that Mr. Mellon, who is a stockholder in the Aluminum company, went to Canada and while there signed certain papers in connection with the land transaction.

The Montana Senator, however, informed the committee today that the record was "vague" on this point. He left the suggestion that further inquiry on this point would be advisable.

BIG BUILDING SIGNS UP 100 PCT.

More than 1,000 Pittsburgh business firms have circulated petitions during the last 24 hours in the Sun-Telegraph's intensive drive in behalf of the movement for a downward revision of the federal taxes on earned incomes.

The number of executives and employes who have signed the petitions has increased the total of signatures to figures far in the thousands. In scores of downtown business houses petitions are still in circulation and will be filled with the name of every citizen connected with those concerns.

100 PER CENT FOR CUT

Tenants and employes of the offices in the Highland Building, East End, made a record of 100 per cent in signing petitions circulated there. Downtown furniture stores are making an equally good record.

Leo Lehmann, manager of May, Stern & Co., who divides his time in mercantile pursuits with a wide interest in civic and philanthropic affairs, advocates the Sun-Telegraph's movement for a cut in the tax on earned incomes. He declared that there seemed little opposition from the authorities at Washington if the people throughout the country show their interest by signing petitions in opposition to the present tax system. In keeping with this dictum he gave all connected with his firm an opportunity to sign petitions.

SCHECK LAUDS PLAY

C. W. Scheck, chairman of the board of commissioners of Mt. Lebanon Township, and for years a public accountant in handling income tax returns, speaks with authority on the tax question. In praising the efforts put forth by the Sun-Telegraph and other Hearst newspapers, Mr. Scheck said:

"I have always thought that the individual, especially the salaried man and the person who depends for his livelihood on professional fees or commissions, never got a square deal under this system of assessing income taxes. The person who pays taxes on income from investments still has his principal at the end of the year, but very often the salaried man finds himself without a job. There are many other reasons why the wage earner should benefit by a sharp revision downward of this unjust tax.

PRAISES HEARST PAPERS

"It is fortunate for the people that the Hearst newspapers have taken up this campaign and the people everywhere should respond by signing the petitions. Something must be done to move the powers at Washington to act promptly, and the best way to bring this about is to send millions of petitions to Congress. When the people of the entire country show their spirit in the matter it is a safe bet that their appeals will be given attention."

Today university students who are circulating Sun-Telegraph petitions are visiting the residence suburbs and business people and residents are reported as signing with the same enthusiasm that was shown by the people of the city districts.

CAPTAIN OF BURNED SHIP SAFE AFTER 36-HOUR SWIM

MANILA, P. I., April 30.—(INS.)—After swimming for 36 hours in the Visayan Sea, following the destruction of his ship, the Viking, Capt. Charles G. Olson was safe today.

Capt. Olson landed at a deserted spot on Tangingue Island and walked to the telegraph office where he wired his wife in Manila of his survival.

Sixteen members of the Viking crew were still missing, two of them were known to be dead. Olsen also telegraphed that the cabin boy swam across.

Twelve men, including the chief officers of the ill-fated ship, picked up by the steamer Delhi, were in the Corregidor Hospital in Manila today. All were expected to live, according to physicians.

The Viking was destroyed by fire Sunday night when a volatile gas used in cleaning the hatches exploded. The Delhi, sighting the flames, rushed to the Viking's aid and after standing by all night picked up the 12 survivors. Capt. Olson was first counted among those believed to have perished.

SEX TEACHER REFUSES TO PAY FINE, FACES JAIL

By DAVID P. SENTNER,
International News Service.

NEW YORK, April 30.—White-haired, 53-year-old Mrs. Mary Ware Dennett, the fighting grandmother, today began preparing for a possible trip to the federal penitentiary in the near future—for the cause of free sex instruction to the young.

Next Thursday will expire the stay of execution of the $300 fine which she received following her conviction for sending "The Sex Side of Life" through the mail.

"I shall never pay that fine as a protest against such a verdict," declared Mrs. Dennett today. "I shall go to jail first because the government is physically stronger than I."

Mrs. Dennett's counsel will appeal her conviction of violating the obscenity laws. The Circuit Court of Appeals will hear the matter, but legal observers predict there is little basis, from a judicial point of view, for a reversal of the verdict.

Meanwhile, a nation-wide campaign was underway today in support of Mrs. Dennett's stand. A number of prominent educators, ministers and doctors plan to sign a copy of the Dennett pamphlet and mail it to President Hoover as a further protest.

21 YEARS OF SAVING WINS IMMIGRANT THRIFT AWARD

This is what thrift will do:

Alfred P. Hall, 202 Hollywood street, Crafton Heights, came to the United States from England 21 years ago. He started a bank account and has saved part of his earnings consistently and regularly ever since. Thrift has enabled him to buy his home and to raise a family of seven children. Each of the children has a bank account. Serious sickness has visited the Hall family at times, and Mr. Hall's bank account has proved a blessing.

ALFRED P. HALL.

To reward him for his thrift the Sun-Telegraph has deposited $10 to the credit of his account, No. 15,803 in the West End Savings Bank & Trust Company.

W. Walter Renberg, 1221 Penn avenue, is another thrifty citizen. He maintains four bank accounts. In one he always maintains an emergency fund, never permitted to fall below a fixed minimum. In another he accumulates money to pay his annual life insurance premiums. In a third he deposits the dividends from his securities and when a sufficient sum has been saved he buys additional stocks and bonds. The fourth account, No. 6,827 in the First National Bank at Pittsburgh, is the repository for a fund with which Mr. Renberg buys automobiles. He purchases a new car every four years, and immediately starts savings for another.

To reward Mr. Renberg for thrift the Sun-Telegraph has deposited $10 to the credit of the automobile account.

Fifteen more thrift gifts are announced today.

EDISON SEEKING BOY TO TAKE HIS PLACE

NEW YORK, April 30.—(AP.)—Thomas A. Edison is seeking an American schoolboy whose scientific mind may qualify him to carry on the work of the great inventor.

When such a boy has been selected by means of one of Mr. Edison's famous questionnaires, he will be awarded four years' tuition in the technical school of his own choice. High school and preparatory students are eligible.

Announcement of the offer was made by Charles A. Edison, son of the inventor and president of the Edison industries at Orange, N. J. Thomas A. Edison is in Florida.

FEELS WEIGHT OF YEARS

"As the weight of advancing years falls on the great inventor's shoulders he is seeking a youth of unusual capabilities who perhaps will have the genius to carry on the great work he has so well started," the announcement said.

The governor of each state and the commissioners of the District of Columbia will be asked to designate one male student who is the best representative of American manhood and possesses the highest ability in scientific subjects during the school year of 1928-29.

TRIP TO LABORATORIES

Each of the 49 winners will receive a free trip to the Edison laboratories where they will be asked to answer the questionnaire which will be prepared personally by Mr. Edison. Each of the 49 will be given an Edison radiophonograph. Names of the state winners must be in Mr. Edison's hands by July 1. The East Orange trip will be made early in August.

The first Thomas A. Edison questionnaire in May 1921 was given to employes and applicants for employment at the East Orange Plants. It was a mixture of scientific and general information questions. Mr. Edison said it had revealed that men who had gone through college were "amazingly ignorant." His questionnaire created a widespread controversy and the University of Chicago drew up a set of questions for him to answer.

LITTLE CHANGE IN CAR VICTIM

Little change was noted today in the condition of Pauline DeSimone, 9, of 6365 Shakespeare street, who has been in a semi-conscious condition in the Pittsburgh Hospital for 10 days, as a result of being struck by an automobile April 20. The child was unconscious from the time of the accident until last Saturday, when she rallied for a short time. Since then she has been conscious part of the time.

She was hit by the automobile of Mrs. Anna L. Miller, of 214 Denniston avenue, in Denniston avenue. She suffered a fractured skull.

Inmate of Poor Farm, 74, Jailed As Bootlegger

JOLIET, Ill., April 30.—(AP.)—"Over the hills to the poor house" had a slightly bucolic rythm today. The "official bootlegger" of the county poor farm, as the farm superintendent called him, was in jail.

The farm superintendent, Fred Weitting, said George Pozek, 74, was retailing drinks from his bottle to fellow residents at the poor farm for whatever he could get—cash occasionally, articles of clothing or little knick-knacks.

It doesn't matter a great deal to Pozek, for his future is wrapped up in farm life anyway. He was sentenced to transfer for six months from the poor farm to the Vandalia Prison Farm.

QUIET MAY DAY SEEN HERE

All city policemen have been ordered to keep a sharp watch tomorrow for all May Day celebrations that might develop into troublesome meetings when labor questions and party recognition are discussed. Supt. Peter P. Walsh said that no trouble is expected in Pittsburgh.

The Communist party of District No. 5, will hold a May Day celebration tomorrow night in the Labor Lyceum. The meeting of the party this year will be directed primarily against new imperialist wars, for the realization of the eight and seven hour day for workers, and against wage cuts. The celebrations also will be for a campaign for recognition and defense of the Union of Socialist Soviet Republics. Meetings in this state also will agitate for the abolition of coal and iron police and the state constabulary, it was said.

BROTHER HELD IN SLAYING

Harry Wilkey, 44, Negro, was under arrest today in connection with the killing of his brother, Erwin Wilkey, 46, of Taft avenue, Beltzhoover, in the basement of the home of Robert Martin, of 110 Cedar boulevard, Mt. Lebanon, last night.

Erwin visited Harry at the Martin home, where the latter was employed. Martin told police, they said, that the brothers quarreled and a shot was heard. Running to the basement, Martin found Erwin shot below the heart. Mt. Lebanon police, summoned by telephone, arrested Harry and turned him over to county detectives.

CHURCH UNITY COMMITTEE ON FINDINGS APPOINTED

HARRISBURG, April 30.—(AP.)—A discussion of the "degree of unity in faith necessary in a united church" featured yesterday's sessions of the Pennsylvania State Conference on Church Unity.

The discussion was precipitated by Dr. Robert Bagnell, pastor of the Grace Methodist Church of this city, when he said:

"The only question I would ask of any one for this united church is: 'Do you accept Jesus Christ as your Savior, and do you accept Him as your Lord and Master?'"

SEEK UNITED CREED

Those who took part in the discussion expressed the belief that there should be a creed which would state the facts of belief and all favored the Apostles creed, interpreted by the Nicene creed, as the simplest statement of faith for a united church.

Dr. George W. Richards, of Lancaster, representing the Reformed Church, appealed for a simple statement of the facts upon which the Christian religion is founded, "in modern terminology." He was greeted with a spontaneous outburst in singing "Praise God from Whom All Blessings Flow," when he concluded his explanation with the remarks:

"Modernism, rationalism, will sweep us away into a vague, indefinite mist, otherwise. The Armageddon will be the decision as to whether humanity can get along without God or with God. Some day God will affirm Himself in humanity again, as He did in the prodigal son, and when humanity grows tired of feeding on the husks, he will come back to God."

COMMITTEE NAMED

Baptist, the Rev. Max C. Wiant, Harrisburg; Church of the Brethren, Dr. Galen B. Royer, Pittsburgh; Churches of God, the Rev. J. L. Updegraph, Mount Pleasant; Congregational, the Rev. H. J. Deiss, Milroy; Disciples of Christ, the Rev. E. C. Lunger, Williamsport; Evangelical Church, Dr. W. L. Bollman, presiding elder of East Pennsylvania Conference; Society of Friends, Dr. Alfred C. Air Chief

COM. JOHN H. TOWERS

PIONEER HEADS NAVY AVIATION

WASHINGTON, April 30.—(AP.)—Pitched out of an airplane at a high altitude without a parachute 16 years ago, Commander John H. Towers has lived to become chief of the Navy Bureau of Aeronautics.

He is the oldest pilot in the Navy in point of service.

He made his unique escape during a flight over Chesapeake Bay in June, 1913. With Ensign William D. Billingsley, he was "bucked" from the plane. The Ensign fell to his death, but Towers grabbed wildly for a strap and caught it. Hanging onto the plane as it dropped 1,700 feet, he was hurled into the waters of the bay.

He came out of it with several broken ribs and internal injuries and spent months convalescing.

The new chief of the bureau has seen the naval flying service grow from a nucleus of three airplanes and as many pilots to its modern aerial armada of 825 machines and more than 700 pilots. With two other young naval officers he learned to fly in 1911—the first of the Navy pilots. The other two were Commander John Rodgers, who was killed in 1926 after making a flight from the Pacific coast to Hawaii, and Commander T. G Ellyson, who was killed in 1928.

Chemistry Medal Awarded to Garvan

COLUMBUS, O., April 30.—(AP.)—The highest honor in American chemistry, the Priestley Medal, was awarded by the American Chemical Society yesterday to Francis P. Garvan, of New York.

Award was made for "distinguished service as the greatest lay patron of chemistry." This medal is awarded only once in three years. There have been but two previous holders, the late Dr. Ira Remsen, president of Johns Hopkins, and the late Edgar Fahs Smith, president of the University of Pennsylvania.

B. & O. Asks to Drop Garrett-Berlin Train

HARRISBURG, April 30.—(AP.)—The Baltimore and Ohio Railroad yesterday asked the Public Service Commission's approval for the discontinuance of passenger service on a branch line between Garrett and Berlin in Somerset County. Decline in revenue was given as the cause for the application.

ORIGINS ACTION BLOCKED

WASHINGTON, April 30.—(AP.)—Republican opposition to President Hoover's recommendation for suspension of the national origins immigration quota basis yesterday forestalled another attempt for Senate action on this proposal.

Senator Reed (Rep.), Pennsylvania, blocked an immediate vote on the resolution of Senator Nye (Rep.), North Dakota, to discharge the immigration committee from further consideration of the bills for repeal of the national origins quota. The committee has voted indefinite postponement of the bills and Nye was attempting to get them before the Senate.

The immigration discussion brought a proposal from Senator Black (Dem.), Alabama, for total suppression of immigration for a period of 10 years. He said he would ask for a vote on that proposition when the question of national origins is before the Senate.

Senator Reed said he would favor such a step "if our nationals fail to look at this immigration problem with the eyes of Americans instead of as hyphenated Americans."

Senator Harris (Dem.), Georgia, inserted in the record some affidavits asserting that foreign steamship lines were instrumental in circulating material favoring repeal of national origins.

The national origins provision goes into effect July 1. It allows a total annual immigration to this country of 150,000. Great Britain would receive a major portion of the total while Germany and the Scandinavian countries would have their present quotas decreased.

Farrell Depositors To Get 88 Per Cent

FARRELL, Pa., April 30.—First official statement of the condition of the People's Bank, of Farrell, will be made public today, when F. W. Jackson, of the State Banking Department, files his report at Mercer. Mr. Jackson believes that the depositors will receive approximately 88 per cent of their money. The bank was closed several weeks ago because of "frozen" assets.

Mr. Jackson states that no criminal action will be taken.

GRANITE MELTS IN MOVING OF MORGUE

The huge granite foundation rocks upon which rest the county morgue are being transformed into molten lava as contractors are making preparations to remove the building to its new location in Fourth avenue south of Ross street.

Instead of breaking the rocks with chisels, an operation which would have required two months, the contractors are using a novel process known as the oxygen lance process. With this method, the superstructure of the building will be severed from the foundation in less than a month's time.

BREAKS BLOCKS LOOSE

Several holes are drilled into the blocks by means of the oxygen lance, making it possible for workmen to break the solid blocks and pry them from under the superstructure. A regular oxygen welder is first applied to the granite block. It eats out a hole two to three inches. Then, a steel pipe, 10 feet long, is attached to another oxygen tank. Oxygen is released into it. The pipe is introduced into the hole. It begins to melt and by chemical reaction melts the granite.

Thus, the solid granite rock is pierced in two to three minutes and is reduced to molten lava. Ray B. Smith, engineer of the Linde Air Products Company, is supervising the oxygen lance drilling.

RESTS ON GIRDERS

When the building is ready to be moved, it will rest on steel girders weighing more than 125 tons. The weight of the building is approximately 5,000 tons. It will first be shifted 32 feet towards Ross street and then 267 feet to its new location, according to Frank A. Fees, engineer of the Kress-Oravetz House Moving Company, contractors in charge of the work.

Fees said it will take two months to move the morgue and will require a force of 60 men.

Panic in Church As Blast Hurts 2

UNIONTOWN, Pa., April 30.—(AP.)—Panic-stricken members of the congregation of St. George's Church rushed from the church when an explosion of a gas heater in the basement shook the structure. Windows were shattered and the heater was wrecked. Thomas George and Norman Williams, in the basement the at the time of the blast, were injured. They were treated by a physician. The explosion resulted from accumulated gas, it was believed.

COPELAND HOTLY ATTACKS LOBBYING BY METHODISTS

WASHINGTON, April 30.—In a stinging rebuke to Dr. Clarence True Wilson, chief lobbyist for the Methodist Board of Temperance, Prohibition and Public Morals, Senator Copeland (Dem.), of New York, has denounced the "manifest efforts to dictate and control legislation."

Declaring that he had been "greatly concerned for years over what I regard to be an improper activity" of the Methodist Church, Copeland, who is himself a Methodist, pointed out the traditional rebellion against ecclesiastical interference with the state. He added:

"Yet we are doing exactly what we demand shall not be done by the Catholics. Had that branch of the Christian church erected a building adjoining the Capitol, there would have been vehement denunciation from every Methodist pulpit. As I see it, we cannot afford to do what we are unwilling for others to do."

DENIES INFLUENCE

The Senator said that while he resented this activity, he had held his peace until he had seen a recent article giving Wilson's organization credit for securing his vote on the Jones prohibition enforcement bill. He added:

"Nothing could be further from the truth. The efforts of your officials had absolutely nothing to do with any vote I ever cast."

Copeland related how a lobbyist for the Methodist board had approached him and asked him "as a Methodist" to vote for a pending bill. He continued:

"At the time I expressed to him my bitter resentment of this attempted interference by an officer of my church in a matter of politics. In order to protect my church I said nothing publicly, but I have just now learned to my amazement that your official journal actually boasted that through its efforts your board corraled my vote! Until I learn to the contrary, I shall assume that the matter escaped your notice, as the publication certainly did mine.

GOSPEL OVERLOOKED

"I do not believe the Volstead act in its present form can be enforced, but so long as it is the law, I shall vote for every reasonable method which has in it some hope of enforcement. I shall do this because I desire to be a good citizen. I shall not do it because I am a Methodist, but I believe I shall be a better Methodist as I strive to be a good citizen.

"My dear doctor, we have a generation of young people of the 'flapper' age who are untaught as to the evils of intemperance. With the adoption of the Eighteenth Amendment, too many of us forgot the importance of teaching and preaching temperance. To invoke the power of the law has engaged so much attention that, as I see it, the old time 'power of the gospel' has been overlooked, as well as Christ's admonition to go to all nations, 'teaching them to observe all things whatsoever I have commanded you.' We must continue to be teachers and leave to Caesar the things that are his.

"I have no desire to enter further into a discussion of the matter at issue. I do insist, however, that all those associated with your organization shall not misrepresent me or my position."

'Whoopee' Makers Learn Tricks From Police

EVANSTON, Ill., April 30.—(AP.)—Said Mrs. Frank Darling over the telephone to police headquarters at 12:30 a. m. today:

"There's a whoopee party in the apartment above. I can't sleep. Send over some officers."

At 1:30 a. m. Mrs. Darling telephoned again:

"Will you please call your officers back? The party wasn't so bad until they got there. Now they're knocking the plaster off the ceiling."

Came the dawn, and the party broke up.

WIDENING FOES CITE REASONS

The Citizens' Committee on City Plan has submitted to Council reasons for objecting to the proposed widening of Strawberry way from Grant street to a point where a connection could be made with Ninth street.

The committee declared the widened thoroughfare would be a development contrary to the principle that through traffic should not enter the downtown business district, but be allowed to detour around the district.

The committee also asked Council for a hearing on the Liberty crosstown thoroughfare proposal.

Ordinance Creates 18 New City Jobs

Council has received an ordinance creating 18 new jobs in the Department of Public Works that would increase the annual payroll about $22,000. The measure would provide for the general office of the Bureau of Highways and Sewers, a telephone operator at $1,200 a sidewalk inspector at $1,500, and three clerks at $1,200 each. It would also provide in the public utilities division 11 inspectors at $1,200 each, and two utility clerks at $1,200 each.

BALLOON RACE PILOTS AWAIT THRILLS

The following is the second of a series of articles by Dr. George M. LeGallee, who will pilot "The Pittsburgher" in the National Elimination Balloon Races from Pitt Stadium Saturday. He was one of the pilots in last year's disastrous race from Bettis Field, landing, in fourth place, near Connellsville. He is a practising physician of Detroit and during the war was attached to the Naval Air Corps.

By DR. GEORGE M. LE GALLEE,
Pilot, "The Pittsburgher."
Copyright, 1929, Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

Every pilot in this year's race is certain to get a thrill when the first balloon takes off Saturday from Pitt Stadium. It's the first time a balloon race was ever started from a completely enclosed area such as the stadium. The effect of wind currents as the great gas bags leave the ground is going to provide plenty of thrills for the pilots and aides as well as those who witness the event.

Pilots will draw straws for the order of take-off. This is an interesting and very important preliminary to the race. The drawing this year will take place Wednesday night. The pilot who draws No. 1 position has the sympathy of his fellows. They will profit by his mistakes.

WIND IMPORTANT

The direction and speed of the wind Saturday will play an important part in the race. If the wind is high, the downwash over the rim of the stadium will make several of the bags difficult to handle, not only in the actual take-off, but during the inflation period. The redeeming feature is that on the opposite side of the stadium is a compensating upward current that will lift the balloons and throw them high into the air.

All balloons this year will be sent off minus two or three extra bags of sand. That is, the operations officer will check the weight, taking off bags of sand until the balloon is ready to become a free agent. Then two others will be taken off. Then when the crews turn loose, the balloons will rise almost vertically to about 2,000 feet altitude.

MAY END SUNDAY

The Pittsburgher, a specially designed racing balloon, will not be as badly hit as some others in the race. The fabric is of extremely light material. Its entire weight is about 100 pounds less than the type used by the Army fliers and some of the civilian bags. This is equivalent to about three bags of sand.

As I said Sunday the story of the race will be almost told by dark Saturday—when we've reached the mountains.

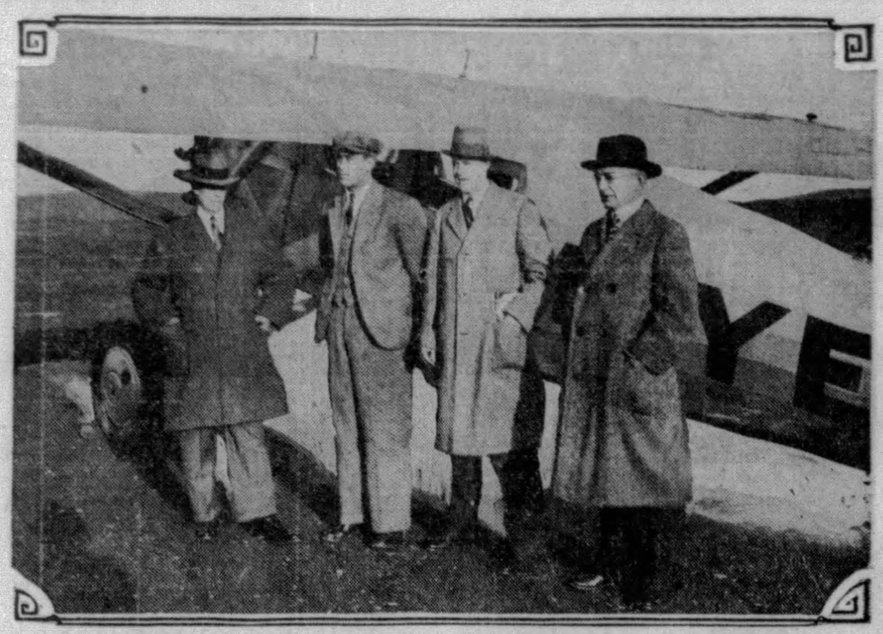
If we get into a wind blowing from the southwest—a frequent direction—we may be in the air until Monday afternoon or evening. If it comes straight out of the West, the race is pretty certain to be over before noon Sunday. We'll all be on the Atlantic shore.

IMPATIENT TO GO

Wind from the northwest is another possibility. This would head us toward the Carolinas or Georgia, perhaps Florida. This wind, however, often fails to hold. We might fly down into Virginia and strike an opposite wind which would head us back toward Pittsburgh. Most of the pilots, I think, will endeavor to get into a wind heading northeast, hoping to make the far New England coast, perhaps Newfoundland.

Arrangements for the race are among the best that ever featured any race. All the pilots know Charley Bauch, the hero of the Shenandoah disaster and now one of the chief officers of the Los Angeles. He has been operations officer at the International races for several years. Our bags are at the stadium, stored and ready for us to lay them out Friday night or Saturday morning. It's going to be a great race. We all are impatient to go.

FLY TO BRING LIGHTS HERE



C. P. MAYER JAMES RUTLEDGE R. C. EDGAR L. E. WHEELER

Members of this party flew in the plane shown in the rear from Mayer Field to South Bend, Ind., to bring back to Pittsburgh special equipment to be used in lighting the Stadium during the aircraft exhibition and balloon races this week. Rutledge was pilot and Edgar and Wheeler, Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company engineer, made the round-trip flight.

Beacon Arrives for Balloon Race Here

With the safe return of Mayer Aircraft Corporation's Ryan monoplane from South Bend, Ind., with a sound sensitive device for lighting a battery of 66 air beacons around Pitt Stadium, the world's most powerful illumination system is complete for the three-day national balloon meet here Thursday, Friday and Saturday. The device is being installed today.

Altogether seven of the 12 balloons entered in the race have arrived in Pittsburgh.

Pitt Stadium is a beehive of activity today. Exhibits are arriving, in addition to balloon equipment, and ground crews of Army, Navy and private interests are kept busy arranging final details for the opening of the big aeronautical event Thursday afternoon.

All the pilots will have arrived by tomorrow. A dinner at which James M. Magee, chairman of the sponsors committee, will be host, has been arranged for tomorrow night. At this dinner the pilots will draw lots for position in the take-off Saturday morning. A number of prominent Pittsburghers will attend.

The big spring event in the Rug Market—prepared for, during months of searching out and selecting, by our direct buying organization in the Persian markets, it offers good rugs, beautifully colored rugs, finely woven pieces in large selections—and at prices that put Orientals within reach of a vast majority. For the First Time Since the War

Caucasian Rugs

A feature of this sale adding to the usual interest, is a group of rugs from the Caucasian and Turkoman districts. These districts have been under Russian control, and no rugs (except those few that were smuggled out) have been obtainable since the war. Recently the Soviet government permitted the purchase of a collection of these rugs, and we were fortunate enough to procure a group for the sale.

They are bright colored, interesting rugs of geometrical designs, woven by the Turkoman nomads, mostly antiques or pre-war rugs. There are Bokharas, Khivas, Tamouds and rugs of the Caucasian family such as Dagestans, Karabaughs, Cabistans, Shirvans and Kazaks.

Sign This Petition and Help to Cut Taxes

Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph

To the Congress of the United States:

We, the undersigned, respectfully urge that the Congress of the United States give immediate consideration to the proposition that there be a downward revision of all income taxes on all earned incomes such as salaries or fees, or commissions for personal services.

We urge this because of the many instances where wage or fee or commission earners sometimes have just a few years of good incomes and prior to and after that period have substantially less incomes. Their period of better earnings which might give the average wage earner a chance to accumulate some capital is heavily taxed, and they seldom have a new opportunity which might tend to make more useful citizens of them.

Labor in general, lawyers, doctors, architects, clerical workers, salesmen, dentists, engineers, journalists, accountants, actors, motion picture actors, singers, musicians, and all the other professional people are in the same plight in the matter of earned income as distinguished from earnings on capital, and, since they represent a great percentage of the citizenry of the country, we beg the gravest consideration of this proposition. Each signer below hereby enrolls as a member of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph League for the Downward Revision of Taxes on Earned Incomes and will work with that newspaper toward the end stated.

Permission is hereby granted the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph to list the signer in the proper Labor, Clerical or Professional Division of the said League for presentation of our signatures to the United States Congress for the stated purpose.

The signer is not obliged to make any kind of contribution or to do anything except to give his moral support to this movement.

MOUNDSVILLE, W. Va., April 30.—(AP.)—C. S. Travis, of Roberts Ridge, near here, is convinced he has incurred the enmity of the elements.

During a heavy hailstorm last Thursday the roof of Travis' home was riddled. He obtained new roofing material and recovered the house. The job had just been completed and Travis was inspecting his work yesterday when a windstorm hit Roberts Ridge. The porch of the house was torn away. Then the wind lifted off the new roof.

Other homes in the community also were unroofed.

Lightning Hits Home, Invalid Endangered

3 ACCUSED OF VIOLATING U. S. PADLOCK INJUNCTIONS

Informations charging two women and a man with contempt of court for alleged violations of padlock injunctions have been filed by United States Attorney John D. Meyer.

The defendants, Frank Krakker, Theresa Krakker and Nell Griffith, are accused of either sale or possession of intoxicating liquor in places padlocked by the court for one year each.

Judge F. P. Schoonmaker directed the issuance of bench warrants for the trio's arrest. In the windows of two properties involved there were placards stating that the places were closed by order of the court, according to the informations.

Frank Krakker is charged with making sales of whisky in a saloon at 549 Braddock avenue on April 3 and April 5 despite the fact that the saloon had been ordered padlocked on October 22, 1928.

Theresa Krakker is also charged with selling and possessing liquor at the same place.

Nell Griffith is charged with selling liquor April 3 and possessing liquor April 10, in the Twelve-Mile House, Dorseyville, Indiana Township, which was ordered padlocked on January 15.

FOSTER MEMORIAL FUND TEAMS END DRIVE TODAY

More than 200 members of the working organization of the Stephen C. Foster Memorial building fund appeal will assemble in Soldiers' Memorial Hall late today for their final report.

The meeting will represent the close of two weeks' intensive work in all parts of the Pittsburgh district. E. T. Whiter, vice president of the Pennsylvania Railroad and chairman of the memorial executive committee, who has been at the head of the appeal during its entire active period, will preside.

Frederic Schaefer, chairman of the advanced gifts group; Mrs. Joseph W. Marsh, chairman of the women's organization, and all division leaders will also be present.

Today's session will be the first one held since last Thursday and as the returns will be the results of five days' work on the part of the entire organization, the report is expected to be one of the best in the appeal.

Balloon Found Down 40 Miles Out at Sea

SAN FRANCISCO, April 30.—(INS.)—Authorities today were endeavoring to solve the mystery of a deflated balloon, found floating with its wrecked basket and tangled cords in the Pacific Ocean 40 miles off Half-Moon Bay.

Capt. Keough, of the fishing smack Captain Paladini, found the crippled gas bag and towed it to port. It could not be determined whether the basket was occupied when the balloon was blown to sea. Officials said they knew of no recent balloon flights.

King George Better, To Act in Election

LONDON, April 30.—(AP.)—King George has so far recovered from his illness at Bognor that he is gradually resuming his regular state functions and desires to deal personally with matters pertaining to the general election on May 30.

It was officially announced last night that His Majesty would personally preside at a meeting of the privy council at Craigwell House, May 10, to this end. The meeting will be attended by Premier Baldwin and Sir William Joynson Hicks, the home secretary.

Countess Gets Job As Shop Salesgirl

CHICAGO, April 30.—The new sales girl in the interior decorating shop at 120 East Oak street is Countess Anne Rose Schoenfeldt, of Graz, Austria.

The countess is a cousin of James E. Minotto, Chicago banker, who dropped his title when he became a permanent resident of America. Coming to this country for a visit, the countess was persuaded to remain, and today began a first hand study of interior decorating as sales girl.

HEARST TEMPERANCE CONTEST ENDS TODAY

Today is the last day of the great $25,000 Temperance Prize Contest, sponsored by William Randolph Hearst and conducted on a national scale by his chain of newspapers.

It unquestionably has been the most remarkable contest in all history for any sort of a large capital prize requiring constructive mental effort. A full report on the contest will be made public in the near future.

The competition comes to a close at midnight, Eastern standrad time, tonight, and only plans put in the mails and showing postmarks before that hour will be received by the board of judges.

WORLD INTEREST

From every quarter of the globe plans have continued in the final week to pour into the New York offices of the board of judges which is to select the winner of the temperance contest.

Indicative of an interest not only nationwide but worldwide is the fact that entries written in nearly every language have come from almost every civilized country, from France, Belgium, Switzerland, Poland, Rumania, Sweden, from Finland, Spain, Brazil, Hungary, Venezuela, and from Cuba, Japan, China and Czecho-Slovakia. A large number of plans have come from Russia, and Germany has been a remarkably heavy contributor.

One of the Swiss contestants, uncertain of his English, has submitted a plan in his more familiar French, supplemented with a painstakingly prepared translation into English.

The variety of contributions is further evidenced by the great mass of American entries. These come not only from lawyers, legislators, authors, actors, clergymen, school superintendents, and other professional men, but from those of every age and of every walk of life.

OLD AND YOUNG

A gold miner has submitted a plan from Wrangell, Alaska, and the plan of a 79-year-old Chicago physician contrasts with that submitted by a seven-year-old New York boy. The same mail which brought the joint work of two high school girls who live in a village near Seattle, Washington, carried the plan of a Supreme Court justice of the state of North Dakota, and of a former mayor of New York City.

Women especially have evinced their deep concern with the prohibition problem. Approximately 12½ per cent of the plans are the work of women, and thousands of wives and mothers have voiced the high hopes which they had at first held for the success of prohibition and have traced their gradual disillusionment, culminating in disgust and despair.

Boy Killed as Three Play With Old Gun

CUMBERLAND, Md., April 30.—John Trost, 16, was fatally shot yesterday. Charles Powers and Richard Nierman, about the same age as the dead boy, were taken into custody.

The boys, it is said, were playing with a 32-calibre revolver which was discharged as they struggled for it. The boys had found the pistol, an old type, on a dump.

7 Rules for $25,000 Temperance Contest

The purpose of the contest is to obtain a practicable plan, as a substitute for prohibition which will secure better actual temperance conditions, which will be more easily possible of enforcement by state and Federal authorities, which will offer less encouragement to crime and tend less to debauch the public service, and which will not so outrage and violate the fundamental rights and personal liberties of American citizens.

The rules and conditions of the contest are simple and are as follows:

1—Every person is entitled to enter the contest, but no one person may submit more than one plan.

2—The practicable plan proposed as a substitute for prohibition must be set forth in an article containing not more than 1,000 words.

3—This contest will close April 30, 1929, and no plan which has not been mailed and postmarked on or before that date will be considered.

4—The articles submitted in the contest will be judged by a committee of eminent Americans, the personnel of the committee to be announced at a later date.

5—The full prize of $25,000 will be awarded to the contestant submitting the best plan as a practical temperance substitute for prohibition.

6—If other plans not awarded the first prize shall still be considered worthy of some compensation by the committee, a second prize of $5,000 and other prizes of $1,000 each may be awarded.

7—Articles submitting a plan to be considered in this contest may be sent to the temperance contest committee, care of the editor of any one of the following Hearst newspapers: Albany Times-Union, Atlanta Georgian, Baltimore News, Boston Evening American, Chicago Herald and Examiner, Detroit Times, Los Angeles Examiner, New York American, Omaha Bee-News, Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, Rochester Journal, San Antonio Light, San Francisco Examiner, Syracuse Journal, Seattle Post-Intelligencer, Washington Rerald, Wisconsin News (Milwaukee).

FARM AID DRIVE OPENS HERE

A movement to develop Western Pennsylvania's farm lands to their possible peak of production was inaugurated last night at the annual meeting of the agriculture committee of Group 8, Pennsylvania Bankers' Association, and county farm agents.

Co-operation between the producers and distributors of agricultural products serving the Pittsburgh market through service of the bankers was advocated as the groundwork for the development program.

Scientific farming and redevelopment of abandoned farm lands were urged as essentials to the success of the movement. A resolution urging a survey of waste farm land in Western Pennsylvania was passed.

The speakers were P. H. Beatty, of the Exchange National Bank; T. D. Harmon, vice president of "Stockman and Farmer" magazine; W. S. McKay, of the First National Bank of Greenville, chairman of the agricultural committee; E. S. Bayard, editor of "Stockman and Farmer;" C. H. Lehmann, assistant manager of McCann & Co.; T. D. Foley, of the Pittsburgh Chamber of Commerce, and Frank A. Glenn, of the Exchange National Bank, which was host at the meeting.

High School Literary Prizes Are Awarded

"The Scholastic," national high school magazine published here, today announced award of prizes for work which a group of distinguished judges had chosen as the best creative efforts in literature and art by American high school students in the last year.

The awards included: Carnegie Museum prize, Gardner Askley, Kalamazoo, Mich.; Design, Helen Pearce, Salt Lake City, Utah; Graphic arts, Billy Fitch, Stockton, Calif.; Metal work, Marion Kenney, Detroit, Mich.; Pictorial arts, George Figg, Indianapolis, Ind.; Sculpture, Hugh C. Veteran Employe Falls Dead at Work

H. W. Gray, 71, of 3320 Versailles avenue, Versailles, purchasing agent at the McKeesport plant of the National Tube Company, yesterday fell dead in the plant storeroom, where he had been employed for 40 years.

Mr. Gray had been the plant's purchasing agent for 20 years. He was born in McKeesport, and had lived all his life there and in Versailles. He leaves a son, J. N. Gray, of Elyria, O., and two brothers, George W. Gray, of MsKeesport, and Charles H. Gray of McKeesport.

IF you are going to trade-in your car

MANY families are about to trade-in their present cars for new cars. It will be to their interest to read and remember the basic facts about used car allowances.

1 Your present car has only one fundamental basis of value. That is, what the dealer who accepts it can get for it in the used car market.

2 It has seemingly different values because competitive dealers are bidding to sell you a new car.

3 The largest allowance offered is not necessarily the best deal for you. Sometimes it is; sometimes it is not.

4 An excessive allowance may mean that the new car offered you has been excessively priced.

5 First consider the merits of each new car in comparison with its price, including all delivery and finance charges. Then weigh the different allowances offered on your present car.

6 A trade-in transaction is a purchase, not a sale. Its real measure is whether you get full new car value for your present car, plus the balance that you pay in cash.

STATE'S TAX ON DECEDENT ARGUED IN SUPERIOR COURT

Whether the state tax of 4 mills may be imposed on personal property of a decedent while in the hands of an executor or administrator was argued before the Superior Court on an appeal by executors of the estate of John Dalzell, for many years a member of Congress from the Pittsburgh district, who died in 1927.

A tax of $857 was assessed on the personal property in the estate and allowed by the Orphans Court of Allegheny County.

Cross appeals by Michael Berardino, wealthy banker of New Kensington, and by his wife, Marguerite Berardino, from an order by Judge R. A. Kennedy in Desertion and Non-support Court granting the wife $5,000 and a monthly allowance of $300 for support, were argued. It was contended in her behalf that he was worth nearly $1,000,000 and that the allowance was insufficient. The wife has $10,000 in cash and real estate worth $40,000, given by him, it was contended in his behalf in objecting to the order.

The Pittsburgh session of the April term of the Superior Court was concluded yesterday. Decisions were handed down in three cases, in each affirming the judgment of the lower court, as follows: Knapp against Teyssier, Allegheny County; Johnstown Automobile Company against Read, Huntingdon County; Blassotti against Greensboro Gas Company, Fayette County.

Classmates Search For Student's Body

HANOVER, N. H., April 30.—(INS.)—Classes at Dartmouth College Medical School were suspended today in order to give students an opportunity to relieve members of the Dartmouth Outing Club who have been patrolling the banks of White River in a snowstorm to search for the body of Richard G. Blickensderfer, of Denver, Col., medical student, drowned Sunday.

Henry Buchtel, another medical student and also of Denver, who was tossed from the canoe with Blickensderfer, but who reached shore by swimming, was in a state of collapse and under medical attention.

Infant of No Value, Canada Judge Rules

HAMILTON, Ont.—Judge Elliot, of Halton County, has ruled that a nine-month-old child is of no cash values to its parents.

This ruling was made known recently in the suit of John Ashwood, of Toronto, against Ross McPhail, of this city, for damages for the death of his son, William, in August, 1927. The men were involved in an auto crash near Oakville, the baby dying of a fractured skull.

The judge said a child was only a remote source of remuneration; that he was a liability, and that no allowance, but only sympathy, could go to the grief-stricken parents.

POWER TRUST'S CHIEF ADMITS PAPER 'GRAB'

WASHINGTON, April 30.—(INS.)—The International Paper and Power Company, not only has acquired control of two important Boston newspaper, the Herald and Traveller, but it also has "bought into" many other newspapers, it was disclosed today by the Federal Trade Commission's investigation of the power trust.

Archibald R. Graustein, president of the I. P. & P. Co., and chairman of the New England Power Association, admitted under severe questioning by the commission today that his concern had "bought into" the Bryan-Thomason newspapers, and the Gannett string of 17 daily newspapers.

Robert Lincoln O'Brien, former editor of the Boston Herald, was the first witness called today. He was questioned closely as to the details of the transaction by which the power company bought into the controling interest in the New England publication.

CHAIN SOUGHT PAPERS

O'Brien disclosed, among other things, that the Gannett interests, which now control 17 newspapers, made overtures to the Herald-Traveller during the negotiations for sale of the properties.

The commission may later inquire into the financing of the Gannett string, which has been expanding with great rapidity during the last two years. The commission has received numerous suggestions that such an inquiry be made, particularly into the matter of whether "power trust money" has figured in the expansion.

GANNETT PERSIST

O'Brien said he had been approached by D. Basil O'Connor, a former law partner of Franklin D. Roosevelt, now governor of New York, on behalf of the Gannett interests. He said he tried to discourage O'Connor, saying that Gannett would not be willing to pay the price demanded for the Herald-Traveller stock, but that O'Connor "still appeared interested."

O'Brien testified that Daniel S. Wing, a director of the Boston Publishing Company, also was a director of the International Paper and Power Company and that Wing had advocated the sale at the directors' meeting. He denied he was a leader in the transaction and said he sold his stock at the same time and for the same price as did the other stockholders.

Prior to the transfer of one-half interest in the newspapers to the utilities corporation there had been no pressure brought to bear, according to O'Brien, for the publication of information favorable to the so-called power trust.

Five in Family Die As Train Hits Truck

ELKTON, Md., April 30.—(AP.)—All but one member of a family of six were killed late yesterday when the truck in which they were riding was struck by a westbound Baltimore & Ohio Railroad express at Leslie's Station near here. Frank McCumsey, of Quarryville, Pa., his wife, two sons, 11 and 9 years old, and a four-year-old daughter were killed. An 18 months' old child was thrown clear at the crash and was not seriously injured.

J. J. Tulley, watchman at the crossing, said the truck drove onto the tracks immediately after an eastbound freight had passed, the driver apparently not having seen the westbound express. He said his signal was not heeded.

No frost was observed in Western Pennsylvania, so far as is known.

The depression, yesterday over the Northern Rocky Mountain district, has moved southeastward to the Northern Plains states, lowest pressure, 29.46, at St. Paul, Minn., and has given rise to thunderstorms and higher temperatures in the Plains States, the upper lakes and portions of the Mississippi valley. Snow is falling in Maine and Wyoming today.

PITTSBURGH MALE CHORUS GOES ON AIR

MUSICAL HITS FROM NEW SHOW TO BE BROADCAST

By DARRELL V. MARTIN, Radio Editor.

FORTY voices comprising the Pittsburgh Male Chorus will do justice to Bullard's "Stein Song" when the Fort Pitt program opens at 8:30 tonight from WJAS. The largest chorus ever assembled in a Pittsburgh studio will be under the direction of Harvey B. Gaul.

By way of novelty the Prophylactic artists at the same hour through WCAE will offer two musical hits from "The Little Show" which has its premiere tonight at the Music Box Theater in New York City. In addition the Green Brothers and Jo and George Hamilton, marimba artists, will unite to ring their novelty bells.

Eveready Hour artists will take listeners to the theater, WCAE at 9 p. m., when they present a cross-section of real life, "The Potters."

Jack Smith, the "whispering baritone," will be heard with the Freed Orchestradians through KDKA at 10:30 o'clock and the Fire Imps, a new feature, will be presented from KDKA at 9 p. m.

The waltz group in Paul Whiteman's Hour looks attractive. The feature will open over WJAS at 9 p. m. with "Here comes the Showboat" and "Steamboat."

Charles C. Marsh will direct a 13-piece orchestra, the Frank & Seder Jubilee Ensemble, in popular numbers, WJAS at 8 o'clock.

PLAY, "THE POTTERS."
"The Potters," that shrewd and amusing description of an average American family, will be broadcast.
The Potters are revealed in the great American game of keeping up with the Joneses. When Pa Potter, in a moment of supreme self sacrifice, sinks the family savings in oil stock, one is breathless with apprehension. But even this dangerous venture turns out to be the 1,000 to 1 shot that comes home in front. So the Potters learn the sweet satisfaction of hearing people in public whisper: "I knew them when—"
An exciting love story parallels the rise to fortune of the elder Potters and Mamie, the reasonably hard boiled flapper daughter, provides plenty of action, particularly when her intended looks moon-eyed at Gladys.
Marcella Shields, noted musical comedy star, will portray Mamie Potter, and a large company of Eveready Hour artists will support her. Others in the cast include Hugh O'Connell, Rosaline Greene, Helen Stewart, Allyn Joslyn and Frederic Forrester.

Trade-in Sale

Tires at lowest prices ever

A Special Event that Brings Top-Quality Within Reach of Everybody

There never was a time so favorable for trading in your old tires. Our full-value allowances during this sale make your old tires worth much more off your car than on. Not only this, but with all tire prices at their lowest level you can get Generals now for less than you paid in the past for tires of half the service.

We want hundreds of new users to know the lasting satisfaction of General's Top-Quality—the assurance of sound value that goes with General's policy of never tampering with quality, regardless of the cost of crude rubber.

Now is the time to equip for the year

Why take a chance on having to buy later when the high cost of crude rubber will again tempt the reclaimed rubber users to substitute with shoddy rubber. You can get Generals now at the lowest prices ever offered and the assurance of the longest, safest and most comfortable mileage you have ever known. No matter what make of tires you are now using—no matter how little or how much they have run—it will pay you to trade them in now for brand-new Generals. Come in early and bring your car and roll away on Generals.

Special Bargains in Used Tires

The used tires go on sale as fast as we take them in. Many are only slightly worn and many are brand-new tires of standard makes. All sizes, all makes, all kinds go on sale. Select yours early.

COME EARLY BRING YOUR CAR

The New GENERAL Dual-Balloon 8

Greater mileage at regular balloon low-pressure. It completely reverses the tendency of today toward high-pressure or moderate-pressure in tires.

It introduces a new permanency of non-skid...far beyond the point where you expect to run on smooth rubber. It does away with the necessity of running on tires that wear prematurely "bald."

In puncture freedom, too, it is far ahead. Even the remote chance of a puncture is reduced to the vanishing point.

Our Trade-in Sale includes the new Dual-Balloon 8 and the regular super-lines of 4-ply, 6-ply and 8-ply Generals.

Trade in now for General's Top-Quality that means season after season of trouble-free driving and the economy of the longest, safest and most comfortable mileage you have ever known.

FREE 3 WEEKS ON ERROR, JAILED

George Gautauskas, a former saloonkeeper at 2208 Fifth avenue, was remanded to jail by Federal Judge F. P. Schoonmaker to serve an unfinished six months jail sentence imposed April 5 for violating the national prohibition law. Through a clerical error in the office of the clerk of courts, Gautauskas had been released upon payment of a $400 fine and $58.95 costs, and another man jailed in his stead.

The wrong man jailed was Peter Leluses, a co-defendant.

The court had sentenced Leluses to pay the fine and costs and in making up the court record his name and Gautauskas' had been inadvertently reversed. In default of payment of the fine and costs Gautauskas was taken to jail, along with Leluses, but was released April 18, when a relative paid the fine.

Last Thursday the error in the court record was discovered and Gautauskas was re-arrested and a rule granted upon him to show cause why a correction of the record should not be made and he returned to jail. At a hearing on the rule Gautauskas entered no objections and Judge Schoonmaker ordered the record of the case corrected and the fine and costs returned to Gautauskas.

WOMAN, 5 MEN SEIZED BY DRYS

Six persons, including a woman, were arrested in seven raids by Federal prohibition agents yesterday. A 100-gallon still and large quantities of homebrew were reported seized.

Mary Zillick, 20, and Andrew J. Hergert, 49, were arrested, agents said, in a raid on the Manhattan Hotel, Glassport, in which 783 quarts of homebrew were seized.

In a raid on a saloon at 12 North Main street, Sharpsburg, the agents arrested I. Kulpa, 50, and his son, Edward Kulpa, and seized several gallons of wine, they reported.

A saloon in the rear of 531 Dixon street, Homestead, yielded several quarts of whisky, agents said. John Motora, 34, and Joseph Kostelnek, 25, were arrested.

Detecting an odor of moonshine issuing from a dwelling in the rear of 320 Hamilton street, McKees Rocks, the agents went to the third floor and seized a 100-gallon still, they alleged.

Six half-barrels of beer were confiscated on the first floor of a garage in the rear of 2726 Chatsworth avenue, Hazelwood, agents reported.

FEWER DEATHS SAVING STATE $35,000,000

The state of Pennsylvania has saved $35,000,000 during the past five years through reduction in the death rate, according to a vital statistics bulletin of the Department of Health made public today.

The saving is estimated on the economic value of the individual worker between the ages of 20 and 40.

In this class, the report declared, tuberculosis still leads as the cause of death, but during the past 20 years its annual toll has been reduced in the state from 186.9 per 1,000 population to 100.8. During the same period the death rate from typhoid fever has been almost eliminated, having been reduced from 31.5 per 1,000 population to 3.6.

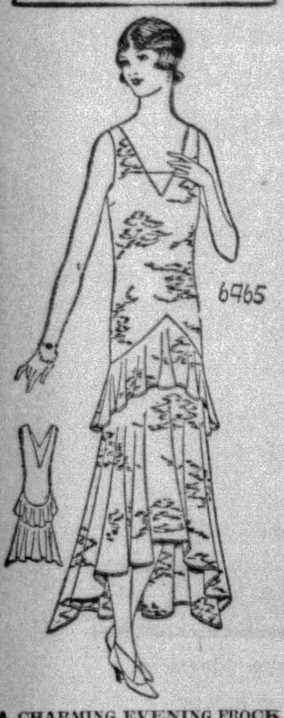
Heart disease is the only one of the leading causes of death in early maturity showing an increase in rate over a period of 20 years. This rate has risen from 41.2 to 47.4.

For the month of January this year, the report shows 110 deaths in Allegheny County from tuberculosis and 374 from heart disease.

Police Bureau Asks For 2 More Typists

Council has received an ordinance authoring the creation of jobs for two additional stenographers at $1,800 a year each for the Police Bureau.

The Sun-Telegraph Fifteen Cent Pattern



A CHARMING EVENING FROCK FOR YOUTHFUL FIGURES.

A symphony of molded lines and animated flares is here expressed. The long sleeveless waist portions are fitted to the form, and are lengthened by a deep flounce above which a short flounce is arranged to form a split curve over the front. In the back this flounce is shaped in a deep curve. Flowered taffeta was chosen for this dress with the small vestee of chiffon. Moire or lace are also suggested. An inexpensive development would be in crepe.

The pattern for this model is cut in three sizes: 16, 18 and 20 years. To make the dress for an 18-year size will require 4½ yards of 39-inch material. For the vestee of contrasting material ¼ yard 18 inches wide is required. The width of the dress at the lower edge with fulness extended is three yards.

COUPON.

This pattern will be sent on receipt of 15 cents (silver or 2c and 1c stamps). Make number, name, address, etc., plain. Send to Pattern Department, The Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, Pittsburgh, Pa.

AVIATION TOPIC AT REALTORS' BANQUET

Harry H. Culver, president of the National Associaton of Real Estate Boards, addressed a large body of realtors and their guests following a dinner last night at the William Penn Hotel. His speech emphasized the place of aviation in modern life and its effect on real estate values.

Mr. Culver is an aviation enthusiast. He arrived in Pittsburgh by plane, landing Sunday at Bettis Field. His visit to Pittsburgh is a part of a tour which has taken him all over the nation by plane, allowing him to contact real estate interests in all parts of the country in a limited time.

Air transportation is not in the future; it has already arrived, Mr. Culver contends. He congratulated Pittsburgh on its progressive spirit in providing funds for a well-equipped air field. He pointed out that the aviation industry has now reached such proportions that it is commanding the attention of capitalists in all parts of the world.

Mr. Culver also touched on the activities of the National Association of Real Estate Boards, especially work against legislation placing heavier tax burdens on real estate. He spoke of the new property owner membership in real estate boards.

2 SEEK $30,000 FOR INJURIES

In two actions filed against the Pittsburgh Railways Company in Common Pleas Court, a total of $30,000 was claimed for personal injuries. In one, asking $10,000, Mrs. Sarah Brenner alleged that while alighting from a one-man car at Fifth and Sixth avenues October 20, last, the car was suddenly started and she was thrown to the street, suffering a sprained ankle and other injuries.

Thomas D. Malone, asking $20,000, alleged that his automobile was held by a traffic signal on Washington road at Academy avenue, Mt. Lebanon, April 14, last, and a street car behind him was suddenly started and collided with the rear of his car, throwing him forward and injuring him seriously.

National Engineers' Head in City May 8

Frederic R. Bradley, president of the American Institute of Mining and Metallurgical Engineers, will be honored at a reception and dinner of the Pittsburgh section of the organiation May 8 in the Keystone Athletic Club. Bradley, a resident of San Francisco, Cal., will come to Pittsburgh with a party of prominent engineers. While in this district he will address students at the University of Pittsburgh, Carnegie Institute of Technology and at West Virginia University at Morgantown, W. Va.

Downtown Booster Talks on Town Hall

Traffic conditions that would arise if the town hall were located downtown were discussed by C. H. Roth, secretary of the Pittsburgh Motor Club, in an address before the Sales Managers' Club at a meeting in the William Penn Hotel. Speaking in behalf of a downtown location for the town hall, Mr. Roth pointed out that traffic could easily be handled when large crowds were en route to and from the hall.

CAN'T TELL HOW SHE SUFFERED

Ten Herbs Gave Blessed Relief; Rheumatism and Other Ailments Gone.

If you suffer from stomach, liver, kidney or bowel disorders, rheumatism, neuritis, or nervousness, or are troubled with a weak, rundown feeling, you need Ten Herbs. It is the medicine that has brought blessed health to thousands of men and women of this section. Probably no other medical preparation has ever been endorsed in Pittsburgh papers by so many local persons as Ten Herbs. Find out for yourself about this famous new compound with the ten wonderful herbal ingredients by calling at May's Main Store, Fifth and Liberty, Pittsburgh, where it is being introduced.

"I am enjoying the best of health since using Ten Herbs," said Mrs. Constanti Latkowski, 17 Enon Way, (South Side), Pittsburgh. "No one knows how I suffered before taking this medicine. I had terrible rheumatic pains in my limbs. These pains would shoot up through my body and into my arms until I would almost scream. Constipation troubled me. My appetite was very poor, and what I ate did not digest properly. It would sour and ferment, and then I would fill with gas and be in misery. My nerves got unstrung, and I did not sleep well—had to get up several times nightly. I finally became so weak and rundown that I could not do my housework.

"Some of my friends were taking Ten Herbs with such splendid results that I started using it. Rheumatic pains disappeared. Now I can eat anything without fear of misery afterwards—no more sour stomach or bloating. My nerves are stronger. I can sleep through the whole night without having to get up, and in the morning I feel refreshed. I feel better and stronger in every respect. Ten Herbs has helped me in so many different ways that I do not hesitate to recommend this medicine to the public."

Ten Herbs is being introduced at May's Main Store, Fifth and Liberty, Pittsburgh, and is sold at all May's Drug Stores.

Meditations of a Wife

By HELEN ROWLAND

Are You a Reactionary?

I HAVE been accused of being "reactionary" because I suggested that women love a masterful man, and sometimes rather enjoy being bossed by one who can do it effectively.

Isn't that AWFUL?

But the funny thing about it is that the article in question was inspired by a bored Young Modern, who confided to me that she was yearning for a Petruchio who could make her "step around."

* * *

She wanted to be TAMED, mastered and dominated by a strong right arm! To be made love to recklessly and imperiously. To be Lochinvarred!

HELEN ROWLAND

All of which must call forth a hollow, mocking laugh from the not-so-young generation of women, who fought and struggled against the "tyrant, man," for the right to vote, a cigaret, and a chair in the barber shop.

* * *

But then, it's SO easy to be "reactionary" these days!

You're reactionary if you prefer music to jazz, and if you would rather go to a symphony concert than to a prize fight.

You're reactionary if you wear enough clothes to keep you from shivering, in the winter—and enough bathing suit to keep you from blistering, in the summer.

* * *

You're reactionary if you address a man by anything except his pet name, half an hour after you met him—and positively prehistoric if you object to being kissed after the second dance.

* * *

You're reactionary if you prefer cauliflower to broccoli—and if you have ham and eggs for breakfast instead of caviar and cocktails.

* * *

You're reactionary if you ever eat a square meal!

You're reactionary if you admit that ANYTHING could shock you. Or impress you. Or excite you. Or worry you.

* * *

You're reactionary if you admit that you actually LIKE WORK. And if you confess that you actually care for your own husband, you're positively fossilized.

You're reactionary if you prefer comfortable stuffed chairs to modernistic atrocities.

You're reactionary if you believe in romantic love or idealistic love, or anything except sex attraction.

* * *

And of course you're reactionary if you believe that God made men stronger than women, and women finer and more delicate than men. And that the two are still running along the same old emotional track!

How to Keep Well

By DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND

Young Mother Asks Advice About Baby

A YOUNG mother has many questions to ask about her baby. Perhaps she was brought up in a family where there no babies after her own arrival. She may never have come in contact with little ones. A baby is such a novelty that she has everything to learn about it.

DR. COPELAND

I heard my own mother say many times that hardly a day passed but she had an agony of fear over her first baby. The strange little choking sounds that youngsters produce are alarming if not understood.

I wish there were some way to give every expectant mother the fullest possible information about such things. Since there are few schools for this purpose, each of us must help.

I think it was Lincoln who said he was "the most advised person in the world." The young mother must feel the same way. All the kind-hearted women in the neighborhood, as well as the nurse and doctor, will tell her things, many of them truly remarkable things, about infants.

What are some of the questions that will occur to a young mother?

1. What is the name of the "soft spot" in the baby's head and how long will it last?

This is called the "fontanel." Usually it closes and the softness disappears between the sixteenth and eighteenth months.

2. Can a baby see, and do all of them have blue eyes?

A newly born baby does not see well. As it grows, the eyes develop. Do not be alarmed if the infant appears to be cross-eyed. After the fourth month this squinting will disappear.

Almost all new babies have blue eyes. The permanent coloring appears later.

3.—What about the senses of hearing, smelling and tasting?

New born infants hear little, but in a few days the hearing is likely to become very acute. The same may be said of the smelling sense.

All babies can taste from the very beginning. But, like the other senses, it becomes more developed as time passes.

4. Are babies alike as regards the quantity of hair?

No, they differ materially. Some are born bald. Others have a lot of hair at birth, but lose it all within a few weeks. Don't worry about the hair—it will come along within a few months.

5. When can a baby sit up and walk?

It is 7 or 8 months of age before it can sit up without support. Don't hurry it or worry about it. The youngster will get up when it is ready. In the meantime support the back with pillows.

Most babies stand at 1 year of age, if aided a little. In another couple of months they stand alone. At about 15 months the average youngster will walk.

Have you other questions, dear mother?

Famous Beauty Expert Tells Secret Of Lovely Hands

MRS. PEARL ECKER HUBBELL

NEW YORK, N. Y.—Mrs. Pearl Ecker Hubbell, dean of the National School of Cosmeticians, advises women on keeping their hands exquisitely white and smooth.

She says: "For women in their homes I can think of no better aid in protecting their hands than the use of Lux suds in all cleaning and dishwashing.

"In selecting the best soap for use in manicuring we chose Lux as gentlest to the hands. We use just a few of the delicate Lux flakes to make a bowlful of pure, sparkling suds. Lux suds cleanse so gently and soothe the skin, keep the hands beautifully white and smooth.

"Ordinary soaps may roughen and coarsen and age the hands, make them look prematurely old. Lux is so pure, so gentle, that it never irritates or roughens the skin, never dries up its delicate oils.

"Therefore I can't imagine finer beauty care for the hands of the home-maker than Lux suds in the dishpan."

The Typical American Girl

THE girl of the ages—the American Girl! And what constitutes her popularity? The typical American Girl is a combination of all the qualities which have made women famous through the ages. She's athletic; she's a good cook; she's a marvelous dancer; she has brains; she's a home girl; she's an out-of-doors girl; she's a sympathetic listener and an intelligent talker. And last but not least, she's the embodiment of Motherhood!

She's as capricious as an April Day; yet as steady as the Rock of Gibraltar. Even those who criticize her cannot find anything in their hearts to condemn her, for underneath a gay, carefree exterior there's a heart which secretly yearns for the pioneer days and the hardships of Grandmother's time, and she'd do just as Grandmother did! And there'd be no two ways about it!

The most lovable, adorable creation of the ages, the typical American Girl, for shes' the finest thing that has ever come to grace this weary world.

So here' to her! May all her dreams be fulfilled, may she know Love and Romance and Happiness and Contentment beyond her dreams, for she deserves it.

The typical American Girl—God bless her!

THE astrological foreca this day points to unfo change and unexpected ings, but these probably w the normal outcome of lon votion to affairs in hand, industry and application, tience and perseverance. T prospects may involve chan environment or travel, but in case will bring advancement reward. In purely personal filiations there is an augury, discord and friction.

Those whose birthday it is m look for a year of unforese benefits, with substantial oppo tunities for reaping returns fro perseverance, fortitude and in dustry under trying circumstances. There may be radical change, but let not the good prospects provoke personal friction, inharmony or indiscretions.

A child born on this day may be original, ingenious and independent in thought and action, but at the same time it will be practical, painstaking and faithful. It may need early discipline in self-control and training in those qualities making for personal amiability and harmony in its life.

LOVE'S AWAKENING

A Continuation of Love's Embers

By ADELE GARRISON

The Prince and Princess Fear Owen Will Expose Them

SOMETHING in the masterful way in which Prince Georges of Trees strode into the library at my assent to his request to come into the room, suddenly lifted from my spirits the load of anxiety for the Princess Olina which I had been carrying. I had known him only as a handsome, likeable boy with the charming manners which his youth in a European court had given him. But it was a resourceful, resolute man with inches seemingly added to his stature who tossed an apologetic nod to me in passing and, crossing to Olina, took both her hands in his protectingly.

"I was fearful of this, little one," he said tenderly in French. "But do not concern yourself further. I will attend to this fellow."

The gesture and the words had the flavor of the formal, stilted life which had been theirs. But Olina's relieved gasp of "Oh' Georges!' was as frankly unaffected as any school girl's and the prince released her hands and gave her a reassuring pat upon the shoulder which was thoroughly American in its brotherly frankness.

"Cheer up, old dear," he said in English, and despite the tenseness of the situation, I found it hard work to keep from smiling. But I was able to turn an attentive, serious face to Prince Georges when he put Olina into a chair with another admonition to leave everything to him, and crossing over to me put the same query which Oline had voiced.

"Who is this man who calls himself Charles Owen?"

"I am very sure that is his real name," I said, and quickly gave him all the information concerning Samuel Brixton's brother which I possessed. He listened quietly until I had finished, and then asked tensely:

"Do you mind if I walk up and down? I never can think unless I do."

"Of course," I told him cordially, for I often use that first aid to solving mental problems, and he immediately whirled and swung into a swift rhythmic pacing, his arms bent like a runner's, his head thrust slightly forward.

The library is a long room, and he ranged up and down it for several minutes while Olina watched him with tense hopefulness combined with an admiration which I was sure was subconscious.

He was worthy of any girl's whole-souled admiration, this young prince, I thought, as I watched him. I was selfishly glad that Mary could not see him in this exalted resolute mood, and did not know his real identity. She loved Noel Veritzen, I was sure, but she was not yet old or experienced enough to estimate her values soundly, and the tall youth pacing the room possessed that indefinable quality which brings a woman into his arms, even though she knows in her heart of hearts that he is not the man who could make her happy, or who would be happy with her.

Covertly watching the expression in Olina's eyes as they followed his steady quartering of the room, I remembered that she once had given me a hint of a former romantic attachment between herself and the young nephew of her hated old suitor, the king of Trees, and I knew that though Georges had come to seek her at the behest of her mother, he had sent misleading reports back to the court of Transvania and protected Olina in her incognito. Then, intoxicated with the novelty and freedom of American life, they had substituted Mary's image and Noel's for each other's in their hearts. But I wondered hopefully, as I had done before, whether that old affection might not still be smoldering beneath the ashes of indifference which they had heaped upon it.

Correct Manners

By MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

Side Dishes

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

1. How are mashed potatoes eaten when served on a separate dish from the meat?

WANTS TO KNOW.

FROM the dish on which the potato is served, take a small service to your dinner plate. Later, when you are ready for another helping, also take a small service.

The Sherbet Course

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

When eating sherbert with the main course, does one use a teaspoon? Where is the teaspoon placed (if used) each time after a little sherbert is eaten? Sometimes the sherbert dish is not large enough to allow the spoon to remain in it.

READER.

A TEASPOON or the fork, if you wish. There should be, under the sherbert glass, a small plate, to match the glass, and on this plate the spoon should rest, if a spoon is served for the sherbet.

Just as Welcome

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

1. My mother was given a silver wreath at the time of her silver wedding. Later I heard the remark from the giver that I should have said something in placing it on mother's head. Have you ever heard of this, and what would have been appropriate?

2. Is it all right for me to give a large hook rug (I am making it) for the silver wedding anniversary of my parents-in-law? I know that they would like one. Or should only silver be given?

A. N.

I SEE no reason why you should necessarily have been expected to say anything special when you placed the wreath on your mother's head, and I think that the giver's comment on the fact that you did not is entirely out of order and ungracious. Of course, it would have been charming and appropriate for you to have said some affectionate and congratulatory things when you placed the wreath on your mother's head, for this gift showed an exquisitely beautiful thought of your friend, and it was a radiant symbol of the happy and proud occasion.

2. The gift that you plan would be perfect—a beautiful, hand-made hook rug is one of the loveliest of presents. I am sure that they will be delighted, more delighted than they would be with silver, and it is just as appropriate. In fact, nowadays, the symbols of anniversaries are not much regarded, for friends give a beautiful present, a thoughtful present, instead of a present of silver, a present of china, a present of glass, as the case may be.

Keep Gloves On

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

Is it considered good form to remove one's gloves while in church? If not, why?

2. What is the proper answer to a man who thanks you for a dance—one to whom you have just been introduced?

H. A. D.

IT is better form to keep your gloves on in church, since they are part of your costume-ensemble.

LAUDS COUNCIL HELP ON FIRE PREVENTION

Mayor Charles H. Kline has forwarded to Council a letter commending the members on "coming to the conclusion that some definite and serious action should be taken in the matter of fire prevention."

Council conferred last week with a committee from the Chamber of Commerce that has been studying the fire prevention proposal, and as a result President James F. Malone appointed three councilmen to continue the research work in conjunction with the committee from the chamber. Council's committee includes Robert Garland, R. J. Alderdice and Harry A. Little.

Mayor Kline recalled that he has persistently urged action for two or three years and had introduced an ordinance creating a fire prevention bureau. He said the movement might be called a "pet administration measure."

McCreery Employes Give Dance and Party

More than 1,000 employes of McCreery & Co., were entertained Saturday night at a dance and card party in the store. The entertainment followed a pre-view of the merchandise to be sold in the May Sales. In connection with the display, a fashion show was staged under the direction of Miss Gertrude Siegal. Patsy Wiseman, 2-year-old son of F. Wiseman, merchandise manager, led the promenade.

METROPOLITAN DISTRICT NEWS

30 PLACES HERE PADLOCKED FOR YEAR

SIDEWALKS OF PITTSBURGH

by HAVEY J. BOYLE

NIGHT-LIFERS will be interested in the report of Operative C-87, assigned lately to the cabaret and roadhouse division, who submits a paper on a new roadhouse which soon will be opened on the outskirts of the village. Gentlemen from Chicago, it is said, are to invest something like $75,000 in making over the place which will be known as The Dells. It will be adjacent to Bill Robinson's farm at Wildwood. Dewey Bergman will furnish the music for the new place.

* * *

Wildwood will recall to many Pittsburghers and non-Pittsburghers, too, the late Bongiovanni, who was the best known cabaret proprietor in town. There are but few who do not recall "Bongey;" he held forth in various establishments for many years.

He came upon unique entertainment quite by accident one night. He liked to sing to his customers and one night while singing he made a gesture which upset a whole tray of dishes in the hands of a waiter. The audience liked the accident so well that for many moons after this was a part of the regular act.

MRS. M. E. RYAN, of 1404 Jefferson street, Latrobe, writes to say: "I am not in Pittsburgh, but if I were I would touch Mr. Havey J. Boyle as being Whoopee McGurk. The pictures of Whoopee resemble Havey's picture."

Mrs. Ryan would not be right, and neither would she be the first to make this error. Fred Alger and Jim McGirr, the former of Braddock, and the latter of McKeesport, beat Mrs. Ryan to the punch in this matter, but Whoopee is still at large.

Besides, my pants aren't baggy.

One of the most attractive photograph collections in town is no more. The collection for many years adorned the walls of the lobby of the Gayety Theater in Federal street. The theater, now closed, no longer yields the fragrant scent of purple reminiscence of another day in Pittsburgh's theatrical life.

In that display you would find many of the notables who came to town when the boys wore tan overcoats, ending just a little beyond the waistline, (box-effect) set off with pearl buttons, and when a brown derby was not the subject of a jest.

In the pictorial display of the Gayety Theater you saw the Four Cohans, and the Keatons, including the boy Buster, who was tossed against scenery; Lillian Russell, Fay Templeton, the Rodger Brothers, Sliding Billy Watson, Raymond Hitchcock, and many another.

THERE was good burlesque in the theater now dark in Federal street. How many remember Lew Kelly, who impersonated a dope fiend? A great artist was Mr. Kelly and he usually stayed two weeks and to standing room only. Many who didn't regularly play burlesque went to the Gayety to hear Kelly and the ridiculous dreams he spun as he came on attired in black, a black string tie, and a black hat, and a complexion of chalk. He was always good enough for the higher class houses, but he preferred to stick to burlesque. Who knows what became of Kelly or perhaps I should say: "Has anyone here seen Kelly?"

Daylight saving is ushered in here again. Doubtless a great many object, although the guess here is the majority is in favor of it. The people who do not like daylight saving and yet must endure it are something like the people who do not like prohibition, with one exception. The people who do not like prohibition after a fashion circumvent the law. It would be, the guess here, too, that many who protest against daylight saving are strong advocates of prohibition. It is unfortunate that the majority that wants prohibition doesn't want the majority that likes daylight saving to have its way.

CAST OF DEAF MUTES WHICH PRODUCED PLAY

These men and women, who neither speak nor hear, scored a distinct "hit" before a deaf-mute audience at St. Peter's Protestant Episcopal Church parish house, when they produced a play with the sign language and with mimicry and pantomime.

SAMUEL NICHOLS MRS. HARRY ZAHN

"I love you, fairest maiden," says Mr. Nichols in the sign language as he follows the lines of the play. And with a few finger twists, Mrs. Zahn says, "Now, be yourself, Sam."

SALOONS, INNS AND STORES IN U. S. BAN

Thirty padlock injunction decrees for one year each were handed down today by Federal Judge Nelson McVicar against saloons, roadhouses, stores and other places where federal prohibition laws had been violated

The saloon of Pete Bubanovic, 1235 California avenue, which figured in the city-wide grand jury probe last June, was included. Bubanovic was shot in the street last June on the day he was called to appear before the county probers.

ROADHOUSE HIT

Other places closed by the court's order were parts of the buildings used for alleged liquor law violations by the Hillcrest Inn, Perry Highway; Evergreen Hotel, Evergreen road, and Fox Trot Inn, Perrysville road.

Other places padlocked were:

GIRL SHOT, MAN GIVES BLOOD

Velma Doyle, 14, of 3492 Ligonier street, was fighting for her life in St. Francis Hospital today.

In her right side is a bullet wound suffered when a pistol owned by her father, Traffic Officer Daniel J. Doyle, accidentally was discharged yesterday while Velma was getting a shirt from a drawer for Doyle.

Raymond Adams

In her veins was a quart of blood given last night by Patrolman Raymond Adams, of 184 Thirty-seventh street. The transfusion had brought a slight improvement in the girl's condition, hospital authorities said.

Adams' blood was taken for the girl after a dozen of the Doyles' neighbors, several of them women, had volunteered. Tests proved the blood of all unsuitable, and a call was sent to Forty-third Street police station for aid.

Of several patrolman who responded, Adams was chosen.

Children Get Estate If Widow Remarries

Mrs. Emma E. Johnson is given the $10,000 estate of her husband, Lee B. Johnson, of Mifflin Township, in trust during life if she does not remarry, his will, probated today, stipulates. In event of her remarriage or death the estate goes to their five children. The wife has been appointed administrator.

300 NORTH BOROUGHS' FAMILIES CHANGE HOMES

Three hundred families of the North Boroughs will change addresses tomorrow, "Moving Day," Fred A. McCune, superintendent of the Bellevue branch postoffice estimates.

"We have had about 25 requests for change in addresses each day for the last 10 days" said Mr. McCune. "These requests likely will keep coming in until after tomorrow. This is about the usual number of changes at this time of the year."

Realty men of the North Boroughs report a good demand for moderate priced apartments. Rents show little change, they say, except for a few of the larger houses and apartments. Rents for these have been cut $5 or $10 a month.

With the construction of the Ohio River boulevard and opening of operations soon of the Davison Coke & Iron company on Neville Island, brokers anticipate a boom in North Boroughs real estate.

CHECK CASHER HELD IN THEFT

Herman Whyles, 23, of Coraopolis, was in custody of postal inspectors today, they say, because he picked out the wrong bank to cash a $2 check he is alleged to have taken from a mail box in front of the home of Paul D. Shanks, Neville Island.

Shanks is a teller in the Coraopolis National Bank. Whyles is alleged to have presented the check at that bank yesterday, indorsed with the name of a Rhode Island nursery firm to which it had been made out. Another teller called Shanks' attention to the check. Whyles was arrested. Charges of theft and rifling the mails will be preferred against him, postoffice authorities said.

Policeman 'All Wet' in Making Party Arrest

When Patrolman J. W. Greeney, of the North Side Station, went to investigate a purportedly drunken party on the Allegheny River bank under the Manchester Bridge early today, he met opposition. George Ehrhart, 32, of 1526 Greenfield avenue, is said to have resented the intrusion and started to wrestle with the policeman. Both slid into the river, Greeney testified today in Morals Court. Magistrate A. D. Brandon fined Ehrhart $10 on a disorderly conduct charge. Dolly Keenan, 39, of 1211 Federal street, and Lawrence Daley, 37, of 1610 Buena Vista street, other alleged participants of the party, were discharged.

East Liberty 'Y' To Hold Dinner

The third annual membership dinner of the East Liberty Y. M. C. A. will take place at the "Y" building, Whitfield street. The speaker will be Frederick A. Wallis, lecturer and traveler, commissioner of immigration under President Wilson and deputy police commissioner of New York under Mayor Hylan. The committee in charge is headed by Howard S. Sutphen, general agent of the Equitable Life Insurance Company of Iowa.

INDUSTRY WILL HONOR BOYS

Boys' Day in Industry, the fourth day of Boys' Week, which is being observed in Dormont under the auspices of the Dormont Chamber of Commerce, will take the boys through industrial enterprises throughout the city today.

C. F. Ryman

The entire senior classes of the Dormont High School will be shown through the Jones and Laughlin Steel Corporation plants on the South Side. An additional trip will be made to the United States Glass works on the South Side. The boys will be informed on the makings of steel and glass.

The junior, sophomore and freshman classes will be taken to the Bell Telephone and Duquesne Light Company service stations in Dormont. Additional trips will be made to the Dormont Savings and Trust Bank, and the Citizens State Bank of Dormont. They also will visit the Dormont Municipal Building.

In the evening the boys will meet in the Hillsdale avenue public school auditorium where moving pictures sponsored by the National Tube Company will be shown. The pictures are titled "The Making of Steel."

An exhibition of electrical and chemical departments of the University of Pittsburgh also will be shown in the school, and an exhibition and experiments will be furnished by the coal department of the United States Bureau of Mines.

Charles F. Ryman is the chairman of the Boys' Day in Industry Committee.

PLAYS STAGED BY MUTES

Dramatic productions are given frequently at St. Peter's Protestant Episcopal Church, Forbes street and Craft avenue, at which both audience and players are deaf mutes.

Last Saturday, more than 100 deaf and mute men and women enjoyed a one-act comedy presented by a group of deaf and mute players. The play, "There's Many a Slip 'Twixt The Cup and the Lip," was staged under direction of Mrs. Francis M. Holliday, also a deaf mute. The cast included Samuel Nichols, Fred Connor, William J. Gibson, Mrs. Harry Zahn and Mrs. Holliday.

Dialogue was entirely by sign language. The players, devoid of speech and hearing, overcame this handicap in a most remarkable manner by resorting to mimicry and pantomime.

Cast Announced For Church Play

Mrs. Arthur Parry, Mrs. George Thompson, Mrs. Hale, Mrs. Oral Penick, Mrs. A. W. Melcher, Mrs. Paul Lindberg, Mrs. Patterson, Mrs. Essie Allison, and Henry Axon have been selected as the cast for the presentation of "The Old Peabody Pew," to be given by the Ladies Aid Society of the Swissvale Methodist Episcopal church Thursday evening. Mrs. L. N. Smith is directing the production.

Emsworth Church To Hold Card Party

The Ladies' Auxiliary of Sacred Heart Catholic Church, Emsworth will hold a card party tomorrow night in the church rooms. Refreshments will be served.

Mission Circle to Meet in Avalon

The Wellwyn Mission Circle of Trinity Lutheran church, Avalon meets tonight in the Sunday School rooms for a business and social gathering.

WILLS FUND TO PAY PASTOR

Two endowment funds of $2,000 each to help pay the pastor's salary and the general expenses of the Noblestown United Presbyterian Church, are provided in the will of Miss Ella C. Hutchinson, of North Fayette Township. Her estate is valued at $15,000.

Bequests of $500 each are made to the Home and Foreign Missionary societies of the United Presbyterian Church; $700 to the Board of Ministerial Relief and the Home for the Aged, Wilkinsburg. The residue of the estate goes in equal shares to these four organizations.

The testator gives $1,000 to "the woman with whom I am making my home at the time of my death" and $500 each to six women with whom she has lived: Mrs. Henry Beyerbaugh, Mrs. Mary Catherwood, Mrs. Margaret Stewart, Mrs. J. W. Nesbit, Mrs. Eva Grove and Miss Marguerite Sturgeon. L. B. Worley was appointed administrator.

Farmer Falls Dead Talking Over Phone

JEANNETTE, Pa., April 30.—William F. Shrum, 63, well known dairyman in Westmoreland County, fell over dead while talking over the telephone in his home near here today. He was on a tour through the county yesterday with Farm Agent W. L. Treager. He was the former president of the Pennsylvania State Cattle Club and the Westmoreland County Mutual Insurance Company. He belonged to the Brush Creek Reformed Church. Surviving are his wife, three sons, two daughters and six grandchildren.

GIRL, 15, GONE; $100 REWARD

A reward of $100 was announced today for the finding of Margaret "Peggy" Burns, 15-year-old Conroy School student, missing from her home at 1425 Page street, North Side, since April 21.

Frank Burns, the girl's father, told the Missing Persons Bureau he would give the money to anyone who would give him information that would lead to the finding of the girl. She was last seen at a party at the home of a friend, in the North Side, a week ago Sunday.

"Peggy" is described as an attractive blonde, 5 feet 5 inches tall, weighing 130 pounds, hair shoulder length. She wore a black silk dress, black plush coat with gray fur collar and cuffs and a black velvet hat trimmed with rhinestones.

NEW MARATHON FOR CRANDALL

Milton D. Crandall, the former Pittsburgh press agent, who originated the dance marathon craze here, is planning to include a flag pole sitting contest in his second annual international dance derby in Madison Square Garden, New York Alvin ("Shipwreck") Kelly, champion of flag pole sitters, is expected to be perched on his 60-foot pole when the contest opens May 11.

New rules will govern the dancing, Crandell said. There will be sprints three times a day for cash prizes, the sprints scheduled for 3 o'clock and 10 o'clock p. m. and 2 a. m. The sprints will roll up points for the contestants, adding the elapsed time score. The winner gets $2,500.

RADIO IN SCHOOLS SEEN AS PROGRESSIVE STEP

Unusual activity has been manifested in the Radio-in-the-School campaign over the week-end. Schools and school children have renewed their promises to exert themselves toward early installation of these No. 53 8-tube Atwater Kent sets.

Every indication points to added support from parents and teachers throughout the district, as prominent persons continue to indorse the campaign.

One of the latest letters in the Sun-Telegraph offices is from P. S. Spangler, president of Duffs-Iron City college.

"Your campaign for a radio in the school has interested m from the very beginning," Mr. Spangler writes. "It will speed up what otherwise would have taken considerable time to accomplish—the connection of history in the making, with the classroom. It is a part of this day's progress and must be utilized for educational purposes.

"Your efforts on behalf of its speedy recognition are to be commended," Mr. Spangler concludes.

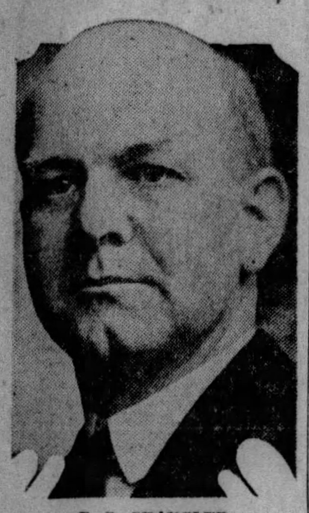
With just such indorsements as this, children throughout the district are co-operating with their parents and teachers in their effort to equip their schools with radio.

The Sun-Telegraph gets daily calls for the speaker it will gladly furnish to supply further information and suggestions on the campaign.

Subscription blanks are being distributed as fast as they can be printed. The Stanley-Warner theaters are all supplied with these orders, and the Haller Baking Company and United Laundries are inclosing them in delivery packages to the home.

School children in all parts of the district are circulating these orders, and nearly 100,000 will be available to the public through these many scources in the very near future.

School Radio



P. S. SPANGLER

HILL TOP WILL BEGIN CHURCH

The groundbreaking for the new German Lutheran Church of Mt. Washington will be held Sunday afternoon with special services. The edifice will cost approximately $80,000 and will contain the church and the parsonage adjoining.

The celebration will take place at Boggs avenue and Smith way. The Rev. Dr. W. E. Schuette, of Sewickley, president of the eastern district synod of the Lutheran church, will be the principal speaker. The Rev. David E. Schultz, pastor of the church, will turn the spade of earth with appropriate services. The church choir will sing hymns.

The building will be constructed of limestone, will contain an auditorium in the basement with a seating capacity of 400 and an auditorium on the first floor with the same capacity. It will also contain six Sunday school classrooms and dining room and kitchen.

The present church located on Boggs avenue between Smith way and Kohlmeyer lane, is 45 years old and has a congregation of more than 400. The Rev. Schultz has been connected with the church for the past seven months and has added a considerable number to the membership.

Senator Norris Says

BOSTON, April 30.

Senator Norris is doing all he can to throw out Secretary Mellon. Well, if they throw out Mellon and keep Norris in the government employ, that would be just like keeping Jackie Coogan on a team and releasing Babe Ruth.

Norris is the fellow that fooled Al Smith so. Smith thought, when Norris bolted over and joined him that his influence would bring all the farmers in Nebraska over with him. He brought all his strength over in a Ford roadster.

If you can't be good, be different.

Yours, WILL.

Bobby Scarcely Gets Hiding Place as Detective Myers Enters Beebe's Room

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

Bobby Doyle, framed by the Wilkes gang and sentenced to prison for twenty years for killing a policeman, is aided to escape from jail by his fiancee, Beebe Barrett, with whom Bobby's sister, Mary, lives. Beebe is assisted by Johnny the Hop, a dope fiend. Inspector Wilmot and Biff Myers, assigned to the case, are visited by Dapper Don Wilkes, leader of the gang, who offers to donate $5,000 to the family of the murdered policeman if they will fail to capture Bobby. But Bobby has already reached Beebe's apartment and plans are being made to convey him to his hiding place when a knock is heard at the door. Bobby hides himself in a hollowed-out sofa, and Mary, Beebe and Johnny pretend they are playing cards.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER IV.

VERY, very slowly the door opened, and Martha, the housemaid, peered inside. Her simple face, with its childish eyes and helpless expression, was toward them all.

For a moment there was dead silence. Then Beebe threw down her cards and burst into laughter that was three parts relief.

She got up, went over to the sofa and lifted up the top.

"It's all right, sweetheart! It's only Martha. We were just telling you about her."

Bobby Doyle got up from the cramped hiding place. Martha met his inquiring gaze. He felt as if he were looking at a child; her own blank stare met his in the same way.

"Is this him—your fella?" Martha asked Beebe after a little pause.

"This is him?" Beebe told her with a smile. She saw the bundle under Martha's arm, and took it from her. "These are the clothes, aren't they? We're not going to forget this, Martha."

While Martha seated herself, remaining silent, but deeply interested, the others continued to go over their plan in detail. It was soon settled. Johnny was to leave first. Then in about 10 minutes Martha and Bobby in his disguise could follow after him.

Bobby was not too tall to be conspicuous, and the chances would be in his favor. Once in Johnny's secret hiding place he would be safe. No one else except themselves was to hear of it. In a month the police would have their hands full with more important and pressing matters than the recapture of an escaped prisoner.

Beebe was on edge. She had thought that if Bobby ever did arrive, her fears, her nervousness, would be over. But now if anything she was more nervous than before. The shock she had already had when Martha knocked on the door had strung her at high pitch.

It seemed to her that in that moment of tense waiting, she had died more than one death. Her very heart had stopped. Poor reckless Bobby who harmed no one except himself, who had been railroaded through to jail when he was innocent, who hadn't a chance in the world, if she didn't give it to him, take care of him, see that from now on he made no missteps. Her heart overflowed with her own passion. He was her sweetheart and her child, she thought, and without him life had no meaning. Without him, she did not want to go on living.

So it was now that, while every instant that she felt his nearness was happiness to her, she was torn by the desire to see him safely on his way.

Yet, when he turned to her again, caught her arm, it seemed to her all her strength left her. She could not resist him, could not speak, as he said to the rest:

"Do something for me—all of you—will you?"

"Sure. What is it?" Johnny asked.

"Go out there in the hall, and gimme a chance to talk to her alone, will you?"

She knew he was going to say that. Instinct told her that she must not let him waste a precious minute. She had seen him this brief while, that was enough. She had no right to the luxury of still more time with him, when that very time might mean danger. She could not be certain of anything, except that the man she loved was hunted like a wild animal.

The rest had obeyed his wish, Johnny, in a grudging fashion, Mary silently, and Martha with her round, wondering, puzzled eyes with their childlike blandness of expression.

Beebe's hand went up and touched Bob's cheek, and she laughed softly, and tried to tell him in broken phrases all that he meant.

"It was worrying about that, wondering whether you'd stopped caring that nearly killed me up in that joint," he said. "I didn't mind the rest—I could stand everything else. But not being away from you—and wondering. It was awful."

"Oh, Bobby," she breathed.

"Listen," he said at last, "they sent me up all right—with no evidence at all. I've figured it all out, Beebe. I was framed!"

"Framed?" Who'd do that to you, Bobby?"

"I don't know, but someone did."

"Are you sure?"

"You bet I'm sure. And I'm going to find out. When I do—!"

She had not seen that look in his face, that look of cold, implacable fury.

"Bobby," she whispered. "You want to go away somewhere with me, don't you. Where there ain't no cops knockin' on doors, and where you ain't hunted? You want to do that, don't you, Bobby?"

"I want to do anything that will keep me just like I am now—right here by you," he answered.

"Then promise me you'll give up the idea of trying to find out who framed you—even if you're right. Don't you understand how I feel. I know without your tellin' me, you'd like to kill whoever it was that sent you up. But you can't do that, Bobby! All those long, awful nights, they weren't for nothin', were they? You won't do that, Bobby, will you?"

He was frowning. "You don't get me. I love you—you know that. But here I am, and I gotta live all my life scared stiff every time a stranger shows up from now on. All my life without rest or peace of mind. Don't you see? As long as that charge stands against me I'm guilty, and I didn't do it. That's what burns me up. The rat who did it is walking around nice and easy, while I got to crawl through alleys, live like a bum and die like a sick dog. Do you think I can stand for that? Why, I've got to find out, Beebe!"

Her face had taken on color, and her eyes, bright and steady, seemed to pierce through him. She came close to him now, with a pleading look, a mouth that trembled. But before she could speak, there was the sound of rapid footsteps outside. The door banged open. Mary burst in, followed by Martha and Johnny.

Mary was breathing hard, she could not find her voice. It was Johnny who whispered the warning.

Bobby had swung around. His jaw was set hard. "A dick?" he demanded.

"I don't know. Only hop for that sofa—you ain't got a second to waste!"

Beebe with nervous fingers had lifted the top of the sofa. Bobby slipped inside. She shut it and sat down. Johnny had found his chair at the table, beckoned Mary over. Almost before Beebe could speak, Biff Myers, his brick-red face redder still from the climb, his small watchful eyes sharp and alert, had stepped into the room!

Merely Margy, An Awfully Sweet Girl :-: Story by Lloyd Mayer :-: By John Held, Junior.

"My dear, I'm all BLITHE and JOCund, no less! I mean I'm POSolutely GURgitating with GLEE at this point because I had more darn FUN with that pipsqueak ARab today my dear! ACtually, it was perfectly SCREAMing because you see the oaf deSCENded on me with the most FRIGHTfully drear exPRESsion on his indefinite MAP and proceeded to TELL me in sombre ACcents that it was simply riDIC, this idea I'd conceived of COXing the CREW because they couldn't POSsibly cope with the problem of having somebody in SKIRTS at the HELM effect, you see, WELL, my dear, with THAT I proceeded to reMOVE my coy flowered CHIFon with a GESture of aBANdon that simply PETrified ARab, my dear! I mean I've ACtually never in my LIFE seen anybody so emBARrassed to TEARS because I mean the pipsqueak hadn't the vaguest IDEA I had this PERfectly good ROWing costume on underNEATH—can you bear it, my dear? But my dear I'm simply MAD to tell you about the perfectly TRAGic episode that happened NEXT my dear because I simply KNOW it'll SLAY you, no less—I mean I ACtually DO!"

The Haunted House By ELEANOR WILMOT Daily Short Story

MABEL DENTON climbed down from the train at the little station, and looked about expectantly. She was the only passenger to choose this as her destination, and there was no one in sight but a sunburned young man in none too clean khaki, who walked past her several times without seeming to see her at all.

It was something of a surprise, therefore, when he suddenly stopped in front of her and asked abruptly, "Are you the girl from the East that the folks out at The Haunted House are expectin' to visit 'em?"

Mabel looked up with a startled glance. "I,—I have come to visit my uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Carr," she admitted, "but I didn't know that they lived with spooks. In fact, I've never associated with ghosts or ghostesses and I'm not sure that I want to commence now."

The young man grinned. "They are harmless," he assured her, "as harmless as Morgan's bear. I've got my little old puddle-jumper out here behind the station, an' if you'll condescend to ride in it, I'll drop you at the Carr place. I told Mr. Carr I had to come up here after some stuff I was expectin' an I'd be on the lookout."

"And you're sure I'll not put you out in any way?"

"Not so'd you'd notice it. Let's go!"

Mable followed her stalwart guide, who had picked up her hand luggage as though it were a featherweight. "Say," he said as he helped her into the front seat of a rickety appearing auto, you're Mabel Denton, all right, aren't you? I don't want to lay myself open to any kidnapin' charges, you know."

Mabel laughed merrily. "That's my name," she declared, "but you haven't told me yours yet—Mr.—"

"We don't Mister folks much out here. I'm just plain David Rogers—Dave for short."

"Happy to meet you, Dave," Mabel acknowledged demurely. "I take it you belong out this way?"

The driver nodded and started the car. "You may not think it," he said simply, "but the place sort of gets you in spite of yourself."

Mabel gasped. She wasn't used to quite so much frankness on short acquaintance. "You see it's this way," Dave explained as he steered cleverly around a pack train of mules, "several of the leadin' business men out this way, object to the fact that there are three haunted houses between here an' Branchville. They figure that St. Celia's Lake is the makin's of a mighty fine town and tourist resort. But two of the haunted houses are over that way, an' women folks don't like to hob-nob with ghosts. You know how you reacted yourself, just now.

"They reckon too, that property values 'd go up if the ghosts were laid, an' so they've offered a prize of five thousand dollars to the ghost catcher. I believe I'm goin' to be IT!"

Dave was solemn. Mabel giggled. "Do you mean," she dimpled, "that you expect to be a ghost yourself or to trap the ghost and exhibit it as proof of your cleverness?"

Dave scowled. He didn't enjoy being made fun of. "Just wait," he grumbled, "the fellow that laughs last sometimes laughs best."

"And why are you hunting a wife? I'd advise that you act indifferently, and first thing you know, the girls will literally be throwing themselves at your head." Mabel glanced sideways and couldn't restrain her admiration for the shapely head and the wavy chestnut hair, and the clearcut features.

At that instant, David turned and looked straight into Mabel's blue eyes. He smiled and it was peculiarly winsome smile.

"It's this way again on the business. For certain reasons my Dad became a woman hater and it spoiled his life. My grandfather, who brought me up, passed away last year an' left me his property provided I was married by the time I am twenty-five. That's next week."

"I suppose you've found the girl," Mabel ventured.

"I think I have," Dave returned quietly.

That night and the next, Mabel was awakened with strange rumblings which actually caused the substantial frame house to vibrate as if some sinister influence was at work, and an occasional gasping sound could be heard clearly. Mabel threw on a pink silk negligee the first night and sought her aunt's bedroom, to find that good woman as frightened as herself. The second night, the young visitor hurried down stairs and out upon the porch. To her amazement she found herself face to face with Dave Rogers.

"I've found the ghost," he chortled. "and if you'll marry me Honey, we'll be all set. Your uncle is delighted, it means a fortune for him . . . an' if you'll say 'yes,' Mabel, I'll be the happiest man in the world. But I haven't told you. I'm a graduate mining engineer—an' I suspected the haunted houses were located over a vein of rich copper ore, an' that when trains on the main and branch roads crossed these veins several miles distance that the houses trembled because of the vibrations. The gaspings in this house or under it puzzled me. I've found it is caused by spurts of natural gas, which sometimes break forth under the empty wing when the jar is heavy enough. Your uncle has offered me a partnership to go in with him an' develop this property. I love you, Sweetheart, will you stay as my wife? I couldn't stand it now without you—you are the girl I've been waitin' for all my life."

There were steps inside approaching, but neither heard. Dave opened his arms and Mabel crept into them with a sign of perfect happiness. Suddenly, the house trembled and a weird gasp was heard like that of a dying soul. The lovers looked into each others faces and laughed.

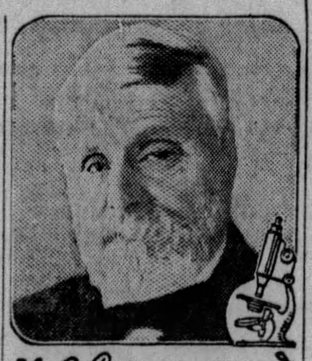
Doctor at 83 Found People Preferred His Prescription

The basis of treating sickness has not changed since Dr. Caldwell left Medical College in 1875, nor since he placed on the market the laxative prescription he had used in his practice, known to druggists and the public since 1892, as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin.

Then, the treatment of constipation, biliousness, headaches, mental depression, indigestion, sour stomach and other indispositions that result from constipation was entirely by means of simple vegetable laxatives, herbs and roots. These are still the basis of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which is a combination of senna and other mild laxative herbs, with pepsin.

Dr. Caldwell did not approve of drastic physics and purges. He did not believe they were good for human beings to put into their system. If grown people want to use them no one can deny them the privilege, but they should never be given to children.

The simpler the remedy for constipation, the safer for the child and for you, and the better for the general health of all. And as you can get results in a mild and safe way by using Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, why take chances with strong drugs? All drug stores have the generous bottles.



W. B. Caldwell M.D. AT AGE 83

Many is the family today that makes it a rule always to have a bottle of this perfect preparation in the house. Keep it handy and observe these three simple rules of health: keep the head cool, the feet warm, and the bowels open.

Why not try Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin today?

PATRICIA PITT'S COMMENT ON PITTSBURGH'S SOCIETY HAPPENINGS

Shadyside Church Is Scene Of Johnson-Moreland Wedding Ceremony

WE'VE had some beautiful weddings this spring, but none more lovely than that which took place yesterday afternoon in the Shadyside Presbyterian Church, when Mary Louise Johnson became Mrs. Raymond Ford Moreland. Mary Louise is the daughter of Mrs. William Terrell Johnson, of Forbes street, you know, and Mr. Moreland's parents are the William C. Morelands, of "Raymond Farms," Coraopolis Heights.

Yesterday's ceremony was performed before a church-wide embankment of cibotium ferns, the lace-covered prie dieu being flanked with masses of pink begonias and calla lilies, with tall cathedral candles on either side. And adding an unusual touch, Mary Louise had her own attendants make their first appearance from behind the chancel, walking down the aisle to the rear of the church, where they met to precede the bride up to the altar. There, the service was read by the Rev. Dr. Maitland Alexander, with the pastor of the church, the Rev. Dr. Hugh Thomson Kerr, assisting.

Mary Louise was given away by her brother, Worthington Johnson, and for her wedding she wore a gown and veil made of rare old rose point lace. The veil formed a point at the back of her head and was caught with a bandeau of the lace, coming forward over her shoulders, to be caught at the wrists and form sleeves. She carried an armful of white orchids and bouvardia.

The girls of the bridal party wore chiffon frocks, made short in front and long in back, with chiffon jackets tied with brocaded streamers which crossed at the back to form short trains. They wore hats of cocoa straw edged with lace to match and carried bouquets of the various spring flowers. The two maids of honor, Margaret McClintic and Betty Scott, wore dresses of pumpkin-colored chiffon, while turquoise blue chiffon was worn by the bridesmaids, Helen Leovy, Mary Oliver, Anna Childs and Mrs. Harvey Childs III, all of Pittsburgh; Mrs. Walter Hoving, Marguerite Gillison and Constance Kinney, who live in New York; and Mrs. Marshall Marston, of Washington, D. C.

Ford Moreland was his brother's best man and the ushers included Robert H. McClintic, Stewart McClintic, James Bovard, George Love and Robert McKean, all Pittsburgh men; Lester Manning, of Hartford, Conn.; Ramsdell Guerney, of Buffalo; John Hogg, of Norfolk, Va., Gordon Slutz and Theodore Welcher, of New York.

After the ceremony, there was a large reception and dinner at the Johnson home, where a huge marquee had been built over the Italian gardens adjoining the house. Palms and ferns intermingled with dogwood were used in the marquee, where the tables, decorated with spring flowers, were placed to seat 450 guests. At the bridal table covers were laid for 54, and it was adorned with bowls of calla lilies, white snapdragons and white lilacs, with ivory candles in silver holders. Two orchestras played continuously during the evening.

The young Mr. and Mrs. Moreland are sailing tomorrow on the Mauretania for a trip abroad, and after September 1 they will be at home in the Schenley Apartments.

PITTSBURGH GIRL GAINS 11 POUNDS IN THREE WEEKS

Konjola, the New Medicine, Restores Nerves and Health After Operation.

In case after case Konjola, the new and different compound, acts not only as a medicine rich in restorative powers, but acts as a tonic, building up the body and the nervous system after the ravages of disease or a surgical operation.

MISS De RETTA WILLIAMSON

After all, the most valuable lesson that life teaches is that it is wise to profit by the experiences of others. Learn, then, all about this wonderful new medicine from the Konjola Man, who is daily at the Dow Drug Store (formerly McCulloch), Penn Ave. and Sixth St., Pittsburgh, where he is revealing the amazing record this master medicine has made in its battle against ills of the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels, and against rheumatism, neuritis and nervousness. Konjola works quickly and thoroughly because it works as a real medicine should. Its 32 ingredients—22 of them the juices of roots and herbs of known medicinal value, attack disease at its source. Causes are removed, and soon the sufferer feels the rich, warm glow of returning health. See what Konjola has done for others, and then decide what you will do about Konjola.

Give thought to the case of Miss De Retta Williamson, 6919 Tenner Street, Pittsburgh, who said to the Konjola Man just last week:

"This wonderful Konjola certainly came as a blessing into my life, and it is a duty, as I see it, to let everyone know what this splendid compound meant to me. Two years ago I underwent an operation that left me nervous and badly run down. As the months passed my condition became more grave. It seemed that I could not regain the weight and strength I had lost. I seemed to derive no nourishment from my food. I was tired all the time; could not get the proper rest at night, and it was with difficulty and suffering that I was able to carry on with my work. I was greatly discouraged, for tonic after tonic, medicine after medicine had failed to restore my strength or calm my nerves.

"A friend who had heard about Konjola's success in a number of cases advised me by all means to give this new medicine a chance. was reluctant to make another trial. I had been disappointed so often. But I did, and shall never cease being thankful. Konjola helped me from the start, and in three weeks I gained eleven pounds. My nerves are calm, I am much stronger, and am enjoying and getting benefit from my meals. The change that just three bottles made is wonderful, and I am continuing with Konjola, knowing that splendid and complete health are just around the corner. Truly, Konjola is the medicine of medicines."

Konjola works, in most cases, so quickly that the former sufferers are amazed. Many of them think that such results may be too good to be true, but true they are, for Konjola works thoroughly as well as speedily. Konjola's goal is not mere temporary relief; its aim is glorious health that comes to stay.

The Konjola Man is at the Dow Drug Store (formerly McCulloch's), Penn Avenue and Sixth Street, Pittsburgh, where he is meeting the public daily, and explaining the merits of this new and different medicine.

SCHOOL HEALTH POSTER PRIZES AWARDED

Winners of prizes offered by the Pittsburgh Child Health Council for the best health posters made in city schools were announced today by Dr. A. M. Kerr, medical supervisor of Pittsburgh public schools. The poster contest was held in connection with Child Health Week, being observed throughout the country this week.

The winners are, third and fourth grades, Frank King, Banksville School; fifth and sixth grades, Clarice Miller, Osceola School; seventh and eighth grades, Rachel Demas, O'Hara School; junior high schools, John Soldan, Latimer School.

Prize-winning posters will be on display in the windows of Gimbel Brothers Department Store during the current week. Posters were appraised by Elmer E. Stephan, director of art; Dr. Harry B. Burns, director of hygiene, and Dr. Kerr.

HEALTH DAY TOMORROW

Pittsburgh and Western Pennsylvania's third annual observance of Child Health Day wil be inaugurated tomorrow when pageants and programs depicting the health activities of the schools of the city and county will be given.

Much of the work of Child Health Day revolves around the eight health rules set up by the Department of Commerce under Herbert Hoover a number of years ago, and which include:

Brush teeth every day.

Eat some vegetable besides potato every day.

Use at least four glasses of milk every day.

Take a bath oftener than once a week.

Sleep many hours with the windows open.

Many of the school programs will be developed around these rules.

AWARD CERTIFICATES

At this time, certificates will be awarded all children who have a health percentage of over 80, based on health progress; personal hygiene, posture and carriage, absence of decayed teeth, mental alertness and conduct, absence of skin disease, absence of overweight or underweight, number of days absent because of personal illness, and absence of correctable physical defects.

Schools which have already signified their intention or presenting pageants depicting health education include Stowe township, Millvale, West View, Glassport, Elizabeth township, Harrison township, South Fayette township, Springdale, Turtle Creek, Baldwin township, Neville township and Sewickley.

WHY NOT TAKE ARSENIC? IT IS MORE MERCIFUL

WORLD'S TONIC MAN SAYS YOU CAN PICK THEM OUT ON THE STREET BY THEIR LOOKS.

"Yes," said the World's Tonic representative, "I mean what I say when I repeat that a lot of people in this town would be better off if they took a quick poison, instead of permitting themselves to be poisoned every day. You can see them on the street, dragging themselves along in misery, some of them brave about it, but some clear down in despair.

"The pity of it is that their suffering is unnecessary. Stomachs that are too weak to retain their food; eyes that show how they need sleep; weary steps that tell the story—all of these are evidences of slow catarrhal poisoning—not so slow in many cases either. These victims have let catarrh run on until the body is full of waste products, and the blood is so foul that the poisons are not thrown off.

"Stomach, liver, kidneys—something gives way, and is in distress all the time. I'm sorry for these folks, for I have seen thousands in that condition who were speedily restored by this good-working medicine. They have come in different stages of catarrhal poisoning, and after they had taken one or two bottles of World's Tonic I hardly knew them when they came back, they were so much better.

"If the people of Pittsburgh who have catarrh had seen what I have seen they would waste no time in visiting the druggist and taking World's Tonic." World's Tonic is for sale by all Dow Stores (formerly McCulloch), and all other good drug stores. (A-54)

BELASCO DRAMA, "DADDIES," PLEASANTLY PLAYED BY NICE ORPHANS

By GEORGE SEIBEL

CHILDREN on the stage always give the audience a pleasant parental interest in the performance, and that is what starts the comedy of "Daddies" off with such a happy prospect. The audience at the Pitt Theater last night at once took over the educational problems involved in the situation out of which the drama grows. David Belasco knows his young ones. Also his old ones.

GEORGE SEIBEL

John L. Hobble is the author of the comedy, but that means nothing. It is Belasco's brand of play—all the possibilities squeezed out of every situation—the last laugh, with now and then a little tear. "Daddies" is a play of the sort labeled "wholesome"—so wholesome that our orphan asylums may be depopulated now by applicants who want to adopt the inmates.

The club of crusty old bachelors—of whom Gus A. Forbes is the oldest and crustiest—are celebrating their annual reunion. By what black arts they are persuaded to send for orphans to adopt—how these orphans prove to be disappointments of the happiest sort—how the crusty old bachelors are brought one by one under the yoke of infantine and feminine supremacy, all this put into the four acts of the comedy, punctuated with a hundred healthy laughs and sugared over with the prettiest romance.

Life isn't like this—but don't we wish it were?

SIX LITTLE STARS

The six children in the comedy all play like grown-up actors—no stage fright, no fluffing of their lines, no uncertainty of their movements. They win the hearts of the audience without half trying. Francoise, Gustav and Emil would almost upset the creed of Margaret Sanger. Lorry, played by little Carmelita Jacques, is delightfully naughty. Anna Louise Furey as "little Uncle Sammy" also is sweet and winsome.

Ah, yes, the other little orphan is Ruth, played by Pauline MacLean, and what crusty old bachelor wouldn't be glad to adopt her? It was the part Jeanne Eagels played in the New York production—and Miss MacLean is just as good as Jeanne Eagels was, perhaps apter for the part. It is the best thing she has done here so far.

Six little orphans—three of a kind—and the other three such irresistible diminutive despots that those who can't adopt them will want to start orphan asylums.

CRITICS ABDICATE

How can anyone criticize such a play? It's like criticizing home and mother. It turns the nursery into a chapel. The brute who could criticize such a play might spank one of Raphael's cherubs.

Let us not regard it as a play—just as a bit of plagiarism from the nursery—Belasco robbing the kindergarten.

But it is a play, after all! It must be one, for there was some excellent acting done by the favorites among the George Sharp Players. First and foremost there was Gus A. Forbes, who was responsible for most of the healthy laughter, and was rewarded by being put in the care of that demure little Parisienne Mabel Kroman, whose French is quite Frenchy.

Alice Ann Baker and Peggy Dougherty, as mother and daughter, did delightful work. Kenneth Daigneau, Hugh Banks, Robert Fiske and J. S. Murray as the members of the bachelors' club all acquitted themselves nobly—and they too received their rewards.

Only in one particular did the poetic justice of Belasco and Hobble fail. Surely there should have been another orphan for the faithful and long-suffering butler, taken by Carleton Young. This is an oversight and ought to be remedied.

"Daddies" is as charming a play, as charmingly played, as the stock company has ever put on.

ALVIN'S BILL, OPERETTA, LIKED

By WILLIAM J. LEWIS

"The Desert Song," tuneful and pleasing romantic comedy of sheiks, French soldiers and a desert Robin Hood, returned last night to the Alvin, where it has appeared on previous occasions, the last prior one being in November of last year. The same company that was here at that time again gave pleasure last night in the rendition of Sigmund Romberg's fascinating melodies accompanying the story of the romance between a supposed native of the desert, the Red Shadow, and the ward of a French general, who has the task of running down this rebel.

SONGS GIVE PLEASURE

Alexander Gray plays the chap in Red, giving an intelligent portrayal from an acting standpoint and winning admiration for his good use of a pleasing voice. Bernice Claire is the chic heroine, who again found herself cheered by the warmth of the friendly reception of her efforts as a songstress and the charm of her characterization of a rather self-willed lass.

Bernard Granville, as a society reporter who finds himself in the midst of a bandit hunt and eventually a prisoner, gave the piece its generous share of the comedy element, in which he was especially aided by Sally Sloan, a little miss whose actions belie the dumbness the lines of the play allot to her.

SCORES AS VOCALIST

Philip Ryder scored strongly as a vocalist and Edna Torrence won acclaim as a dancer and for her fiery dramatic interpretation of a half-caste dancing girl. Others prominent included Ben Hendricks, as the French general, Carlotta Miles, Harold Stanton, Allen Waterous and Albert Baron, the latter as a desert cut-throat.

"The Desert Song" is a combination of the dramatic, the comic and the romantic, presented in such a novel way, and in such a meritorious musical score that it is not difficult to account for its popularity, despite the improbability of the story, for you may be sure that the Red Shadow is not all that he seems to be and is, in fact, a desert Robin Hood, as intimated. Furthermore it is as clean as the proverbial whistle. Youngsters may take their parents and be certain they will not be shocked.

PERSONS FEATURED -:- IN CURRENT -:- AMUSEMENT BILLS

Claudette Colbert has a leading role in "The Hole in the Wall," on the Stanley screen.

JIM CORBETT IN HARRIS SHOW

James J. Corbett, former boxing champion, and Neil O'Brien, oldtime minstrel man, join forces in an entertaining vaudevile act on the three-day bill current in the Harris. The two get the laughs and a good reception. Margie Halleck and assisting players put on a skit, "Clowning Through Life." Another vaudevile feature is Hap Harrison's Circus. This, literally, is the big kick on the bill for it ends up with one of those bucking mules kicking three or four men all over the place. But don't be worried, it is all part of the fun. Preceding the mule and the kicks, the circus offers performing dogs, ponies and monkeys.

Phyllis Haver, peppy screen blonde, who recently quit a movie career for a wife role in real life, is the star in the photoplay feature, "The Office Scandal." The picture has sound effects. Phyllis portrays a sob sister type of newspaper woman and helps to solve a murder mystery. Raymond Hatton is seen in the role of a city editor. Leslie Fenton plays opposite the heroine. An entertaining short screen feature purporting to show where the popular song tunes come from, is an added feature. News pictures and orchestra and organ music are on the bill.

Phyllis Haver

Blue, Powell Enright Stars

May McAvoy is spanked and Monte Blue builds a bridge on the Enright screen this week. It happens in the picture, "No Defense." Also numerous other things happen, including the crashing of a giant railroad bridge on the day of its dedication. This allows Monte to make an heroic gesture by assuming the responsibility for the bridge collapse when he isn't to blame at all. He does it to save the brother of the girl he loves from disgrace. Brother makes a belated confession and Monte and May take the final bow in one of those lovey-dovey fadeouts. The picture is a part talkie.

May McAvoy.

Dick Powell is presenting a rather lively show on the stage. Si Wills makes faces and does some funny antics. Primrose Seamon, peppy redhead, sings funny songs. The Legrohs contort their bodies and do acrobatic wanderings all over the place. Martha Patti sings the "Just Like a Butterfly" song and the Enright Rockets are on hand, just as self-conscious and out-of-step as ever. Dick and his band present several musical numbers. The grand finale discloses eight or so girls coming out of a huge candy box tossing kisses (candy) to the audience. An organlogue and news pictures also are given.

"SHOW BOAT" FILM IN GRAND

By CLARENCE E. GRUNDISH

"Show Boat," widely heralded picturization of Edna Ferber's novel, is the current screen attraction in the Grand. In making the photoplay, the movies have embellished it with the music and songs of the Ziegfeld stars in prologue sequences. The result is an entertaining picture; but not a great picture. Perhaps Director Harry Pollard lacked the genius to make it great.

The screen version concerns itself chiefly with the dramatic story of the Ferber novel—the story of Magnolia Hawks, daughter of a Mississippi show boat owner, and Gaylord Ravenal, gentleman and gambler. Looming large and foreboding in the story of these two is Magnolia's mother—stern and masterful.

LAURA WEEPS, SINGS

Laura La Plante essays the daughter role, Joseph Schildkraut appears as Ravenal and Emily Fitzroy characterizes the mother. Of the three, the mother portrayal is done the best, although Mr. Schildkraut does rather well as romantic and gambling Gaylord. However, near the picture's end, when age comes upon him, his portrayal as well as the character he portrays suffers from wear. As for Laura, she makes a grand effort in Magnolia's behalf, but she isn't very convincing. Perhaps it is the shock of seeing her all wrapped up in skirts and shirt waists of the nineties; or maybe it is because of the faces she makes when she cries. Her tearful moments are rather numerous during the latter half of the film.

PICTORIAL BEAUTY

"Show Boat" has many commendable features, chief of which is the pictorial beauty of its river and steamboat scenes. It also has comedy, thrills, romance and pathos. Then there's its music. A band and a calliope play and there's singing and banjo playing by choruses and individuals. Laura La Plante deserves praise for her singing of "Old Man River" if she really did the singing. There are some talk sequences.

The screening of the picture consumes a little more than two hours. Perhaps production would be more Perhaps the production would be more effective if it were not dragged out so long. Its dramatic story gets off to a good start and ends with a hopeful fadeout. But in between—there's a let down.

PENN TALKIE AND STAGE PLEASE

From Llora Hoffman's prolonged high note, in "Laces and Graces," stage show in the Penn, to the songs in "Close Harmony," on the screen, the program in that theater has a distinctive musical flavor. There is romance, too, of course, in "Close Harmony" with Charles "Buddy" Rogers and Nancy Carroll in the featured roles. It is the Penn's first all-talkie and it proves to be a pleasing vehicle, running largely to comedy, in which Harry Green, former vaudeville star, "Skeets" Gallagher, formerly of musical comedy, and Jack Oakie, account for most of the laughs.

NANCY TO RESCUE

Pretty Nancy is a vaudeville star. "Buddy" is a warehouse employe with the jazz bug. He wants to direct a jazz band on the stage and eventually he does. Nancy had rescued him from a landlady holding his instruments for a board bill and, as she is a singer in a theater, she smooths the way for Buddy. Skeets and Jack are a singing team, so popular that they make it tough for "Buddy's" band and he is given "notice."

Then Nancy gets busy and resorts to a trick peculiarly feminine and hardly to be approved, though, in a way, justified. It proves to be two-edged and brings unexpected results. The finale, however, is orthodox with Buddy and Nancy in possession of each other.

VOICES PLEASE

The voices of Rogers and Miss Carroll register well both in dialouge and songs. Furthermore they please. Miss Carroll also is seen in a dance in the midst of an ensemble while Buddy does a little tooting on a cornet to show his band boys how it ought to be done. The hit Gallagher and Oakie make with audience in the picture is repeated with the audience witnesssing it—that is the Penn audience.

Harry Green, as a Jewish theater manager, is the laugh feature. His talk is not always clear but the effect gets over through his action.

Miss Hoffman's singing is easily the best thing on the stage bill, headed by Teddy Joyce, Nell O'Day, aided by the Tommy Atkins Sextet, rouses the onlookers with something new in the way of gymnastic dancing. Cirillino and Fortunello, comedy gymnasts, supply the fun element. Dick Leibert's organlogue, orchestral overture and news pictures complete a good bill.

Sheridan Has Waiman Girls

Harry Waiman and his 10 Debutantes were featured in the three-day vaudeville which opened in the Sheridan Square yesterday. They offered a program of jazz and classical music, interspersed with singing, dancing and comedy specialties. The screen offering was "The Veiled Woman," featuring Lia Tora and Paul Vincenti. Kenneth Thomson, former Pittsburgher, has a character part. Another feature on the stage was Bob Murphy, who bills himself as "The Prince of Humor." Hall and Rogers presented a character skit of comedy. Other acts, Fox Movietone News and additional all-talkie subjects completed the bill.

Liberty Offers Milton Sills

"His Captive Woman," co-featuring Milton Sills and Dorothy Mackaill, is this week's photoplay in the Liberty. In it Sills is seen as a New York policeman, who goes to the tropics to bring a muderess back to justice, the said murderess being Miss Mackaill. A portion of the film is in dialogue. Short screen entertainment completes the bill.

SPIRIT FAKE IN STANLEY PICTURE

The dark tricks of mediumistic fakers form the staple of the talking movie, "The Hole in the Wall," which is the feature of the Stanley show this week. It is gorgeous melodrama with a little child standing on a ladder under a pier while the tide is rising and rescue seems beyond all possibility. But the little child calling "Mamma" is rescued just the same, and the heroine, who had become a fake spirit medium after serving four years in prison, is also rescued by the newspaper man who loved her through it all.

SYMPATHY ASSURED

Claudette Colbert is the medium and David Newell the newspaper man. Their looks insure them the sympathy of the audience, even though the heroine is responsible for kidnaping the little child and kidnaping is not a popular form of sport. There are mitigating circumstances, for the gang is planning to bring the child up as a pickpocket and they bathe it regularly with all the praiseworthy appurtenances of clean towels and pretty juvenile wear. They are really model kidnapers, and if the little child came into danger that was really the fault of the meddlesome police.

It's a thrilling thriller, and the most thrilling moment is when an L train jumps the track and falls down into the crowded street.

AWKWARD SCIENCE

The most amusing feature of the mammoth stage show is the exhibition of the Mandel Brothers, acrobats, who have awkwardness reduced to a science. The slow-motion leap by one of them to the top of a pedestal is extremely diverting.

Irene Ricardo, singing comedienne, also is a surprise—bringing a voice of real quality to the execution of a coloratura race with a metronome.

David Broudy's orchestral number, Bernie Armstrong's organ interlude, the singing of Warren Comfort and Jackie Terris, and the evolutions of the pony ballet were up to the high standard set by the new stage policy.

Aldine Again Has 'Melody'

Bessie Love

The picture was directed by Harry Beaumont. The cast features Charles King, Bessie Love and Anita Page. Prominent among the supporting players is Kenneth Thomson, former Pittsburgher.

King, a recruit from the musical comedy stage, is heard in a number of songs in the film. Bessie and Anita also sing and dance. In addition, there are sequences showing a big time revue in action and many interesting and dramatic back stage episodes.

Teresina Tops Academy Show

"Radium Queens," Mutual Burlesque production, featuring Teresina, a dancer, is this week's show in the Academy. The climax of the show is Teresina's radium dance interpretation, in which she is assisted by the chorus. Snooky Woods, back for another engagement, offers her classical dancing as a special feature. Bert Rose is the featured comedian. Among the other principals are Baby Fields, Ina Thomas, Marie Collins, Sidney Fields, Ralph Smith and Bill M'Coy. Special scenery is employed in skits, "Dressed to Kill," and "What Price Glory."

Betty Bronson Regent Star

"Stolen Nights," with Betty Bronson and William Collier, Jr., is the current photoplay in the Regent. Tomorrow "Some One to Love" will open a three-day attraction in that theater. Charles Buddy Rogers and Mary Brian are featured in this latter film.

PASSION PLAYERS DONATE NIGHT TO N. Y. MILK FUND

NEW YORK, April 30.—Proceeds of tonight's performance of the Freiburg Passion Play at the Hippodrome will be given entirely to the Free Milk Fund for Babies, Inc., of which Mrs. William Randolph Hearst is chairman.

The play, presented by Morris Gest and Directed by David Belasco, opened last night. A large sale of tickets for tonight's performance has been reported by the committee. A capacity crowd is expected in the huge auditorium, which has been completely redecorated to provide the proper atmosphere for the pageant.

Interest in tonight's presentation is particularly keen because it is for the benefit of the milk fund. The public has always rallied generously to milk fund performances designed to provide vital assistance to poor children of the city.

With the approach of summer, the work of the milk fund becomes doubly important. Although it functions all year 'round, it performs its chief service during the hot months. With the money raised tonight, added to funds raised at past benefits, booths will be opened in congested areas of the city at which milk will be supplied free to needy children.

"Wild Man" Cave Dweller Taken By Posse

DAWSON, N. M., April 30.—(AP.)—New Mexico's wild man, who for more than six months has lived in a mountain peak cave, subsisting on sheep stolen from ranches and eaten raw, was captured by a posse near Koehler, N. M., yesterday.

He gave the name of J. H. Morris. He is about 45 years old and labors under the hallucination that designing relatives who seek to kill him are constantly on his trail.

Morris' mountain home, half cave, half lean-to, on a ledge 200 feet above the plains, was discovered Saturday afternoon by officers who were searching the mountains for some explanation of the disappearance of sheep and lambs.

BUCS HAVE YET TO WIN TWO IN ROW

HAVE you noticed the huge increase this spring in the number of balks called on American League pitchers? During the entire season of 1928 only 15 were called in that circuit, but with the present campaign only two weeks old a total of eight has already been reached. In a single game at St. Louis last week the umpires called the record-breaking number of four, and in two consecutive games they called no fewer than six. Brown pitchers have been penalized six times, Thomas, of the White Sox once, and Whitehill of the Tigers, once.

E. S. Barnard

It's all the result of a desire on the part of E. S. Barnard, president of the American League, to protect the base-runners and bring back base-stealing to some extent by enforcing the balk rule. Of course, he has not the power to change the rules, though he has been accused of changing them by some protesting St. Louis fans. He is merely enforcing the regulations that are in the books, he says. He instructed his umpires before the season opened to do this, and sent a copy of the instructions to every club president and manager in the circuit.

THE pitchers have been told that, with runners on the bases, and after they have poised the ball in the air and have come down with it, they must show a distinct hesitation before letting it go. In previous years he hurler was permitted to throw to first base without a balk being called and base runners feared to take a chance getting too far off that bag. The hurlers developed the habit of bringing the ball down quickly and letting it go.

Now that the runners know the hurler must pause before he can throw the ball after bringing it down they can sprint ahead without any danger of a play being made to catch them napping off base. They are given a new opportunity to take a lead. The fact that three-fourths of the balks have been called on Brown pitchers appears to be due to Manager Howley's having taken it for granted that President Barnard's advance notice was merely one of those advance orders that are never meant to be carried out. There has been no change in the policy of the National League on the balk question, President Heydler seemingly being content to let things stand as at present.

NO matter how well the Phillies may shape up on paper or even on the field in the early stages of the race, their lack of good pitching material will continue to stand out as a barrier to their chances of pulling away any great distance from their usual berth in the cellar.

There are two reasons why the Phils have not got any pitchers and will not possess any later. One is that if they develop any President Baker probably will sell them for as much money as he can get, just as he did with Grover Alexander, Eppa Rixey, Lee Meadows, Jimmy Ring, Hal Carlson and others, and the other reason, as pointed out by Arthur Fletcher, former manager of the Quakers, is that even if Baker did not sell them they would be ruined in the club's bandbox park.

Arthur Fletcher

"PITCHERS rarely last in that park," Fletcher observes. "It's the park that ruins them. With that short-right field wall, there's bound to be lot of hitting and consequently a lot of pitchers used up. Now, visiting teams can come in and stand the strain for a few days, because if they use a lot of pitchers in there they can get a rest when they go to the other and larger playing fields. But the Phillies have to play 77 games in that park. Just think what that would do to any pitching staff. A Philly manager has to chuck his pitchers in there three or four to a game. It's impossible to develop good pitchers in that place, or to keep them good if they're good when you get them."

FANDOM is marveling at the continued slab success of the venerable Jack Quinn, who has made another great start this spring by holding the Yankees to four runs and 11 hits in his first two games, but Miller Huggins isn't surprised. He says age won't make any difference in Quinn's effectiveness so long as he retains his present stock in trade.

That bird looks better now than he ever did in his life," said Huggins. "What's his secret? Well, I'll tell you why he's tough. He has that spitter and he can put it right where he wants it. In fact, he has two spitters, a fast one and a slow one. That makes him a pitcher with a change of pace in spitballs and fine control besides. Trying to beat him is a tall job, I don't care how old he is."

WALTER JOHNSON, king of pitchers in his day and now manager of the Washington club, believes the day will come when the rabbit ball will pass out and baseball will go back to old-fashioned pitchers' battles. "They ruined baseball when they adopted the rabbit ball," Johnson declares. "The parks are smaller and the ball livelier. What's the consequence? "Why, weak hitters are able to pop the ball over handy fences. Babe Ruth, Lou Gehrig, Jim Bottomley and Cy Williams brought about a slugging craze, but eventually the fans are going to tire of so many homers.

Walter Johnson

"YOU don't see smart baseball any more, and that's harmful. Before the arrival of the lively ball games frequently were won or lost by one run. Infielders were on their toes. Sacrifice hits, stolen bases, the unexpected the whole system of play was different. The game hinged often on one pitched ball. It was all the more interesting and varied. In my day, a pitcher with a one-run lead felt he was home with bacon. Nowadays, it's quite possible to score more runs in an inning than formerly were made in a whole game."

JUST as had been expected, Al Mamaux, former Pirate flinger with Newark in the International League, set up a howl of protest when the Brooklyn club tried to buy his release to bring him back to the majors. Mamaux has no desire to return to the big show and desires to remain in the minors.

Manager Robinson, of the Dodgers, carried out his announced intention of offering a catcher and sum of cash to Tris Speaker in exchange for Mamaux, but when Al heard of the proposed deal he pleaded and argued with the Newark management—balked against the transfer and begged to be allowed to stay. He won his point, too, and he stays.

BY losing to the Cardinals yesterday after jumping off to a lead of three runs in the first inning, the Pirates retained the questionable distinction of never having won two games in succession this season. But the loss of the game itself was only a minor item compared with what the club will lose if the injury to Burleigh Grimes' pitching hand impairs the form of the spitball star for any great length of time. Grimes has been just about the whole Pittsburgh pitching staff this season, just as he was last year, and the team will be in sorry straits without him unless Manager Donie Bush can succeed in jacking up some of the other members of the corps who have not been delivering.

While a pitcher on the other St. Louis club, Sam Gray, of the Browns, was downing Detroit in a 10-inning battle yesterday and establishing himself as the first pitcher in the majors this year to win four games, Clarence Mitchell was adding another chapter to a record

Another round in the fight for City League championship was on the books for today, three in Section 1 and another in Section 2.

The most important battle of the quartet is slated for the Phipps Playgrounds, where Westinghouse High and Allegheny Vocational, Section 1 rivals, tangle. The Silver Lake nine at this time is tied for first place with Schenley High, and, with a strong team, is out to give the Bellefielders a real run for their honors this year. It is quite ready for Vocational.

LANGLEY PLAYS OLIVER

Other games in Section 1 will see Fifth Avenue, which met defeat at the hands of Westinghouse last week, opposing Schenley, and Peabody High clashing with Ralston.

The lone engagement in Section 2 shows Langley High hooking up with Oliver. So that the North Siders could play off a postponed contest with Allegheny, Perry and Carrick met yesterday, but the playoff game will not be staged as planned.

Two games each in Sections 1 and 2 of the Junior League are also slated, with a trio of important other games. South Hills High battles Shady Side Academy, while in Section 2, W. P. I. A. L. tilts, Ford City visits Freeport and Kittanning invades Butler.

Al Iovino, of Pittsburgh, and Bobby Burns, of Swissvale, were disqualified for refusing to fight.

Routis to Defend Feather Title August 22

NEW YORK, April 30.—(AP.)—Andre Routis, French holder of the world featherweight championship, has been signed to defend his title at the Yankee Stadium, August 22, Madison Square Garden Corporation has announced.

His opponent is expected to be the winner of a proposed elimination match between Al Singer, of New York, and Kid Chocolate, the Cuban sensation. Singer is signed for this match, but Chocolate has not yet agreed to terms. Several promoters are understood to be after the Singer-Chocolate match.

Routis won the featherweight title from Tony Canzoneri at the Garden last September.

OUTFIELDERS CRITICIZED BY OLDTIMERS

Staff Correspondent.

ST. LOUIS, April 30.—Is baseball slipping from the standpoint of intelligence on the part of the players? Many observers will tell you that the athletes of 10 or 20 or 30 years ago did smarter things in clinches, and after watching the daily battles one sometimes gets this impression.

Lloyd Waner was the central figure in a play yesterday that bears on the question. Although this lad is a natural ball hawk, students of the sport will tell you that he erred in the manner in which he caught Douthit's short fly on which Wilson was able to reach third with the winning tally when it seemed as if he would be thrown out.

OLDTIMERS RIGHT

Oldtimers, and some not so old, would give the present day fly-chasers a pointer on this particular play. Lloyd had to come in for the ball. Instead of emulating a star like George Burns, Lloyd took the fly with the back of his hands toward his face. Burns would cup his hands in front of him and thereby get the advantage of added power in the throw. A player taking a ball with his hands outstretched and the palms cupped can follow through with the natural arc and let fly with power. In catching the ball as Lloyd did he had only a short, jerky leverage in which to get power.

If you watch the outfielders day in and day out you will see them making this same mistake despite the fact that the better way was taught and practiced 20 years ago. A putout of Wilson today was important and these plays around throughout the year. The oldtimers, it would seem, have a convincing argument, so far as smartness of action is concerned.

GRIMES HURT, MAY BE OUT FOR WEEK

By CHARLES J. DOYLE,
Staff Correspondent.

ST. LOUIS, April 30.—Their slab ace lost for something like a week with a busted thumb and with other reputed pitchers floundering, the Pirates today realized that their immediate future held no roseate hue.

The third game of the hot series with the Cardinals is set for this afternoon with Carmen Hill ticketed to tear into Wee Willie Sherdel, famous southpaw of the Redbirds.

THUMB HURT

Burleigh Grimes, a casualty of yesterday, is nursing his damaged thumb, the indications being that the spitball star will not be able to take his regular turn on the mound. However, Burleigh feels that he will be O. K. in about a week so that he should not miss more than one regular trick.

Grimes was struck on the pitching hand by a hot smash from Ernie Orsatti's bat in the third inning of yesterday's fight, the Frechooters losing at the finish, 7 to 3. Burleigh was enjoying a one-run lead at the time, but Lee Meadows, who made his season's debut in the relief role, soon allowed the contest to be tied up. Lee pitched only one full frame before the tying marker was over the plate, with a couple more on third and first and only one out.

BLOWS UP IN EIGHTH

Before Larry French blew up in the eighth, the young man gave a remarkable exhibition of southpaw pitching. Larry found Frisch at bat in the big clinch of the fourth. He made Fordham Frank hoist one to Bartell and then proceeded to fan Sunny Jim Bottomley.

And Larry didn't stop there. The next time Sunny Jim came along with his big stick there were Redbirds flut-

CATCHER ANGLEY

Angley, a former Georgia Tech football star, has proved a valuable addition to the Bruins in their early games, with Gabby Hartnett on the sidelines with a sore arm. Angley not only is a fine catcher, but a slashing hitter.

DANNY TAYLOR

Former West Newton (Pa.) sandlot star, who is an outfield reservist with the Cubs. He first came up with the Washington Senators in the American League. Horne, Angley and Taylor are only three of a group of sterling new players corraled by the Cubs to strengthen their bid for the pennant.

KID CHOCOLATE STOPS RYAN

Chocolate smothered his heavier rival from the opening bell and ended matters by knocking him out after one minute and 55 seconds of the first round.

After a series of jabs and uppercuts, the "Keed" landed a heavy left hook that dropped Ryan for a count of 8. Ryan staggered to his feet only to run into a storm of punches. He stood up under the barrage for a few seconds and then a left hook floored him for the final count. Black Bill, Cuban flyweight, stopped Routier Parra, of Chile in the eighth round of the scheduled 10-round semi-final.

PENN TOPS DUKE

PHILADELPHIA, April 30.—(AP.)—The University of Pennsylvania won its eleventh straight game of the season yesterday by defeating Duke University on Franklin Field, 9 to 4. Duke had won eight straight.

HIGH NOT SO BAD

Andy High was passed about the league like a pawn and right now he would grace any man's ball club. High hits all kinds of pitching and hits it hard. He rattled off three yesterday and drew a base on balls. He is not the best third-baseman in a league that has a Traynor and Lindstrom, neither is he the worst. And besides, he is a heads-up performer. He and Rabbit Maranville were the feature of the Cardinals' otherwise dismal play of the last world series.

The Waner boys apparently have regained their batting stride. Lloyd and Paul collected four yesterday and each of the quartet of blows had a baseball ticket when it left the plate.

There was big confusion in the Pirate bullpen after Burleigh Grimes was injured. Brame and French already were warming up and Meadows jumped into action as Burleigh left the mound. Manager Bush was able to take out several minutes on account of the unfortunate occurrence. Meadows apparently was loose enough, but he didn't have the stuff to fool big-league hitters.

MAYBERRY WINS OVER DUNDEE

WASHINGTON, Pa., April 30.—Howard Mayberry, Donora, was awarded the decision over Al Dundee of Mansfield O., in 10 rounds at the Washington Gardens last night.

Lee Sala, Donora, fighting Red Ryan of Washington in the six-round semi-final, received the decision. Jackie Murray of Pittsburgh was substituted for Tarzan Zenobie, Uniontown, against Johnny Topple of Wheeling, W. Va., and scored a technical knockout in the fourth round of what was to have been a six-round match.

Joe Basso, Uniontown, was stopped in three rounds by Earl Kennery, Canonsburg. Basso received such a bad beating that Referee Keally halted the bout. Young Jacobs, Canonsburg, was awarded the decision over Donald Rathbone, Houston, in the four-round opening bout.

GETS TOUGH BREAKS

French had Mitchell's tap in plenty of time for a play at first, but he thought he could nail the catcher and he let fly for the middle bag insted of throwing to first.

Wilson is a fine baserunner, and when the dust lifted, runners were on second and first with none out.

The breaks of the game were working against French as he made Douthit hit a short fly to Lloyd Waner. Lloyd does not own a strong throwing arm and he did not get in a very good position to throw. Wilson, therefore, was able to carry the important run up to third after the catch. Coburn Jones cut off the ball in an effort to trip Mitchell, who went to second on

MEYERS BOWL LIKELY ONLY NEW ARENA

By HARRY KECK,
Sports Editor.

What, oh what, has become of the many boxing bowls and other outdoor arenas that the various promoters have been promising the local fans for the summer season? With the exception of the Meyers Brothers' plant, now near completion in North Braddock, all appear to have gone up in blue smoke.

'Twas ever thus. Every spring there is talk of a lot of outdoor fighting in this city, but it never materializes. It has been some four years since Pittsburgh has had an outdoor professional boxing show. The last big ones were staged at Forbes Field, which no longer is rented for boxing, and no other sites have been available.

PLANS BLOW UP

Let's see, how many summer arenas were there to be hereabouts this year? First, the Meyers Bowl. That is almost ready for the opener, on May 20, when Benny Bass and Steve Smith will clash in the main bout. Then there was the "Eddie Mead" club, or the one for which Mead was to come over from Cleveland to act as matchmaker. It developed that this club planned to operate in the Glory Barn, but has given up the idea because it cannot get a long term lease. Then there is the arena that is supposed to be built by Joe Tobin, of New Kensington, within five minutes' reach of the downtown section. Nothing has been heard about that lately. Another promoter planned to use the Millvale baseball park, and that appears to be out. Francis Flynn was thinking about going outdoors when the warm weather forces him to suspend activities in the Moose Temple, but so far he hasn't been able to find a suitable spot and he dosen't think now that he'll go in for summer promotion.

If we don't have anything more than the Meyers Bowl during the hot months that will be considerably more than we have had since the ban went on bouts at Forbes Field, and it will be the largest arena designed especially for boxing this section every has boasted. It will seat 8,000 fans, and, with the proper cards at popular prices, should prove quite a magnet for the fans. The chances are the promoters will have a sellout for their opening show and will come right back with another in their second venture, on the night of Memorial Day, when two Nationally-famous mixers will appear in the top bout.

SEASON'S BEST CARD

Promoter Flynn was the recipient of many congratulations from his regular patrons yesterday for the swell all-star bill he has lined up for his show in the Moose ring Friday night. It probably is the best-balanced bill of the season here and looks like the most promising one, too, from a fighting standpoint. He has Buck McTiernan making his main bout debut against Mickey Solmen, of New Castle, over the 10-round route and in three six-round preliminaries has paired other favorites as follows: Johnny Plai vs. Charley Wolfe, U. S. Carpentier vs. Ken Hargraves and Chuck Zelnack vs. Harry Spencer. That's a card that's almost impossible to beat for an arena of even larger capacity than the Moose.

Paul Berlenbach, the former light-heavyweight boxing champion, makes his third start as a professional wrestler tonight against George Zaharias in New York. Of course, he'll win. His name means something to the mat game, for he was an amateur wrestler before he turned pro as a boxer and went on to win a world championship. Zaharias is one of the grapplers who appeared in the show staged at the Moose Temple recently by Ray Fabiani, of Philadelphia.

BILLICK WITH LA BARBA

Dan Billick, Duquesne featherweight, who returned to New York last week following an extended visit here, has been signed as one of the members of Fidel La Barba's sparring staff in preparation for the former flyweight champion's bout with Kid Chocolate in New York May 21.

Al Mello, the Boston welterweight, is reported getting a $10,000 guarantee for his bout with Gorilla Jones, Cleveland Negro, in Madison Square Garden, New York, Friday night.

Bobby Dempsey, Ambridge bantamweight, who has been fighting in the Middle West and Far West for several years, is back home again and plans to battle in this section. He has boxed Willie Davies twice, Bud Taylor, Joey Ingles, Ward Sparks, Young Riggs, Sammy Shack and other good ones. He will be ready for action in about a week and will box under the management of Reed Brown.

Dick Curley, who tried unsuccessfully to get a permit to stage a wrestling show here featuring Gus Sonnenberg, has him booked for a show in the Coliseum in Detroit, Friday night, against Harold Cantonwine. Later he will show him in Flint, Mich., and other spots and still wants to put him in here. He has Marin Piestina and Joe Malcewicz appearing in preliminaries on the Detroit card.

GROSS TO BOX RENAULT

Jack Gross, Philadelphia's southpaw heavyweight, will meet Jack Renault in the semi-final to the Tommy Loughran-Matt Adgie bout at the Sesqui-Centennial grounds in Philadelphia, June 17. George Godfrey and Jimmy Byrne meet at the Phillies' baseball park, June 3.

Jack Berg, the English lightweight, who has been signed for a non-title bout with Sammy Mandell at Chicago, May 29, also boxes there tonight, against Phil McGraw, of Detroit, and is matched to box Bruce Flowers in the semi-final to the Billy Wallace-Louis (Kid) Kaplan bout in Madison Square Garden, New York, Friday night of next week.

Teddy Welch, of McKeesport, and K. O. Yutzy will meet in the eight-round semi-final to a battle between K. O. Christner and Ray Bold at Cumberland Thursday night.

P. Waner, Hornsby Lead Hitters For Day

Rogers Hornsby and Paul Waner carried off the lion's share of the batting honors in the Big Six yesterday. Against Cincinnati, the Rajah got one run and two hits in four times at bat, while Paul did the same thing against St. Louis.

Hornsby's batting left him only eight points behind the leader, Goose Goslin, who did not play. His mark was .381, Goslin's .389.

Waner crept up several notches on Lou Gehrig, holder of fourth place, who failed to hit in three tries, but still is a long distance behind. Gehrig's failure to hit put him out of the .300 class for the first time this season. The standing:

Carey, Schmeling To Hold Conference

NEW YORK, April 30.—(INS.)—Max Schmeling, German heavyweight, who was to sail from Berlin today for Montreal, will be met in the Canadian city by William F. Carey, president of Madison Square Garden. Carey, who will promote the proposed match between Schmeling and Paulino Uzcudun for the milk fund in New York on June 27, will attempt to persuade Schmeling to go through with the match. Schmeling i said to be reluctant to enter New York State lest he become involved in further legal difficulties with his repudiated manager, Arthur Buelow.

WHEELER BILL FOR BOXING SIGNED

HARRISBURG, Pa., April 30. — Amateur boxing and wrestling is placed under control of the State Athletic Commission through approval today by Governor Fisher of the Wheeler bill, which makes numerous changes in the Boxing Commission law.

The provisions affecting amateurs were inserted in the Wheeler bill as a compromise after Senator Frank J. Harris, Allegheny, agreed to withdraw his bill which would have removed amateurs from any control of the commission and would have placed them under a separate commission. The Harris bill had the backing of some Pittsburgh athletic clubs.

The bill approved today authorizes the Athletic Commission to issue licenses without fee to referees and physicians who will officiate only at amateur boxing, sparring and wrestling matches without compensation. It also authorizes permits without fee for exhibitions.

The bill also directs that receipts of the commission be turned into the state's general fund weekly. When the commission was created, its income was dedicated to a fund to build memorials on French and Belgian battlefields on which Pennsylvania veterans fought in the World War. The memorials have been built and this special fund is abolished by changes in the new law.

Waynesburg Girls Form Track Team

WAYNESBURG, Pa., April 30. — After indoor basketball and other sports practice for girls was abandoned recently at Waynesburg High School on account of warm weather, the girls were determined to continue their sports program and in order to do so organized a track team.

For the past two weeks the high school feminine athletes have been staging daily workout at College Park, which has been abandoned by the boys' track teams of Waynesburg College and High School. The Waynesburg lassies plan to stage an inter-class meet later in the year.

Frank Packard Slugs Ball for Columbia

SHARON, Pa., April 30.—Frank Packard, former local boy, hit at a .318 clip for Columbia, South Atlantic League, in the first seven games of the season. Packard, playing shortstop, is the lead-off man for the club. He made only one error in 45 chances.

The former Sharonite went up from Pittsburgh sandlots to the Greensburg team two years ago. Last season he started for Cumberland of the Mid-Atlantic League.

GUIDO UNDER KNIFE

SHARON, Pa., April 30.—Young Guido, local boxer, will be forced to take a rest of some six weeks. He plans to enter a Youngstown hospital today for an operation on his right eye, which has given him trouble for some time. The youngster was set to battle in Warren, O., tonight and also had several other bouts in view.

Bishop Walked On Last Seven Times at Bat

PHILADELPHIA, April 30.—(INS.)—Max Bishop is enjoying a highly successful season in his capacity as lead-off man for the Athletics. He has drawn a pass in his last seven times at bat, including five walks in yesterday's game with the Yankees.

his own at the expense of the Bucs. The left-hand spitballer has defeated the Pirates four times in a row and five times in his last six games against them. The locals have not defeated him since August 3, 1927, their only victory over him since 1926.

THE great majority of ring followers agree with William Muldoon, of the New York Boxing Commission, that fistic titles do not mean much any more, with some of the holders of championships refusing to take any chances with them. "The word 'championship' in boxing has come to be a joke," Muldoon declares. "With such champions as Joe Dundee and Mickey Walker refusing to meet real contenders in their respective classes, and other so-called champions pursuing the same tactics, a title doesn't mean anything any more. When a real champion comes along, the public will recognize him and his ability without his being labeled.

William Muldoon

"THAT'S why I am personally against sanctioning the coming Fidel La Barba-Kid Chocolate match as a world championship contest," Muldoon adds. "Maybe the winner will be the best man at his weight in the world, but if he isn't, the title will not make him the best, will it? I don't think so.

"Let the fighters fight—let them fight all comers who can give them a fight, and the man who survives in any class will not need any label of 'champion.' He'll be acclaimed and respected as the best."

CUBS, CHISOX A'S WIN

By LES CONKLIN
International News Service.

NEW YORK, April 30.—Supporters of the Chicago Cubs had cause for cheer today in the show against Cincinnati yesterday. Root won 26 games in 1927, but was overworked and has never been the same since. He had been taking his bumps this season, but his 4-to-3 win over the Reds may be the tonic needed to start him off on the right foot this season.

Manager Joe McCarthy also is congratulating himself on the work of Angley, his rookie catcher. The busher was the only backstop available after Hartnett, Gonzales, Schulte and Grace were injured. Angley has been getting his hits regularly and starred by cutting down a pair of would-be base stealers yesterday.

The veteran Clarence Mitchell pitched the Cardinals to a 7-to-3 triumph over the Pirates in the only other National League game played yesterday. Burleigh Grimes, Pittsburh hurler, was taken out of the game after his bare hand was struck by a line drive.

Henry Johnson, who usually finds the Athletics easy pickings, was knocked out as the Mackmen plastered a crushing 10-to-1 defeat on the Yankees. The A's stole New York's hit-and-walk play, Hass and Simmons clouting home runs.

The Chicago White Sox achieved the dizzy heights of fourth place by swamping Cleveland, 13 to 4, for their third straight win.

Sam Gray, pitching ace of the St. Louis Browns, is the first big league hurler to win four games this season. He gained a 3-to-2 decision over Vic Sorrell, of Detroit, in 10 innings.

JOHNNIES GET M'NEILL

McNeill will report here today. Twenty players will start training immediately, preparatory to the opening of the Mid-Atlantic season on May 9.

STOPPED IN 15 SECONDS

MEMPHIS, Tenn., April 30.—(AP.)—Alex Simms, hard-hitting middleweight from Cleveland, cut short the boxing program here last night by knocking out Mickey Adams, of St. Louis, in exactly 15 seconds. Simms' southpaw wallop landed squarely on Adams' chin just as the two reached the center of the ring. The match was scheduled for eight rounds.

HILLDALE CLUB IS BOOKED BY BEAVER NINE

By TOM BIRKS.

Stepping out with a good independent schedule built around the Inter-County League games, Manager Ed Harvey, of the Beaver Falls Studebakers rather surprised fans down the Beaver Valley by announcing that the famous Hilldale Club, of Philadelphia, member of the American Negro League, would show in Beaver Falls June 24.

This game, together with the usual battles scheduled yearly with Posey's classy aggregation, and the league schedule, insures Beaver Falls fans of some great sandlot baseball during the summer months.

Realizing that it means building up a good club to show a winner against strong opposition, Harvey was not backward in stating that only the acquisition of another classy pitcher would round out one of the best teams he has been mentor of in many years.

WHITMORE ACE IN HOLE

Red Whitmore is going to be the ace in the hole this season, and helping Red will be McKee, a boy from Baden, who is reported to have a world of stuff. The Beaver mentor realizes that a couple of pitchers will not carry the club, and has strings out for another first class hurler. Frank Mills, who compares with any catcher in the district, will assume the burden of the receiving problem. Mueser, once with Canonsburg, will share the catching with Mills.

Nixon is to be on the initial sack, Carter, a sandlot favorite at McKinley, will be at second, and Hunt, the former O. & P. Leaguer, will roam the shortfield. Furkaly, a new player from Wierton, W. Va., will be out fighting for the shortstop job, and Andy Swetonic, of the famous baseball family, will be at the hot corner.

In the outfield snaring possible hits will be Schrahran, the Geneva man, Cowie and Lefty Fritz. Possibly a couple of local boys will also be given a chance to show their stuff in the league battles.

With that talent, it is only natural Harvey feels confident visiting clubs will still find it tough to win games down in the Beaver Valley. Before the season opens Harvey feels that other names will be added to the roster, but those mentioned gives any veteran manager a chance to pull in some games. Few managers in the racket today can teach Harvey much about the sandlots, and his knowledge, gained through years of close connection with the sport, will come in handy when the race starts.

DOELFELS TO DRILL

The H. W. Doelfels will hold practice sessions tonight and tomorrow evening and all players are requested to report. On Thursday the Club will meet the F. W. Scotts, of Hays Borough, at the Magee playgrounds.

The South Side Cubs, a new club on the diamond this season, are anxious to book games with any team in the junior class. Managers of Speer A. C., St. Clair Frogs and the Baldwin A. C. are requested to communicate with Frank Rosack, manager by calling Linden 5052-R or writing him at 1368 Fairlee street, North Side.

Lefty Sands, who spent the season of 1925 with the Wheeling club in the Middle Atlantic League, plans to return to the game and has signed with the Greensburg Generals. He will be at first base on opening day, May 14, with the Homestead Grays. Alan Bricelin, the Pitt student, again is to play second base for the Generals. Boots Shoop, who played first last year, will be in left field. The Generals will play their first game away May 16 at Altoona. Home games will be played Tuesday evening and Saturday afternoon, with two games on each of the holidays.

Benny Bass Gets Decision Over Farr

PHILADELPHIA, April 30.—(AP.)—Benny Bass, Philadephia, was awarded the decison over Johnny Farr, Cleveland, in a slashing 10-round bout at the Arena last night. Bass weighed 128½ pounds, Farr 130. The decision was unpopular. Many experts at the ringside scored the majority of the rounds for Farr.

Jack McVey, hard-socking Negro from New York, won the decision over Vincent Jorgione, Philadelphia, in the 10-round semi-windup.

the throw from the outfield. Both runners slid into the two bases safely and the Pirates were just about licked.

FORCES IN RUNS

French then walked High, Frisch and Bottomley in succession, the last two passes forcing in runs. Brame relieved French and made Hafey pop up, but Holm nicked the last pitcher for a single that tallied two more Redbirds and put the game on the ice.

The contest started out like a walkaway for the Pirates, three tallies going over before Mitchell could get his bearings. Jones and Brother Lloyd singled in quick succession. Jones whirled to third and Sprout pulled up at second on the play. P. Waner smacked a hot one to Gelbert, who boxed L. Waner and touched him out while holding Jones. P. Waner skipped along to second in the mixup and when Capt. Traynor belted a double to center, two Pirates registered. Grantham's single scored Pie, but a hit-and-run, involving Sheely and Grantham, missed fire, the move helping to cut the inning short. Well, from that point to the finish Mr. Mitchell was too good for our boys.

Douthit nicked Grimes for a timely two-out single in the second, the hit driving in two runs. Orsatti and Gelbert started with hits and Grimes threw out Wilson, the runners advancing. Burleigh fanned Mitchell, a dangerous hitter, in the pinch, but Douthit spanked one to right that had a lot of bearing on the ultimate result.

DUKES BATTLE U. P. NETTERS TODAY

By JESS CARVER.

Duquesne University's varsity tennis team, its hopes set on winning the Tri-State Conference net title, now held by Geneva, will engage in its second, and what promises to be one of the toughest, matches of the campaign this afternoon on the Bluff courts. The opposition will be furnished by Westminster College's racqueteers, a dangerous set of foemen.

The Dukes hopped off to a fine start last week by defeating Bethany's strong volleyers 4 to 3. Westminster's hopes for the Conference banner are as strong and as well founded as are these of the Dukes. Today's match means a lot to both squads.

Following the battle this afternoon, the Bluff racqueteers will be idle for one week, when Geneva will send its team here. This engagement will afford the locals their second test of the campaign.

TEXAS MARKS GOOD

All of the leading track and field marks for the east and middle west were not turned in by the athletes at the Penn and Drake relays. Two of the best records of the present season were made at the Texas carnival, when Behr, of Wisconsin, put the 16-pound shot 48 feet, five inches, and Bevan, Kansas Teachers' College star, hurled the javelin 206 feet, 11 inches, bettering by 10 feet the second best mark.

At the Kansas Relays two weeks ago, the Illinois quarter-mile spring relay team covered the distance in 0:41 8-10. The Illinois four-mile relay team turned in a time record of 17:40 and 2-10 seconds at the Texas event, which broke the meet record and so far, is the fastest that the distance has been covered this Spring. Penn State's time in the same event at Penn last Saturday was 7 and 9-10 seconds slower.

MARKS MAY FALL

It will not be surprising if a number of the so far best efforts take a tumble at the Ohio State Relays at Columbus this week. In previous years, the Buckeye carnival has been held from two to three weeks earlier, and has never yet enjoyed good weather. Comnig as late as it does this spring, and with most of its entrants in mid-season form and wealthy in experience, the records will have to withstand valiant assaults.

The majority of the middle western relay teams and individual stars will be on hand for this meet, together with the cream of eastern teams and stars. Jack Elder, Wildermuth, Bowen, Snellenback, Kent, Tolan, and Timm will give George Simpson, Ohio State's flyer his toughest competition in the 100. In fact, the Ohio Relay century looms as the feature race of the season.

FROTH

Pete Bowen should know George Simpson "passing well" by now.... Pete says George has a fine pair of heels.... He isn't so certain about his toes.... Jess Petty, the actor-pitcher, proved that he can still throw 'em past the boys.... Holding the Cards to four hits is nothing to draw down the sneers.... Somebody tapped Billiken with a piece of chair....Hornsby ask him if it was Miller Huggins.... Larry French, the Bucco southpaw, can fungo 'em further than any man on the club.... He is going to engage Babe Ruth in a duel when the Yanks come here Friday.... Larry put two over the center-field fence last Saturday.... And all the while, Joe Dawson is moaning because he can't get one in the right field bleachers.

Garcia Is Stopped By T. N. T. Gibbons

WELLSVILLE, O., April 30.—T. N. T. Gibbons, Chicago middleweight, knocked out Don Garcia of Donora, Pa., in the second round at the Valley Athletic Club's show here last night. They weighed 150. Fred Edwards of Crester, W. Va., won the decision over Joe Todd of Canton after six fast rounds in the semi-final.

Tom Chaplin of Sebring won on a technical knockout in the second round over Battling Bloom of Salineville in a scheduled four round battle. They weighed 148.

Bud Morrison of Canton outpointed Nick Malone of Wellsville in a four round go. In the four-round opener, Sambo Brown was given the decision over Frank Palermo of Sebring.

Star Bouts Booked For Philly Show

PHILADELPHIA, April 30.—(INS)—Four of the greatest colored boxers in the game will appear in the quartet of all-star bouts booked for Philadelphia's first outdoor show of the season May 27 at Shibe Park.

Kid Chocolate meets Vidal Gregorio, of Spain, in one of the four rounders, Baby Joe Gans, California, tackles Pinky Kauffman, of Hartford, Con., in another, while Jack McVey meets George Courtney, Oklahoma cowboy, and Bruce flowers clashes with Billy Wallace, of Cleveland, in the other contests. The boxers will draw lots to decide which bout will be put in the windup spot.

Race Meet Opens At Newmarket

NEWMARKET, Eng., April 30.—(INS.)—Thousands of turf followers flocked to Newmarket today for the opening of the racing season upon this heroic track. There were hundreds of Americans who journeyed down to Suffolk. Two of the five real classics of the British turf will be run over the Newmarket course this week, the Two Thousand Guineas tomorrow and the One Thousand Guineas on Friday.

Rainville Defeats Crocker, 6-3, 6-2, 6-2

TORONTO, April 30.—(AP.)—Marcel Rainville's straight-set victory over Willard Crocker furnished the high spot at the opening of the Canadian Davis Cup trials here yesterday. Rainville, ranked No. 9 in Canada, disposed of Crocker, the No. 2 ranking player, 6-3, 6-2, 6-2.

In the only other test match of the day, Rainville and Crocker paired in the doubles to defeat Gilbert Nunns, ranking No. 3 player and Dr. Arthur Hamm, the No. 4 star, 4-6, 6-4, 7-9, 6-3, 6-3.

WILDWOOD CLUB TO CELEBRATE ANNIVERSARY

By VERN SWARTSFAGER

The Wildwood Country Club is planning a big day May 2. That day will mark the club's first anniversary, and it will be probably celebrated on the links, as well as at a dinner dance in the evening. It is anticipated by club officials that virtually every member will be "on the scene of action," along with a number of guests, to the extent that Wildwood will be nestling in a more colorful setting, from a standpoint of people, than ever before. Needless to say, its infant golf course is a wondedful piece of work.

TOURNEY PLANNED

At the board of directors meeting of the Chartiers Heights Country Club the other day, the plan to stage the club's first invitation tournament brought no end of enthusiasm. Chartiers Heights' links are better now than ever before—and, as a result, a larger program of golf activity than ever tried previously is to be staged.

A luncheon bridge for the ladies will be held at Chartiers Heights tomorrow.

Golfers who are members of clubs affiliated with the state golf body and who have not already turned in their five best scores of last season for handicapping may do so without the formality of a special application blank issued earlier in the season. Send them to either Greer McIlvain or J. Bernd Rose, in care of Miss Miller, 1101 Farmers Bank building, along with a fee of $1, and they will be well taken care of; those already in are being rated now.

GROGAN CUP MATCHES

The Grogan Cup matches will be played May 22, at Highland and June 16 at Shannopin this year.

Local linksmen were pleased to learn of the merging of the Thornburg Country Club and the Mercantile Club into the Thornburg Town and Country Club, Dr. Charles A. Cuden, chairman of the green committee, and J. A. Williams, president, original organizers of the new Thornburg Country Club are mainly responsible for the big step forward. The move had been contemplated for more than a year.

Local Swimmer In National Event

GOLF AS CHAMPIONS PLAY IT

What is the job of the body in putting?

Answered by

JOCK HUTCHISON

Former British Open Champion and International Known Golf Professional.

The biggest job of the body in putting is to be as steady as possible. Make an effort to eliminate the body from the putting stroke entirely, as the slightest body movement is very apt to change the angle of the putter blade and as a consequence push or hook the ball away from the hole. The work of successful putting falls almost entirely on the arms, which must be held rigid in making the shot, although there are several other factors that exercise considerable influence.

Canada Has New Davis Cup Netmen

TORONTO, April 30.—(INS.)—Marcil Rainville, Canada's ninth ranking tennis player, may see action against the United States team in the Davis Cup matches at Montreal next month. He scored an upset by defeating Willard Crocker, Canada's second ranking player, in the Canadian Davis Cup trials here yesterday.

PETE GAVUZZI STRENGTHENS PYLE LEAD

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., April 30.—(AP.)—Peter Gavuzzi, bearded Englishman, averaged nearly 10 miles an hour to lead C. C. Pyle's bunion derbyists into the thirtieth control point here yesterday.

Gavuzzi's time of four hours 51 minutes and 10 seconds for the 41 miles from Conway, Mo., not only gave him the day's lap but strengthened his hold on first place as measured by elapsed time since the start from the Atlantic seaboard a month ago. Gavuzzi's elapsed time of 193.37.17 gives him an advantage of three hours and 13 minutes over his nearest rival, John Salo, of Passaic, N. J., who was second.

GARDNER FAR BEHIND

Ed Gardner, Seattle Negro, finished fifteenth, the slowest he has been in finishing a day's lap since he started East from California last year in Pyle's first derby. Despite his poor showing, however, Gardner still ranks third in elapsed time.

Third place went to Herbert Hedeman, of New York, who was clocked in 5.20.50. Jesse Dalzell, running into his home town, was fourth and was welcomed by shrieking fire sirens and cheering crowds. Giusto Umek, of Italy, was fifth and Sam Richman, of New York, sixth.

THORPE JOINS TROUPE

Jim Thorpe, former Carlisle Indian athletic star, joined the troupe here and will act as master of ceremonies at the Pyle Cross Country Follies, presented at each of the control points. The leaders in elapsed time:

Pete Gavuzzi, England, 193.37.17; John Salo, Passaic, N. J., 196.50.17; Ed Gardner, Seattle, 200.08.09; Giusto Umek, Italy, 210.37.11; Paul Simpson, Burlington, N. C., 217.17.35; Sam Richman, New York, 218.49.10; Phillip Granville Hamilton, Ont., 223.53.15; M. B. McNamara, Australia, 240.22.47; Harry Abramowitz New York, 252.19.17; Herbert Hedeman New York, 256.38.35; Mike Joyce, Cleveland, O., 268.32.19; Elwin Harbine, Santa Rosa, Cal., 284.53.33; Guy Shields, Picher Okla., 287.15.30; Jesse Dalzell, Springfield, Mo., 288.08.46; Pat Harrison, Sullivan, Mo., 293.28.37.

Spencer Harris Sent Back to Millers

WASHINGTON, April 30.—(INS.)—Spencer Harris, crack American Association outfielder, who led his league last year in hitting, has been sent back to Minneapolis by the Nationals, it was announced today.

President Griffith liked Harris and his work, but he liked $18,000 more. Under an agreement with the Millers he was to pay them $18,000 if Harris was retained.

Local Boxer Wins In Amateur Tourney

NEW YORK, April 30.—(INS.)—New York amateur boxers won seven out of 11 bouts in the inter-city tournament held here last night under A. A. U. auspices. Boston scored two victories, Philadelphia and Pittsburgh one each and Montreal none.

The winners included Tony Marino, Pittsburgh, and Parice Apice, of Boston, national junior 112-pound champion.

To Attract the Best Men, Advertise; A Success Tip.

—By B. C. FORBES—

ISN'T this queer, isn't it poor business? Commercial concerns will scour the world for the best merchandise, leading industrial corporations spend millions on research, alert manufacturers are constantly spending money to improve their product, money is spent by the hundreds of millions on advertising for customers—but nothing is spent by most concerns on what is more fundamental to their success than any of these other things, namely, in finding the best man power, the best brain power to insure the success of their business.

Every intelligent business man now agrees that the success or failure of an enterprise depends upon whether it has superior or inferior management. Yet, how much is spent in getting the right men into the business?

WHAT is the usual procedure? For the majority of their "help" most organizations of magnitude simply have an employment office and select employes from the flotsam and jetsam that happens to float in; or they may, if the need be pressing, insert a puny "help wanted" advertisement in the papers.

If a new executive is needed what happens? The president or other leading executives will call to mind the different fellows he knows. He is always so busy that the chances are he doesn't meet any men belonging to other organizations. His circle of possibilities is, therefore, narrow. But it is necessary to pick somebody, and though there is nobody in sight who seems to fill the bill very satisfactorily, some sort of choice has to be made.

It spends $50,000 a year in advertising for men—and a lot more than that in winnowing the chaff from the wheat garnered by this extensive advertising.

One result is that less than one per cent of the men finally selected quit in a year.

LET William M. Bushnell, of the J. C. Penny Company, tell how and why they pursue the course here outlined:

"Notwithstanding the importance which we place upon such fundamental factors as merchandise, price, store locations, display, advertising, quality, style, consumer demand and the rest, the fact remains that these factors all come to a head in our stores—AND OUR STORES ARE MANAGED BY MEN.

"Men, therefore," says Mr. Bushnell in the chain store review, "constitute the backbone of our business.

"Consequently we probably spend more time and money and devote more serious labor to getting new recruits than any other institution of our size. We maintain employment offices in New York, St. Louis, San Francisco and Oklahoma City.

"Last year our contacts totaled 16,905. Yet the whole crux of the story is that of these 16,905 prospepcts we actually employed a mere 607—about 3½ per cent. Right there you have the why and wherefore of the Penney idea: an organization built on men must have the best material available if it is to survive.

"Outof the 607 LESS THAN 1 PER CENT HAVE QUIT in a year.

"We do not rely on mental tests, psychological examinations or any other elaborate 'scientific' system. The best possible method of elimination that we could devise is our own homely but effective practice of offering a relatively low salary for an undue amount of work. The man who can swallow that without turning pale has already classified himself better than we could ever classify him.

"We are really selecting PARTNERS for our business rather than 'hired help.'"

IF it is important to spend money in getting the right goods and in advertising for customers, surely it is obvious that it is still more important to spend money in advertising for the right men.

Report Opposes Rate Fixing by Congress

WASHINGTON, April 30.—A report strongly opposing any effort by Congress to fix railroad rates by legislation and specifically advocating repeal of the Hoch-Smith resolution in event it is construed as an example of congressional rate making was made to the seventeenth annual convention of the United States Chamber of Commerce in session here.

The report stated it is unwise and contrary to sound public policy for Congress either to fix rates itself or to give to the Interstate Commerce Commission detailed instructions as to the way in which the commission shall apply rate-making principles defined in the law.

Jewelry Firms Form $13,132,000 Merger

NEW YORK, April 30.—(AP.)—Three of the oldest retail jewelry stores in the country soon will be merged into one organization, with total resources of $13,132,000, Edmund C. Mayo, president of the Gorham Manufacturing Company, announced today.

The firms affected by the consolidation, effective May 15, are Black, Starr & Frost, New York, the retail store of the Gorham Company, also in New York, and Spaulding & Co., Inc., of Chicago.

The new company will be known as Gorham, Inc., said the announcement of Mr. Mayo, who will head the company.

FINANCIAL NEWS AND VIEWS

Treasury Backs Young's View.

The view expressed in Los Angeles yesterday by Gov. Young, of the Federal Reserve Board, that speculation would adjust itself and that the Federal Reserve Board requires no new legislation to handle the situation, was said at the Treasury Department to be held by its officials.

Since the speculation situation was first called to the attention of the country last February 7 in a statement from the Federal Reserve Board, cautioning member banks that use of Federal Reserve credit for speculation must be restrained, there have been frequent proposals by members of Congress to amend the Federal Reserve act to enable the board to deal with the situation.

During that time loans to brokers and dealers in New York, which established a new high record on March 20, have declined by about $300,000,000 to $5,495,000,000, and the board recently announced that it would be satisfied with the situation if the decline continued.

Mr. Young said that a natural readjustment of the stock market will follow the wave of speculation now sweeping the country and there is no reason for "tinkering" with the Federal Reserve banking system because of the sensational market movements.

Expect Big Steel Earnings.

The Steel Corporation will make public the results of its first quarter operations after the close of business today. Quiet buying of the stock recently indicates that an exceptionally good showing is being anticipated. Preliminary estimates place net to be shown for dividends at between $40,000,000 and $45,000,000, which, if borne out, would make the first three months of 1929 the record peace-time quarter. Such earnings would be equivalent to from $5 to $5.50 a share on the common stock after providing for preferred dividend requirements. This would compare with $4.33 a share in the final quarter of 1928, when net result included adjustments of over $6,000,000 not really applicable to any special quarter.

Dept. Store Sales Improve

Wholesale trade, as reflected in reports made by dealers to the Federal Reserve agent at New York, was "very irregular in March, but in general showed a substantial seasonal increase over February," says the May 1 monthly review of credit and business conditions by the agent. Reports of leading chain store systems and department stores indicated good retail trade in March, attributed in part to the early Easter. Department stores showed in March the largest increase in business, as compared with a year previous, since August, 1926.

REFINED COAL

TEN years ago, it would have been a fantastic thought to consider it just as necessary to refine coal as to refine the ores of gold, silver, lead or copper. That fantastic thought has become a reality. The Pittsburgh Coal Company operates four huge coal cleaning plants where, by automatic machinery, coal is cleaned, refined, dressed and sized just as carefully as other minerals are refined.

The average person little realizes the importance of proper preparation in the marketing of coal. And most consumers are only now realizing the benefits to them of pure coal properly sized. Efficient combustion, less smoke, more economical operation, less freight cost are direct benefits to the industrial user from the use of refined coal. Quality is standardized. The industrial purchaser can now order a size and quality of coal that exactly fits his needs and be sure that the coal delivered will conform exactly to specifications.

But proper refining and preparation of coal is of greater significance than its benefits to the consumer may imply. The general improvement in the standard of coal from the Pittsburgh vein will have a far reaching effect on the coal industry of the Pittsburgh district.

MARKET SOARS AS CALL RATE IS LOWERED

NEW YORK, April 30.—(AP.)—The apparent passing of the month-end credit stringency, reflected in the lowering of the call money rate from 14 to 10 per cent, stimulated a general recover in prices in today's stock market. Scores of issues were marked up 3 to nearly 20 points, many of them to new highs, on a revival of pool activities, and a broadening demand on the part of small speculators.

Except for the publication of another series of favorable earnings reports and the issuance of valuable "rights" to American Telephone and Telegraph Company stockholders in connection with a new $219,000,000 convertible bond issue, there was little in the day's business news to influence the price movement. While 10 per cent call money is by no means cheap, Wall Street obviously was relieved that the threat of another flurry to 20 per cent had been avoided, and easier rates are looked for as the May 1 dividend and interest checks are cleared.

STEEL IN DEMAND

United States Steel common, which is expected to show quarterly earnings of between $5 and $6 a share in the report to be issued after the close of the market, was taken in large blocks in the early afternoon, crossing $190 a share. Bethlehem Steel, which has been rather sluggish since the announcement of an additional stock offering, quickly advanced more than 4 points. Ludlum Steel ran up 6 points to a new high record and Midland Steel Products preferred and A. M. Byers each sold at least 4 points above yesterday's final quotations.

Wild fluctuations again took place in United Aircraft, which soared nearly 12 points to a new high record around 150, or nearly double the low of three weeks ago. So swamped was the specialist with orders in this stock that he found it impossible to accept any but market orders. Other airplane issues also were heavily bought on predictions of unusually large earnings and rumors of new consolidations.

Commercial Solvents was the spectacular individual feature, soaring nearly 20 points to a new peak at 359½, which compares with the year's low of 225¼. Buying of this issue was influenced by expectations of large profits from the heavy sales of its new product, acetone, used in oil refining processes. U. S. Industrial Alcohol crossed 170 to a new top for the year and Advance Rumely preferred sold above 108 for the first time.

NEW HIGHS MADE

Among many other stocks to set new high records were American Can, selling ex-dividend 75 cents; Union Carbide, Allis Chalmers, American Rolling Mills, Air Reduction, Electric Power and Light and American Bosch Magneto.

The upward pace quickened during the late trading with the turning over of large blocks of important industrials. Office Equipment shares were particularly buoyant. National Cash Register, Underwood Elliott Fisher, General Electric, Air Reduction, Warner Brothers and Timken Roller Bearing rose 5 to 7 points. Motor Products and Midland Steel preferred each mounted 9. The closing was strong. Total sales approximated 4,200,000 shares.

CHICAGO BOARD

CHICAGO, April 30.—With offerings scarce at times owing to recent setbacks of 20 cents a bushel, wheat advanced in price today, especially in the late dealings. Much of the trade consisted of evening-up of accounts to prepare for first deliveries tomorrow on May contracts. Predictions were made in some quarters that total deliveries of wheat here tomorrow would exceed 3,000,000 bushels. Complaints were received of too much rain in parts of Kansas.

Wheat closed firm, 1⅛c to 2⅛c net higher; corn varying from ⅝c off to ½c up; oats, ⅛ to ⅝c advance and provisions 2c to 17c down.

Reasons given for an unlooked for rise of wheat values at Liverpool today were that liquidating sales there appeared to have been completed and that enlarged demand from consumer sources was apparent. It was also noticed that houses with foreign connections were buyers today in Chicago. Besides, European continental arrivals of wheat last week were reported today as totaling only 5,216,000 bushels, against 11,800,000 bushels the week previous.

On the other hand, wheat price advances today were in the face of comprehensive reports that suggested increasingly bearish conditions for all grain. According to a leading Chicago trade expert, domestic supply estimates for wheat averaged 17 per cent higher than a year ago, and demand 11 per cent lower. A similar comparison a month back showed wheat supplies 15 per cent higher than a year ago and demand 5 per cent lower.

Anaconda's Profits Soar.

Net income more than double that of 1927 was disclosed today in the 1928 report of Anaconda Copper Mining Company, a leading copper producer, and its subsidiaries. The increase was attributed to record world consumption of the metal, advance in price from a little less than 13 cents a pound to more than 16 cents at the end of the year and expansion of operations. Net income totaled $24,174,780, equivalent to about $6.63 a share, compared with $10,123,258, or $3.37 a share on fewer shares, in 1927. Sharp increases also were shown in the reports of two controlled companies. Andes' net income increased to $3,933,721, from $179,950. Chile reported net income of $19,943,864, against $11,085,537 in 1927. Anaconda's capital stock was increased from 3,000,000 to 3,648,311 shares by conversion during the year of $36,857,000 par value of the $50,000,000 7 per cent convertible debentures. The report also revealed Anaconda had paid $4,456,824 for the mining, milling and lumber interests in Montana and Idaho, as well as the Butte Electric Railway Company and the Montana Hardware Company, acquired last August from the estate of the late Senator W. A. Clarke, of Montana. Its manufacturing subsidiary, American Brass Company, established a new high production record of 778,397,151 pounds, an increase of 135,485,973 pounds over 1927. Anaconda's balance sheet showed $23,327,615 cash on hand at the end of the year compared with $10,822,239 at the end of 1927. Its marketable securities decreased from $7,238,250 at the end of 1927 to $2,506,024.

C. & A.-Cornelia Deal Closed.

Merger of the Consolidated Calumet and Arizona Mining Company and the New Cornelia Copper Company with a capital stock of $20,000,000 was announced today. The new company will be known as the Calumet and Arizona Mining Company. Calumet and Arizona, of which Gordon Campbell, Calumet, Mich., is president, owned 229,715 shares of the outstanding Cornelia stock for which it will be entitled to 431,478 shares of stock in the new company. Calumet stockholders will receive 211,279 shares in the new company, exclusive of that issued to their own company for its holdings, making the total ownership by Calumet interests in the consolidation 642,757 shares. The consolidation, carried out under the laws of Delaware, brings about the largest merger of mining properties in Arizona since formation of the Phelps-Dodge Corporation combination. The capital stock represents an increase of $4,500,000, the stock of Calumet and Arizona previously having been carried on the company books at $6,500,000, and that of the Cornelia at $9,000,000. Of the 1,000,000 shares at a par value of $20 involved in the merger, 842,857 shares will be issued to stockholders of both companies, the remainder to be withheld for future financing. Cornelia stockholders will receive 631,578 shares of the total issued, the exchange being made on the basis of one share of stock in the new company for each 2.58 shares of Cornelia now outstanding.

Murray Corporation.

The trend of motor car builders away from the manufacture of bodies is bringing speculative activity into the auto body company stocks, with Murray Corporation again out in front. Murray common recently reached a new 1929 high price. Back of the present activity are rumors of an initial dividend declaration this summer and an earnings report which showed profit of $1.45 a share for the first quarter of 1929. This compares with $3.33 a share earned in the entire year of 1928 and 97 cents in 1927. At the rate of $1.45 earned per share a quarter, the common is selling slightly better than 15 times its earnings. Murray has been a spectacular performer on the "big board." This year it has moved up from a low of $67. Last year in February it changed hands at $22.50, but in the fall it began to skyrocket on reports of a new stock issue with valuable rights to shareholders. On October 20 it leaped to $124.25. Four days later authorized common stock was increased from 300,000 to 900,000 shares. Shareholders were given the right to subscribe to new stock at $15 a share on the basis of one new share for every share held. In 1927 the stock ranged from a low of $16.25 to a high of $43, and the preceding year it sold from $30.87 to $35.50.

Hardware Market Active.

Active market conditions and a steady price situation are features of the week in the hardware trade, Hardware Age will say in its weekly market summary. Reports from important market centers indicate that the spring and summer business is at least started well, April showing a considerable increase over the same month last year in most instances. A noticeable activity is that of the steel industry, which is expected, from present indications, to continue well into the late summer. This would seem to reflect a healthy condition throughout the country, especially as this outlook is augmented by excellent crop prospects. Employment continues to maintain a high level, embracing all kinds of labor. Altogether the present and prospective business situation is most encouraging. Prices are mainly firm, with comparatively few changes. Collections are improving with the general development of trade.

PHILLIPS-JONES SALES TO SET RECORD

By GEORGE H. SNYDER

THE Phillips-Jones Corporation is expected to achieve the greatest sales in its history in the present year. Sales in the first quarter were $300,000 more than in the same period of 1928 and March sales were 80 per cent more than those of March, 1928.

The increase is directly traceable to a change in the company's patent policy. In 1923 the company purchased the patent rights for the production of the Van Heusen Collar. Shortly afterward competitors began to market similar products. The patents were upheld in the courts and, as a result of this, agreements were made with other manufacturers to permit the production of the collars on a royalty basis.

This agreement expired at the end of 1928 and it was not renewed. Since then Phillips-Jones has been the sole producer and its sales volume has been showing a corresponding increase.

THE company operates 12 factories, 6 of which are owned and 6 leased. All of these plants are working at capacity. The company has been conservative in its accounting methods. The patents, which are reputed to have returned enough in royalties to pay the common dividends, are carried at $1 on the balance sheet.

The 85,000 shares of common stock are on a $3 annual dividend basis. In 1928 net profit after all charges was $167,792 or $4.05 a share after deducting dividends on the $1,805,900 of 7 per cent preferred stock. In 1927 $498,720 or $4.37 a share was earned.

A study of the company's assets discloses some interesting features. One of the plants located on Broadway in New York City is carried on the books at $750,000 and one in the Bronx at $200,000. Offers are reputed to have been made of $1,500,000 for the former and of $800,000 for the latter.

THE high rate of industrial activity which prevailed in the Pittsburgh district during the first quarter of the year has shown no signs of slackening. Earnings for the second quarter for most companies are expected to duplicate the records of the first quarter.

In the steel business the expected seasonal decline has been postponed long after its usual time. Although the officials of most companies predict some decline in operations within the next few months there is little reason for anticipating any marked curtailment.

THE steel industry has been working close to capacity since early in the year. It would be contrary to all previous experience for such a rate of production to be maintained for any very protracted period. In the past such boom periods were followed by sharp slumps as consumers absorbed stocks of materials they had accumulated. But at present practically no such excess inventories exist. This means that no very serious slump in volume is likely.

Even in the recent dull periods in the steel industry, the principal influence in reducing earnings was not volume but prices.

NEW YORK CURB MARKET

NEW YORK, April 30.—(AP.)—Operations for the advance, centering in the utilities, were pushed forward on the curb market today with greater force than has been applied in several sessions. The movement was not checked by a renewal rate for call loans of 14 per cent, and gained headway in the early afternoon when the rate was shaded to 10 per cent.

Electric Bond and Share was a conspicuous strong point, opening with a block of 15,000 shares at 88, 5 points above yesterday's close, and extending its gain above 90 by mid-day. American and Foreign Power warrants mounted more than 5 points. American Superpower issues, Electric Investors, American Light and Traction and United Gas Improvement made substantial gains. United Corporation was again in demand, and Allied Power surged ahead on reports that it will be made an operating subsidiary of United.

Aviation and motor stocks were also strong. Aviation Corporation of America and Bendix both climbed more than 5 points in the first two hours of trading and Ford of Canada B shot up about 7 points well above 100. The class A stock was admitted to trading and sold above 67 by early afternoon. Safe T Stat and Wright Aero mounted more than 2 points, and Fokker and Douglas were in moderate demand.

International Telephone (new) and Union Carbide (new) were in demand at higher levels. Mines were strong, Newmont climbing about 5 points, and Phelps Dodge making good headway.

Oils were dull and irregular, Humble moving more than 2 points higher, while Gulf was under pressure.

International Projector was a soft spot. Having sold above 100 recently in anticipation of the 5-to-1 split up, it ran considerable profit-taking today, getting down to 94.

Following is the list of transactions on the New York Curb Exchange, giving all stocks and bonds traded (00 omitted in sales column of stock list; 000 omitted in sales column of bond list):

COTTON MARKET

NEW YORK, April 30.—Cotton opened steady today at an advance of 1 to 6 points in response to firmer late cables from Liverpool and rather a reactionary sentiment following yesterday's sharp declines. In addition to covering some local and commission house buying was reported which may have been promoted by private reports pointing to a heavy emergence of boll weevil, and the market showed net advances of 9 to 16 points by the end of the first half hour.

The advance encountered further liquidation, but offerings were much lighter than recently and the disposition to take profits on recent sales was probably increased by some uncertainty over tomorrow's weekly weather report.

Private cables reported continental and Bombay selling in Liverpool, but declines there were followed by rallies presumably on covering and buying for a reaction.

The market showed continued steadiness later in the morning. Occasional spurts of realizing or liquidation were absorbed on slight setbacks, and prices at midday were 20 to 23 points net higher, with July selling at 18.60c and December at 18.88c.

MENTION THE SUN-TELEGRAPH WHEN ANSWERING ADVERTISEMENTS.

PRICE SWINGS NARROW IN QUIET MARKET HERE

There was a further shrinkage in activity noted in the early dealings on the Pittsburgh Stock Exchange today, but price movements were narrow and quotations showed only fractional changes from those prevailing on the close last night.

The moderate pressure noted in a few spots yesterday was expected to continue today pending an adjustment of the call money rates. So far, the latest upturn in demand money charges has had only minor influence in the New York market, bring out a little frightened liquidation from holders whose interest charges warrant the selling of stocks rather than their retention under the present expensive carrying costs. The local market reflected this condition to a certain extent yesterday.

While the New York list opened strong today in expectation of an easing tendency in money rates there, the initial posted charge of 14 per cent for call funds exerted a deterring influence and traders were rather cautious about following the early advance. It was felt, however, that today or tomorrow will see the end of the mouth-end strain and a subsequent relaxation to around the 7½ per cent level is anticipated.

There was a noticeable decrease in activity in the heavy industrial issues here and the steels were practically out of the market during the forenoon. Comment to the effect that the high level of operations in the steel industry is at or over the peak is heard in some quarters, but while some of the stocks in the big market are considered to have discounted the condition, there has been no unusual buying of the steels and foundries here, a circumstance leading to the opinion that the local issues are in a better position to withstand profit-taking than some of the stocks in the New York market.

STEEL OUTLOOK FOR MAY GOOD

YOUNGSTOWN, O., April 30.—May promises to maintain schedules approaching the record-breaking March and April output of Mahoning Valley independents. In flat steels, mills have enough of a backlog to operate above 90 per cent well into June. Summer recessions will be only moderate and much less pronounced this year than usual, it is said.

Truscon Steel established new records in sales, production and shipments in April, and its active season is now commencing. General Fireproofing is starting to receive earning benefits from higher prices for steel furniture.

Steel ingot capacity operated in April in this area at same high rate as in March, when new records were established by a number of producers. This week, a new strip and hoop mill starts at McDonald plant of Carnegie Steel, giving this group 10 units.

The number of Valley sheet mills is revised downward to 120, due to conversion of five sheet mills at Warren plant of Republic Steel into tin mills. This week, 118 of 120 sheet mills are in commission.

Independents are operating bar and plate mills at 80 per cent, and Steel Corporation has such capacity active at 90 per cent.

Steel pipe production continues weakest in rolled steel lines. This week all three lapweld mills of Youngstown Tube are idle and No. 10 mill has been off six weeks. Republic is installing capacity for manufacturing pipe by electric welding method and expects to be in commercial production on tubes from 3-inch to 7-inch in diameter in less than 60 days.

TAPLINS WIN AND LOSE IN RAILROAD CONFLICTS

The Taplins, of Cleveland, had gained a point today in their fight to wrest from the Baltimore & Ohio railroad control of the Western Maryland railway so that the latter may be incorporated in a proposed Great Lakes-to-the-Sea route.

This victory was tempered, however, by a temporary reverse in their efforts to take control of the Wheeling and Lake Erie out of the hands of the Van Sweringens.

CHARGE CLAYTON VIOLATION

The Interstate Commerce Commission issued an order on the Baltimore and Ohio directing that company to show cause why it should not be divested of its interest in the Western Maryland, which the commission charges was acquired in violation of the Clayton act and with the purpose of restraining competition.

The Wabash Railway, Taplin line, was granted the right to intervene in the complaint of the commission. The Wabash, making its first public effort in the Taplin fight, outlined a plan for a trunk line which would link the Wabash, the Wheeling and Lake Erie, the Pittsburgh and West Virginia and the Western Maryland. The last two roads would be connected by the 38-mile line which the Pittsburgh and West Virginia has under construction between Connellsville and Cochran's Mills.

VAN SWERINGENS SCORE

At Cleveland, Federal Judge Paul Jones refused to enjoin the Wheeling and Lake Erie from transferring its Ontario street terminal to Cleveland Union Terminals, a Van Sweringen property. Counsel for minority stockholders, Taplin friends, in the W. & L. E., filed a petition for the court to show probable cause for the refusal.

The Van Sweringens, through a deal with the New York Central, hold two-thirds of the controlling stock in the W. & L. E. The Baltimore and Ohio holds a third, and the Van Sweringens and the Baltimore and Ohio have acted in concert whenever their joint control was menaced by the Taplins.

Arrest in East May Solves Murder Here

Pittsburgh authorities were communicating with police of Scranton, Pa., today to learn whether the arrest there of Andrew Williams, 29, Negro, might be the solution of one of two unsolved murders of Pittsburgh policemen. Williams was alleged to have admitted to Scranton police that he was wanted for slaying a policeman. The two policemen murdered here were George Hoffman, shot to death October 22, 1919, when he stopped a Negro for questioning in Forward avenue after a holdup, and James Farrell, slain in Lowrie street, July 6, 1927, by a Negro under the same circumstances.

NOW, THEREFORE, THIS AGREEMENT WITNESSETH: That the parties hereto, in consideration of the mutual covenants and conditions herein recited, do mutually agree as follows, each binding itself, its successors and assigns, to the other, its successors and assigns.

FIRST. Upon the expiration of the term of this agreement, or the termination of the same for any reason, the Railway Companies may reconstruct said railway track and appurtenances upon said streets and highways in the same manner as they are connected at the date hereof, and with the same rights and privileges as they had before said tracks and appurtenances were removed.

In the event, however, that the entire railways system of Pittsburgh is unified and consolidated into one single ownership, and the various mortgages on said system satisfied and a general mortgage covering the entire system executed in lieu thereof, the right and permission which the railway companies have to relay their track on said streets shall be terminated subject to the provisions hereof; that The Public Service Commission may direct that the facilities and service be restored.

Upon the expiration of the term of this agreement, or the termination of the same for any reason, the Railway Companies may reconstruct said railway tracks and appurtenances upon said streets and highways in the said City of Pittsburgh in the same manner as they are connected at the date hereof, and with the same rights and privileges as they had before said tracks and appurtenances were removed.

In the event, however, that the entire railways system of Pittsburgh is unified and consolidated into one single ownership, and the various mortgages on said system satisfied and a general mortgage covering the entire system executed in lieu thereof, the right and permission which the railway companies have to relay their track on said streets shall be terminated subject to the provisions hereof; that The Public Service Commission may direct that the facilities and service be restored.

FOURTH. The City of Pittsburgh covenants and agrees that it will permit such temporary abandonment of street railway track on the streets and highways hereinbefore described, and during the continuance of this agreement municipal consent shall not be granted to any other company or individual to use or occupy the portion of said streets and highways covered by said tracks for street railway purposes, in accordance with the provisions of said Act of Assembly.

FIFTH. The Railway Companies, upon the execution of this agreement, at their own cost and expense, shall remove the rails and appurtenant overhead facilities; shall restore the area of paving so disturbed as to leave it in proper form for the city to resurface, and shall pay to the city a sum of money to be agreed upon by the director of the Department of Public Works of the city and the superintendent of way of the Railway Companies, to cover the cost of removal of ties and any remaining portion of track construction; and the City, at its own cost and expense, shall pay the cost of the entire resurfacing of the streets aforesaid, and thereafter the Railway Companies shall be relieved of all liability to pave, repave, maintain, keep clean and repair the aforesaid streets and highways from which street railway track has been temporarily removed, until such time as the said railway tracks may be duly reconstructed and used.

All of the provisions of this agreement, which has been authorized by Ordinance No. ....., Series ....., approved ..... and recorded in Ordinance Book Vol. ....., page ....., shall be subject to the provisions of the general ordinance of the City of Pittsburgh approved February 24, 1890, except as otherwise provided herein.

This agreement shall not go into effect until approved by The Public Service Commission of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, and all parties hereto agree that The Public Service Commission may at any time order the track relaid and service thereover resumed.

BUGS BAER Says

A FARMER'S LIFE FOR US

"Bugs" Baer

The farmers now inherit five hundred million dollars of the best kind.

Five hundred million dollars ain't hay. Leastwise, you never see it in stacks like that.

The Darby will go into a stabilized fund which is called a camouflaged subsidy. Call it anything you want, but pass the pitchforks.

It's more than that. It's a whole drugstore smothered in cream.

The farm is now a government reservation and no clover-kicker can milk a cow without first putting it to a vote.

The boys are entitled to uniforms and will drill around the mangled terrace in close order formation.

A farm is now a stabilized corporation and the suburban executives of the cabbage patches will no longer have to pray for rain when they can afford champaigne.

The first thing we advise the boys to do is to paint their barns red, white and blue and hire the chorus of the Metropolitan Opera House to call their hogs.

The scarecrows are wearing high hats this spring. There's an easy chair in the cyclone cellar.

Now that they have decided to scrap the Navy they can also scrap the plows.

What's the use of getting the cricks in your shoulderblades from jerking weeds when there is already a bumper crop in the Treasury?

When the farmer calls up this Congressman and asks for free seeds, the Representative will throw open the storm doors on his pocketbook and ask:

"How do you want your free seeds? Tens, twenties or fifties?

There is only one way to keep the boys on the farm now. Steal their spark plugs.

The farmer has not only come into his own, but he has grabbed some of ours.

The debentures were pressed and ironed and the five hundred million is spick and span without a wrinkle.

There is only one thing we want to state about that five hundred million.

We hope that the boys spend some of it on their farms.

Do You Shake Hands with a Firm, Manly Grip?

WASHINGTON—In an effort to eliminate what he calls the "Dead Fish" hanclasp, Congressman Frisby is carrying on a series of public demonstrations on the proper way to shake hands. In order to insure a firm, sincere grip, each student is required to hold a dollar in the palm of the hand. Winner take all. Mr. Frisby also conducts private classes in which he teaches lodge grips—thus sav-his students thousands of dollars in needless initiation fees, dues, etc.

Republicans Won Power by Promise to Keep Out of League; Now Consider Entering Through World Court Door

Q.—Who are the judges on this World Court that they want us to join? A.—There are 10 foreigners and one American, Charles Evans Hughes.

Q.—Then they could outvote us 10 to 1 in settling any controversy where Europe's interests conflicted with ours? A.—Yes, and pretty soon they could do better than that; soon they will be able to outvote us 14 to 1.

Q.—What do you mean? A.—The constitution of the World Court will be amended at the League of Nations meeting in September so as to increase the number of judges from 11 to 15.

Q.—The League of Nations; what has it got to do with the World Court? A.—It is the League's court. The World Court was established by the League. Its constitution and powers are periodically amended by the League. Its judges are hired and paid by the League.

Q.—Why, it sounds like a department of the League of Nations. I thought the Republican party had promised to keep us out of the League. A.—They did.

Q.—And now it is proposed to submit our international controversies to the League's court? A.—Yes, and it will pass on a lot of questions that we do not voluntarily submit to it.

Q.—What do you mean? A.—A peculiarity of this court is that the council of the League of Nations can submit to it any conceivable question for an "advisory opinion."

Q.—You mean the League could ask its court to decide whether we have any right to the Monroe Doctrine, or our Japanese Exclusion Act? A.—Certainly, any question at all. Moreover, it is expected that every nation will do as the World Court decides, or face the condemnation of the world's opinion.

Q.—Then 14 foreigners and one lone American would vote the court's decisions and opinions? A.—Yes.

Q.—Who are the World Court judges now, anyway? A.—They are Rafael Altamira Y Crevea of Spain, Dionisio Anzilotti of Italy, Antonio Sanchez de Bustamente Y Sirven of Cuba, Robert Bannatyne, Viscount Finlay, of Great Britain, and Bernard C. J. Loder of the Netherlands.

Q.—Well, well, who else? A.—Yorozu Oda of Japan, Charles Andre Weiss of France, Didrik Galtrup Gjedde Nyholm of Denmark, Max Huber of Switzerland and Epitacio da Silva Pessoa of Brazil.

Q.—Then who? A.—Dumitriu Negulescu of Rumania, Wang Chung Hui of China, Mikhailo Iovanovitch of the Serb-Croat Slovene State and Frederick Valdemar Nikolai Beichmann of Norway.

Q.—Great heavens! And there's to be just one little American voice in that mob deciding any controversy they want to trump up with us? A.—That's it.

Q.—You don't mean to say that Senate will vote our necks into that big noose? A.—Maybe.

Teach Illiterate Mother! Practical Social Work

A national literacy crusade, in progress, having as slogan "Abolish Illiteracy by 1930," likely has a goal impossible of accomplishment, but certainly it is one worthy of striving for—Allegheny County as well as throughout the nation.

Just now special attention is being given to the illiterate mother, estimated to number 1,000,000 in the United States. An effort is to be made to organize them into classes for the purpose of teaching them to read and write. Mothers' Day, May 12, is considered an appropriate time to begin this work in places where it has not been taken up. In New York that day has been designed as a time for beginning such classes.

That is a practical way of honoring Mother. In her sacred name an appropriate and enduring monument can thus be erected. Many notable men and women have sprung from illiterate mothers. But such mothers have been one in a million. Still there are said to be a million unlettered mothers in the United States.

Fortunately, a great number of them, realize their handicap and do not wish their children to be fettered as they are, but they cannot help them. When a child says to one of them: "Mamma, how do you spell table?" or asks any of the innumerable simple questions pertaining to child education that are asked of millions of mothers throughout the land many times every day, these poor mothers cannot give the assistance that has so much to do with the training of the child and so much to do with deciding whether a child shall have a passing grade or be marked as failing.

Literate mothers realize their responsibilities. Illiterate mothers are prone to think that schools should do all. And that is not all. Illiterate parents sometimes think that the years a child spends in school are wasted. They would put them to work as soon as they are able to do anything. This is especially noticeable among the less educated of our foreign-born population having their origins in localities where culture is not supposed to be a thing the poor are entitled to, in consequence of which they have got onto the other road to material success—labor and thrift. They are not to blame if that is the only road they know.

It is to our benefit to show them the other. Every rough piece of marble conceals a beautiful statue. Every rough piece of human flesh also contains something beautiful and useful. Cannot be shaped to the highest use, with resulting highest benefit to humanity, without, first, an aim, and, second, labor.

Millions for the Helpless Depends Upon Governor

Among worthy achievements of the recent legislative session was appropriating $10,710,601 for a two-year building program in state welfare institutions. This amount is more than double that given by the previous legislature and comes nearer to meeting the needs of state hospitals for the feebleminded, epileptic and insane, according to a statement of the Public Charities Association of Pennsylvania through the Western Pennsylvania headquarters of the association here.

This amount, if fully approved by Gov. Fisher, will give funds for necessary work to 19 state institutions caring for mental patients, many of them helpless wards of society.

The Public Charities Association backed the efforts of the Citizens' Committee for the Welfare Bond Issue. The work of this committee was instrumental in giving the people of the state an adequate idea of the needs of the institutions, and, although the bonds were defeated, doubtless it was an influence in the legislature also in bringing about generous appropriations. The association and committee both are to be commended.

Considering the merit of the beneficiaries, Gov. Fisher likely will spare the pruning knife when these appropriations come before him.

Three-Day Air Show Is Important to Pittsburgh

No less important than the National Elimination Balloon race that starts from Pitt Stadium Saturday is the three-day aeronautical exhibition that the race is to bring to a climax. Everyone who desires to keep abreast of developments in air transportation should attend.

Airplanes of many types will be shown—"ships" designed for commercial service, military craft and sport planes. There will be exhibited, in addition, aviation accessories and by-products. Well-known aviators and executive officers of aeronautical industries will deliver addresses, and there will be demonstrations of formation flying by Army pursuit planes, performances of spectacular feats, and parachute jumps.

Whether viewed as entertainment or education it will be an interesting exposition, and one which Pittsburghers, desirous of seeing their city lead in commercial aviation, should loyally support.

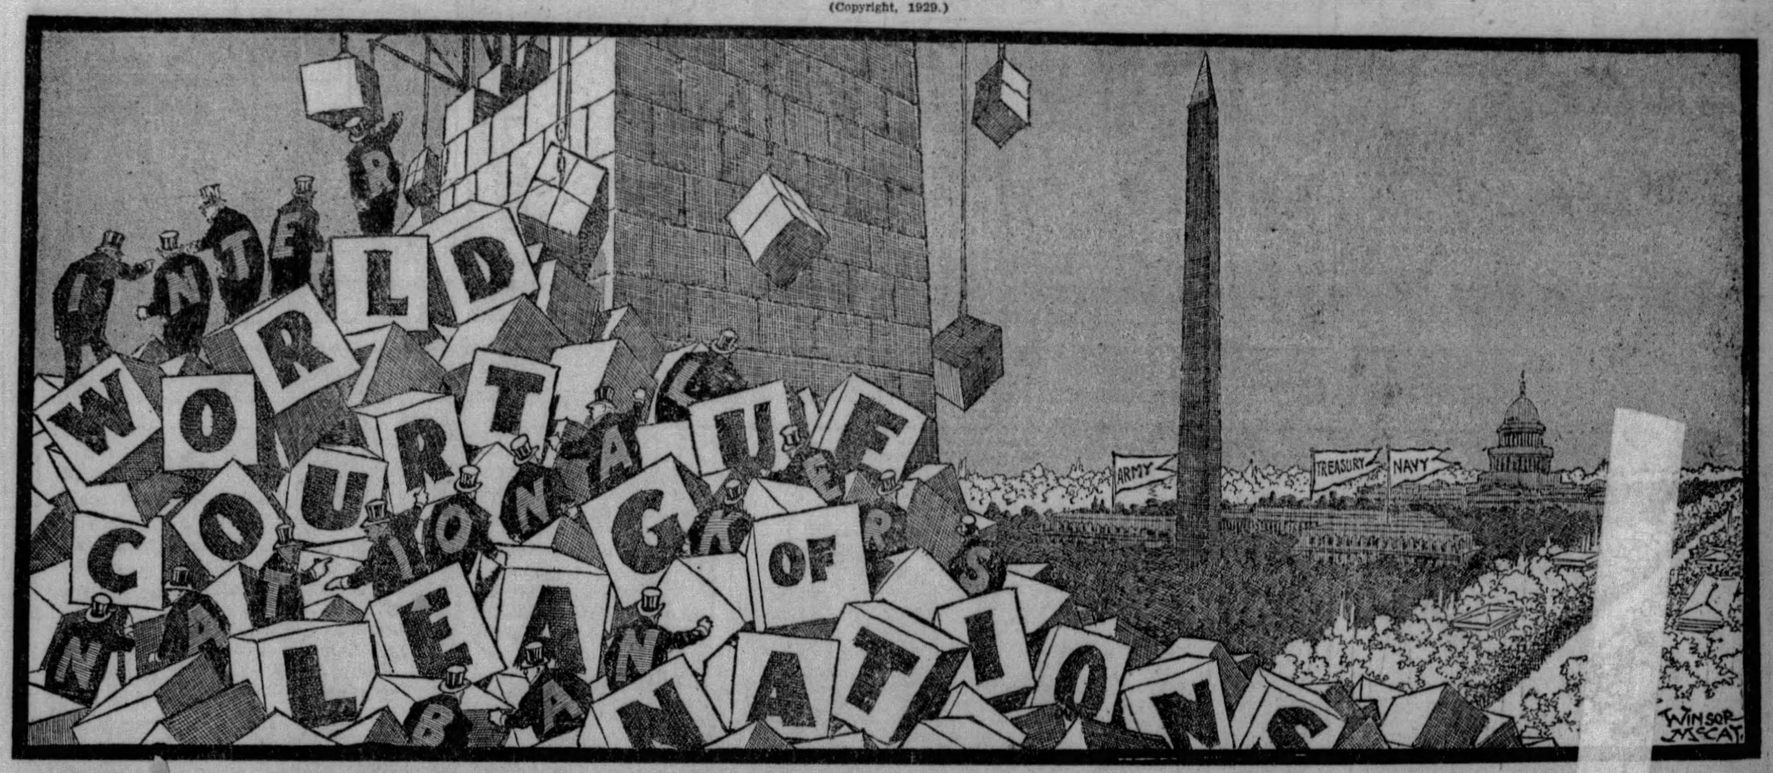
A HEAVY SHADOW IN WASHINGTON

(Copyright, 1929.)



The Capitol of the United States will take on a different aspect, when Americans that are NOT REAL Americans finish building a European League of Nations Monument, overshadowing the Washington Monument.

George Washington's ideas and George Washington's Monument were once good enough for this country. But that time it seems has passed.

Other ideas and other monuments will come. If that shadow of the League of Nations Monument ever settles on Washington it will stay a long time, many billions, and perhaps a war to get rid of it.

LISTEN, WORLD!

By Elsie Robinson

I'M just about fed up on this inferiority complex yawp.

Ever since some wise guy tacked a ritzy sounding title on the oldest form of human cussedness, millions of lazy, cowardly, selfish humans have been using it as an alibi.

Now don't remind me that I, myself, have committed much learned discourse on that same subject in this column. I know I have. I've also pulled a lot of other darn fool nonsense in this column. But that's no reason why I can't change my mind. And I have surely changed it!

Inferiority complexes arise we are told, from some spiritual bruise received in one's youth which, thereafter, pops up at the most unexpected times and acts like a psychological Charley Horse.

For instance, if at the age of six, your papa snooted at your new pink dress and told you you looked like something the cat brought in, the chances are you'll be unfitted for hard labor for the rest of your natural life. For who knows what minute the boss may snap at you and arouse the sleeping demon of your inferiority Complex, thus reducing you to a mere palpitating particle of protoplasm.

Or suppose your Aunt Nellie liked your sister Clara better than she did you. Naturally, from that time on, according to the psychiatrists, you are bound to feel that You're the Kid God Forgot and it wouldn't be a bit surprising if you committed almost any crime from mayhem to murder.

Now I admit that there's something very impressive about this line of talk. And it's so doggoned convenient that one hates to expose it—for who knows what day one might want to develop an Inferiority Complex for oneself! So I've been holding off for quite a while—but at last the thing's got too much for me. I'm so sick of seeing a lot of slack-jawed, soft-spined, weak-kneed mortals crawl out of responsibility, using their I. C. as an excuse, that I'm going to blow the works.

ISN'T THERE SUCH A THING AS AN INFERIORITY COMPLEX?

THERE CERTAINLY IS.

BUT IT ISN'T CONCLUSIVE—EVERY SON AND DAUGHTER OF ADAM HAS ONE.

They're as common as toenails. They're the price all men pay for being human. The bare thought of bucking up and acting civilized is enough to make any human being feel inferior and long to run—for, basically, we're not much better than half-tamed apes, as full of laziness and fear and spite as a pup is of fleas.

There's nothing special in remembering the mean things that papa and Aunt Nellie said—we ALL remember the mean things that papa and Aunt Nellie said. We ALL were hurt by them at the time. We ALL shrink from a repetition. But some of us wipe our chins and go right on as if nothing had happened—And some of us wrap ourselves in big, wet sobs and refuse to stir a step—

THAT'S ALL THE DIFFERENCE THERE IS BETWEEN HAVING AN INFERIORITY COMPLEX AND NOT HAVING ONE—JUST GUMPTION.

So if you're harboring an Inferiority Complex, don't act de luxe. You're sharing it with about a billion and a half other mortals. It's merely another name for that Sinking Feeling the whole human race acquired when the time came for it to wear pants. Merely another name for the laziness and peevishness and cowardice which every man must fight.

If you want to throw up your hands and quit that fight and revert to the jungle, do so. Be a monkey if you must—but don't act scientific about it or call it fancy names!

Worst Story I Have Heard Today

By WILL ROGERS

I'M not going to give any kid advice about running away from home. They can get that out of the Book that tells about the runaway boy that had to get down and eat bran with the hogs that was on full feed. But here's a kind of a discouraging story for them, too, that I heard lately.

This here James run away and he come back the next day, and his folks saw he had been bawling a good deal.

"So it wasn't so hot out in the big world?" says his dad.

"Nope."

"Kinda disappointing?"

"Yep."

"Well I could'a told you that. People ain't so nice to you when they don't know where your home is and you ain't been washed up lately."

"Oh, the people was nice."

"What was the matter then?"

"The circus I thought I was going to run away with turned out to be a praying camp-meeting that just looked like a circus from the outside of the tents."

The Rhyming Optimist

By ALINE MICHAELIS

Old Time

OLD Time, in passing, hears strange cries
Of joy, of hope, of fear;
Despair and rapture, these arise
To greet his listening ear.

He hears the vows young lovers make
Of love to last always,
While they defy his hand to take,
The glory from their days.

He hears the grief that sighs:
"No more"
Through all the years to be
Shall joy unbar my prison door
And cry, "Come out, to me."

Old Time goes by. Alike to him
The laughter and the tears;
He knows how swiftly he can dim
Today with flying years.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, April 30.—The White Way, splashed in its yellow glow, at midnight becomes a highway of cheap adventure. Respectable folk have drifted from the theater zone to cafes ranging eastward or home. And Broadway is left to its courtesans, gamblers, racketeers, gigolos and tin horn sports.

It is the parade hour of the nymph du pave—the final promenade of the night. It is about the only period when the scarlet sisterhood is seen. Thin lips attain a cherry ripeness and wan cheeks flame into the rosy blush. The glance becomes predatory.

In the shimmering high lights the generous use of cosmetics loses much of its cheap artifice. They still employ the most ancient of tricks—a sly quick smile and wink, a turn at the next corner and a look back. For this one hour there seems to be an official tolerance.

Innumerable of these pathetic creatures of the night, sociologists declare, are members of the vast army of the underpaid and not wantons by choice. Early risers may see them shortly after sun up scuttling like frightened rabbits toward subway and elevated trains to the daily job.

So it is after midnight Broadway becomes the wicked monotone of popular imagination. The "floating" dice games are running high and at th slightest suspicion move from one hotel to another. In the speakeasy night clubs the stalkers are on trail of their prey. It is indeed, The Hardened Artery.

In those dim-lit and shady hotels in side street many are indulging surreptitious poppy dreams. The dope runners are keeping furtive appointments in cafes and other nocturnal haunts. Philanderers are having their fling with many to awaken to the scandalous flare of big thick headlines.

Two George Babbitts in real life have arisen to confound Sinclair Lewis because of his fictional Babbitt. One of the successful author's greatest problems is to avoid real life names among his imaginary characters. It has resulted in many lawsuits. In The Sherrods, George Barr McCutcheon gave the name Jud Sherrod to his principal character and the name of Justine to his wife. In a small town in the West there lived a Jud Sherrod and his wife Justine, of whose existence the author was totally ignorant. In his next novel Mr. McCutcheon decided to avoid such a situation and ingeniously coined the name Elias Droom. Two Elias Drooms protested. Another novelist hit upon the plan of spelling his wife's last name backward for the first name of a villain and spelling his own first name backward for the last name. There were four in the world with that odd name.

Frank O'Malley clays from Switzerland the observation of an American who has been sojourning at a Vevay hotel frequented by the superior type of Englishman. Said he: "The height of affectation is an Englishman trying to be civil."

And it was William Collier, I believe, who discovered why the Englishman does not care for the American cocktail. The olive in the bottom of the glass reminds him of his adenoids.

Right here, however, is a good spot to uncork a cheer for the English. They have given even the pachydermic pundits of the New York drama something to think about with their magnificent untheatricalism. They have proved conclusively theatergoers think for themselves and that it is not necessary to lower the curtain at the end of every act on a climax. Very few playwrights have achieved that subtlety requiring blue prints. But they seem to think they have.

A magazine this autumn is to pay a new writer $2 a word for his short story. I'm thinking up one for them with a hero who stutters. The scenes will be laid in a school for stammering.

Famous Bible Passages

'Bread of Life'

(St. John 6; 47-59)

VERILY, verily, I say unto you, He that believeth on me hath everlasting life.

I am that bread of life.

Your fathers did eat manna in the wilderness, and are dead.

This is the bread which cometh down from heaven, that man may eat thereof and not die.

I am the living bread which came down from heaven: if any man eat of this bread, he shall live forever: and the bread that I will give is my flesh, which I will give for the life of the world.

The Jews therefore strove among themselves, saying, How can this man give us his flesh to eat?

Then Jesus said unto them, Verily, verily, I say unto you, Except ye eat the flesh of the Son of man, and drink his blood, ye have no life in you.

Whoso eateth my flesh, and drinketh my blood, hath eternal life; and I will raise him up at the last day.

He that eateth my flesh, and drinketh my blood, dwelleth in me, and I in him.

As the living Father hath sent me, and I live by the Father: so he that eateth me, even he shall live by me.

This is that bread which came down from heaven: not as your fathers did eat manna, and are dead: he that eateth of this bread shall live forever.

These things said he in the synagogue, as he taught in Capernaum.

Meet M. J. Colbert

By Herbert Kaufman

MEET Jean Baptiste Colbert, descendant of a Scotch archer and born in a cubby-hole wine-shop in Rheims.

His father apprenticed him to a weaver. He outrageously cheated a stranger in the sale of some cloth.

The customer, a Paris banker, took Colbert to his counting-house, and, assured of the lad's integrity, made him a confidant in so many transactions that, before long, the pick-up clerk was negotiating Court deals, and at forty became Controller-General of Royal Finances.

Soon, he was Louis the Fourteenth's right-hand man. And had his master adopted the suggestions of this superb administrator, there would have been no vast inhumanities and economic crimes; later to suppurate into revolution, erase the Capets and provoke Democracy.

No single influence ever so boldly marked a nation and industry.

As a road-maker and engineer, his achievements rival Caesar's. It was his brain that conceived and charted the Languedoc Canal, even if Riquet actually directed the task of linking Atlantic and Mediterranean.

He sent the Fluer-de-Lys to the high seas, on equality with the Royal George and the proud flag of Holland, and lastingly ended piracy along the English Channel.

France owes him for her footholds about the East Indies and for her colonies in Canada and Madagascar.

There were no Chambers of Commerce anywhere, until Colbert set up at Paris a deliberative body for the expansion of trade, exchange of information and the re-establishment of guild standards.

He destroyed Aristocracy's disdain of gainful occupation, and induced the powerful nobles of Nantes, Bordeaux and the Channel Isles to invest their revenues in factories and importing fleets.

Glassware wasn't made in the country before he built plants and brought over Venetian and Bohemian craftsmen to conduct them.

Gobelin tapestries are another testimonial to his insatiate enterprise and colorful imagination.

Cynics delight to dub him a creature of accident and speculate upon his probable career if Chance, in the guise of a pot-bellied money-changer, hadn't wandered into yon drapery shop.

But Experience, conning her diaries, wisely smiles and reminds us that Simon-pure capacity, like any other fertile seed, will take root on a patch of oasis, or in a rock crevice.

Franklins and Grants and Lincolns are never frustrated by social origin or adverse circumstances, any more than you can be thwarted or side-tracked, except by self-depreciation or don't-give-a-damness.

Col. Cooper, the ex-laborer, founder of hydro-electrics and designer of the Keokuk and Assouan dams, joins orphan Hoover, mechanic.. Ford and train-boy Edison in a fervent "Amen" to that.
